»Veseli in raduj se iz vsega srca ...« (Sofonija 3.14)

Veselje, značilnost tretje adventne nedelje, prihaja iz oznanila »dobre novice«. S to besedo se konča današnji odlomek poročila o Janezovem klicu k spreobrnjenju. Veselje nas prevzame, ko stopimo na pot spreobrnjenja, na pot srečanja z Bogom, ki prihaja.

Janezovo oznanilo se je pričelo s sporočilom o prihodu Božjega kraljestva in s povabilom k spreobrnjenju. Ko pa so ga ljudje spraševali, je dajal zelo stvarne odgovore, ki veljajo za vse čase in za vse ljudi: »Kdor ima dve suknji, naj ju deli s tistim, ki nima nobene, in kdor ima živež, naj stori enako.« Kdor se je iskreno spokoril, vedno postavi vprašanje: »Kaj naj totej storim?« Podobno vprašanje je izzval Peter na binkoštni dan: »Kaj naj storimo?«

K Janezu so prihajali raznovrstni ljudje, celo cestninarji in vojaki. Toda odgovor na vprašanje je vselej vodil k bližnjemu. Potrebna so dela, iz katerih odsevata spremenjeno življenje in resna pokora. Dela iskrene ljubezni do bližnjega. Danes pogosto srečamo ljudi, ki »niso verni kot drugi«. Tako pravijo o sebi, a so pripravljeni stvari deliti s potrebnim, odprtii so za dela solidarnosti. Ti ljudje so gotovo blizu, zelo blizu Božjemu kraljestvu.

Janez Krstnik, Kristusov predhodnik, v polnem pomenu besede zaslužita naziv. Ni le pripravil pot in pokazal na Jagnje božje. Njegov nauk vodi v tisto bistvo, ki ga bo Mesija razkril kot jedro novega oznanila: ljubezen do bližnjega. Torej bližnji, brat, ki gre mimo, postane izredna možnost zame: pot do Boga. »Kaj naj storimo?« To vprašanje gre tudi skozi našo misel, ko želimo začeti novo življenje. »Ljubi,« nam ponavlja Janez Krstnik. »Ljubi,« potrdi tudi Jezus. In če kdo utegne pomisliti, da je to pretežko v našem svetu in v našem času, naj se spomni matere Terezije. Odkar je ona šla milo nas, nimamo pravice trditi tega. Ni imela ničesar. Imela je le srce, veliko, kot so potrebe tega sveta. In začela je tam, v Kalkutti, s prvim siromakom, ki ga je srečala. Takšnih, ko je mati Terezija, morda neznanih očem tega sveta, je veliko. Zaradi njih svet ni izgubil upanja, zaradi njih postaja boljši.

DRUŠTVO BLED - SANTA

V nedeljo, 10. decembra se je pri dtušvu Bled dvorana dodata napolnila z gosti za predbožično praznovanje; veliko je prišlo tudi mlajših družin z otroci. Otroški živčav je znak, da imamo Slovenci prihodnost tu v Kanadi. Prav za te zadnje, kosilo ni bil glavni razlog, da so prišli ampak vsi so čakali, da jih obišče Santa; kar se je po kosilu tudi zgodilo. V kuhinji so pripravili dobro slovensko kosilo, mladi so postregli na mize, potem pa je Silvia Stankovič (Gimpelj) - tako ko zna le ona - organizirala razne izgre za otroke, da so lažje čakali in se vmes še zabavali. Za začetek programa je Karina zapela pesem »Mary Did You Know«, Luka jo je spremljal na kitaro, Silvia pa na električne orgle, piko na »i« je dodala še violinistka Leanna Uccello z nekaj solo skladbami - vsi otroci so potem skupaj zapeli še nekaj znanih angleških božičnih pesmi. Na koncu je prišel še Santa in vse otroke tudi obdaroval. Hvala vsem, ki so pomagali pri organizaciji dogodka. Upamo, da jih bo še veliko tudi v prihodnje.

3RD SUNDAY OF ADVENT

Response:

My soul shall exult in my God.

