CESAR IN BOLHA (Basen). Zivel je mogočen cesar, ki so se ga vsi bali zaradi njegove krivolocnosti. Neko noč je našel v gubah svoje nočne srajce — bolho. "Grdoba!" je besno zavpil. "Kako se drzneš tako nesramno dotakniti se mojega cesarskega telesa? Mar ne veš, kdo sem?" In jo je hotel ubiti. Od strahu že napol mrtva bolha se je vrgla na kolena pred njegovim veličanstvom in ga z dvignjenimi rokami prosila, naj jo ne ubije. "Podari mi življenje, presveti vladar! Podari mi ga in izkazala se ti bom hvaležna za tvojo veliko dobroto." "Ha, ha, ha!" se je začel cesar krohovati na vse grlo. "Ti, uboga bolha, se mi mogla biti še kdaj koristna? Pomisli samo na miško, ki je rešila levo, kralja živali!" "Naj bo!" se je odločil cesar. "Zaenkrat pojdi v miru! Glej samo, da se mi ne prikaže več!" Bolha se je lepo zahvalila in z globokimi pokloni izginila iz spalnice. Naslednjo noč se je splazil v cesarjevo spalnico morilec. Dvignil je ostro bodalo in ga hotel zasadi v spegega cesarja. V tistem hipu pa mu je skočila na roko bolha in ga krepko ugriznila. Morilec je od bolečine zakričal in spustil meč na tla. Cesar se je zbudil in ubil morilca. Junaško bolho je cesar bogato obdaril in jo imenoval za dvorno damo. ANEKDOTA Profesor Thomasius v Koenigsbergu je bil zelo, zelo raztresen. Nekega dne je sedel za svojo pisalno mizo in čisto slučajno odkril, da stoji na mizi velik šopek cvetlic. V tem je stopila v sobo njegova žena in Thomasius jo je vprašal: "Povej mi, ljuba moja, kdo je pa postavil ta šopek na mizo?" "Jaz." "Zakaj pa?" "Ampak, preljubi, danes je vendar obletnica tvoje poroke." "Res? Prosim te, bodi tako dobra in zapiši mi, kdaj je obletnica tvoje poroke, da ne bom pozabil in da ti bom tudi jaz kaj daroval." PRAYER OF A SOLDIER'S MOTHER Oh Mother of Perpetual Help, To thee I send my plea, Look down upon my soldier son, Take care of him for me. And when he's blue and sick at heart, Discouraged and oppressed, Give him the will to carry on, In heavenly grace to rest. Show unto him a Mother's love, As Thou hast shown to me, Bring comfort to his lonely heart, Is mine, his mother's plea. —Selected.

FRATERNALISM

Fraternalism we know. We know its good points. We have its successes before our eyes every day. We are living it. In seeking and accepting the benefits of fraternalism, a member proclaims his right as an individual to decide what he wants to do with his money, what sum he wants to save toward his own and his family's future protection, what estate he will try to possess. His action exemplifies that freedom of choice which Americans have fought to preserve, and labels him as one who intends to pull his own oar in life, one who has determined that neither he nor his family shall become public charges. The fraternal system has shown its capacity to withstand changing economic situations. It is adaptable. It has adjusted itself through many years to the needs of the times. Its members have the right to express their opinions, formulate their policies, direct their organizations and use their own initiative to keep their business on an even keel. They have freedom of enterprise. The fraternal system has concerned itself with the needs of the common man, whose independence of thought and action, whose ingenuity and ambitions have made America the mecca for all peoples denied these freedoms. In these troubled times, when the expression, "Man's inhumanity to man," is often heard and its evidences seen, fraternalism is like that little candle, throwing a "shining light of helpfulness, kindness, constructive sympathy and humanity to man in the darkness of sadness and loss. — Fraternal Field.

MISSING

Cleveland, O. — A turret gunner on a B-17, Sgt. Joseph M. Dragovich, has been missing since a flight over Germany March 18, the War Department has informed his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Kepics, 2095 W. 105 St., with whom he made his home. The 21-year-old member of the Army Air Forces, who enlisted in December, 1942, arrived in England in February of this year. In a letter written two days before he was reported missing, the Sergeant spoke of the "fine spirit of all the men," said he believed his crew was the best in the service and "was raring to go. . . things are getting pretty tough but this is what we have been waiting for during the past 15 months."

HOW MUCH ARE YOU WORTH?

Fear not; the Collector of Internal Revenue is not a party to the question. Fortunately money is not everything. If that were the case, a legion of good people wouldn't get much out of life. I am inquiring about your spiritual inventory. The fact is you are rich. You have an immortal soul. Wars, revolutions, depressions, sickness and death can't destroy its value. "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his soul?" Christ the Son of God died on the Cross to redeem your soul. The Savior of mankind sacrificed His life to make you a child of God and an heir of heaven. This is a fortune that you can enjoy forever; nothing save sin, can cut you out of His will. Here is Christ's appraisal of your value. Did you ever think of forgiveness as a criterion of how much you are worth? Christ does not need you, He wants you. In your soul He sees the image and likeness of God. "What man of you having a hundred sheep, and losing one of them, does not leave the 99 in the desert, and go after that which is lost, until he finds it? And on coming home he calls together his friends and neighbors, saying to them, "Rejoice with me, because I have found my sheep that was lost." I say to you that, even so, there will be joy in heaven over one sinner who repents, more than over 99 just who have no need of repentance." Don't underestimate the value of your life, and sell short the treasures you have received from God. — St. Aloysius Bulletin.

SHEBOYGAN CADETS ARE ON THE MARCH

Sheboygan, Wis.—Forward March! Left! Right. Left! Right! — No, it isn't the Infantry, but eager drill team members organized under the K. S. K. J. Activity Club, No. 157, now in full swing. No doubt you've heard much about the girls and the interest they're taking in their new Activity Club, but it's only the beginning, for they're looking forward to bigger and better things. Right now, they're anxiously making plans to hold a Hostess Card Party some time in May in order that they may build up their treasury. They hope that everyone will cooperate in making the card party a success. Phyllis Brulla, reporter.

THE DREAM

When Lord Percy came to America in command of the British Expeditionary Forces during the Revolutionary War his father charged him with the delivery of a certain package to an Indian woman if he should meet with her during his stay in America. Without inquiring into the nature of the letter the officer accepted the trust. Later, during the battle of Brandywine, he was detailed by Cornwallis, who took over command, to drive a number of colonial troops out of a graveyard where they had entrenched themselves. Strangely, a few nights before Lord Percy had a dream of meeting his death here. As he rode to the crest of a hill into the clearing he drew rein and remarked to a fellow officer "I am fated to die yonder!" He pointed at the graveyard. Then he asked his comrade to take a message of love to his family in England, set his jaw, and rode forward. His cavalry charged into the cemetery. Within a few paces a battalion of men in the green uniform of the Santee Rangers rose and poured a withering fire into the ranks. The British retreated and closed their ranks again. As Lord Percy rode forward, Captain Waldemar, chief of the rangers and part Indian, engaged him. There was a moment of sword flashing and Lord Percy fell heavily to the earth, dead. That night Waldemar sought out the body of the British officer, attracted somehow by the memory of the man. He found the packet of letters on the body. He read one by the lantern light. It was a letter from his father to his own Indian mother promising a part of his English estate to Waldemar. He had killed his own brother in battle. Sorrowing, he buried him there at the Brandywine. — Ensign Paul Twitchell, U.S.N.R.

ALLENS HOLD SLIM LEAD AS JOLIET LADIES SCHED NEARS WINDUP

Joliet, Ill. — Edging on into the final week of the season in the local KSKJ Ladies Bowling League we find the Allens Orange Crush still holding first place with the Schuster Plumbers just two games behind. As a result of a two-game win over the Gorsich Markets, the fourth place Avsec Printers are now just two games behind the third place Joliet Engineers. These two teams meet this week for their final game. It should be a pretty stiff battle. Ann Papesh started a little low, but she progressed nicely in her final games to add up high series for the Plumbers with a 458 series. For the Gorsich Markets, Jo Ramuta was top marker with a series of 429. Schuster Plumbers marked up a two-game victory over the Joliet Engineers. Even though Mary Salesnik's bowling wasn't up to par she was high man for the Schusters with a 184. Dot Zlogar really made the pins fly the first two

JOLIET COMMITTEES READY WITH PRELIMS AS MIDWEST MEET DATE NEARS

Joliet, Ill. — The Joliet Bowling Tournament Committee have completed their preparatory work for the coming Seventeenth Midwest K. S. K. J. Bowling Tournament which will be held at the Rivals Club Bowling Alleys, 1425 N. Board Alleys, 1425 N. Broadway St., Joliet, Ill. Everything is in readiness and all visitors are assured that their stay in Joliet should be a pleasant and enjoyable one. Previously we announced that Gene Victor's Band would play for the Saturday Nite Dance, but because they had been previously booked elsewhere for the nite, their place will be taken by Novak's Band, so that good music will be furnished for the dancers. Mr. John Churnovic and Mrs. Jean Tezak, who are in charge of the refreshment committees, announce that refreshments (eats and drinks) will be served at the Rivals Club Hall and at St. Joseph's Church Hall (just across the street from the Church) on Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. The program and schedule book, due to the existing paper shortage, will be somewhat smaller with only a few large space ads, but will have a lengthy list of patrons and sponsors. The genial tournament secretary, Mr. Frank Kosmach of Chicago, advised us that he had gotten requests from some of our Service Members to send them the tourney program for souvenirs, so we are having more printed to take care of the requests. Masses on Sundays at St. Joseph's Church are read at 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock with Slovenian sermons at 6, 8 and 10 o'clock and the English sermons at 7, 9 and 11 o'clock. As the Rivals Club Alleys are on N. Broadway St., which is State Route 66-A on which the Buebird Bus System operates between Chicago and Joliet, arrangements have been