First Reading Isaiah 61:1-2. 10-11

The prophet speaks in the person of Christ, the anointed one of the Spirit. Later Jesus applies this verse to himself.

Second Reading 1 Thessalonians 5:16-24

Paul prays that the whole of our being, spirit, soul and body, may be healed and saved.

Gospel John 1:6-8. 19-28

John the Baptist testifies to the divinity of Christ, describing himself as the one who makes way for "the Lord".

"He was not the light, only a witness to speak for the light."

Illustration

There are both positive and negative aspects to the idea of mediation, or being an intermediary. Mediation can help two bitterly opposed sides begin to communicate, whether it be in a marriage, a damaged friendship, or in international relations. Mediators can operate in the school playground, to pass on the message that A wants to go out with B. Shuttle diplomacy can be used to prevent wars or arrange treaties. One of the titles of the Pope is "Pontiff", from the Latin pontifex, or bridge builder. This refers both to the Pope's spiritual intermediary role, and his ancient function of looking after the fabric of Rome. To be a bridge builder is usually seen as a positive function.

Hvlala Maksu in Mileni PAVLIČ za tri smreke, ki sta jih zopet darovala za cerkev. Maks je smreke posekal, jih pripeljal in potem sta jih z Mirkom postavila na mesto.

However, there can also be a downside. Intermediaries get blamed by both sides when things go wrong; if things go right they get none of the credit. The French novelist Flaubert wrote, "There are some men whose only mission among others is to act as intermediaries; one crosses them like bridges and keeps going." He did not mean it as a compliment. In business, it is often seen as advantageous to "cut out the middle man". A rather cruder way of putting it in English is, "I want to speak to the organ grinder, not the monkey." In Advent, however, we celebrate John the Baptist as a mediator. John is in some ways the most famous middle man in history.

Gospel Teaching

In sacred history the role of the intermediary is generally positive. Abraham and Moses are shown as interceding on behalf of the people. The prophets classically act as middle men, delivering God's message to the people, and speaking on behalf of the people to God. In Exodus, God institutes the Aaronic priesthood to act as a permanent body of intermediaries, and the liturgy itself is a way of mediating God's holiness. These two great roles, the prophetic and the priestly, are brought together in John the Baptist. He behaves as one of the classical prophets. That is why he is asked if he is Elijah, or "the Prophet". But he is also one of the last generations of the Aaronic priesthood, his father being Zechariah, a priest, and the priesthood being hereditary. So John is a complex figure, with a complex message.

One of the reasons his message is complex is because he is announcing someone who is both yet another intermediary, and who is also the other party, so to speak, in the relationship. Christ is both fully human, so he can be our intermediary, and he is fully divine, the one who receives the intercession. John speaks about these two aspects of Jesus symbolically.

Jesus' humanity is represented by the sandal-strap that John speaks of. Jesus fully takes on our humanity, right down to the soles of his feet. But he also stands among them as one "unknown to you". This stands for the complete otherness of his divinity.

Application

It is by contemplating these two aspects of Christ's identity that we get to know who he is. As God, he is utterly beyond comprehension, the second person of the Blessed Trinity, who alone is immortal and dwells in inaccessible light. As fully human, Jesus is also one of us, through whom we have access to the Father. As St Thomas Aquinas puts it, it is through the sacred humanity of Jesus that we come to his divinity. So Christ is himself the ultimate intermediary, who joins in himself the two parties in the relationship. He is the unique high priest who offers us to God; and, as God, the one who also receives what he offers.

By sharing in our humanity, Jesus experienced himself all the joys and sorrows of human life. He fully participated in the love that humanity is capable of, and suffered the evil that distorts it. As the letter to the Hebrews puts it, "For it is not as if we had a high priest who was incapable of feeling our weaknesses with us; but we have one who has been tempted in every way that we are, though he is without sin."

Through the sacraments, Jesus continues his intermediary role in physical, tangible ways. Through our own baptism, we share in the intercessory priesthood of Christ, so that we can mediate God's compassion and healing to the world. We ourselves become intermediaries, not through our own deserving, but by being raised up to share in the ultimate mediation of Jesus.
