Misijonska srečanja in pomenki

(nadaljevanje s 3. str.)

za vse naše misijonarje $200. V rokopisu je bila vsota pravilno navedena, v drugem delu poročila o pikniku v Clevelandu.

Fr. Philip Feryan, O.F.M. je začel pomalem uživati hrano. Je pa potreboval ponovni poseg, da so mu olajšali prehod hrane v želodec. Molimo, da mu Bog povrne zdravje čimpreje.

Sestra Bogdana Kavčič

se je oglašila naši sodelavki v domovini že 11. julija z zanimivim pismom:

»S s. Anko sva končno v Burundiju. Povsod sva imeli neizmerno srečo in na vsakem potu sva srečale dobre ljudi. Na letališču sva imeli okrog 40 kg preveč, pa so nama spregledali in rekli, da naj za kaj drugega porabiva denar, ki bi ga morale plačati za odvečne kile. Le ko smo vzletele iz letališča ob polnoči, smo se po enurni vožnji morali vrniti nazaj v Pariz, ker nekaj ni bilo v redu. Šele ob pol štirih zjutraj smo ponovno vzleteli in prišli v Bujumburo s 4-urno zamudo, vendar srečno. Sestre so naju čakale in oba slovenska misijonarja. S. Anko smo pustili v provincialni hiši, jaz pa sem šla še isti dan domov. Ob 9. zvečer sva prišli s sestrom domov, pa so me mnogi s hriba čakali. Človeka zadene njih pozornost.

V državi je precej napeto in vsi se bojijo, da bo izbruhnila vojna. Lakota razsaja. Dež je prenehal padati dva meseca prezgodaj, tako da ljudje nimajo fižola; niti kave ni veliko letos, da bi se jo lahko kupilo za denar. Ljudje govorijo, da bo kmalu konec sveta, ko se dogajajo vse mogoče čudne stvari.« (Dalje prihodnjič).

G. Pedro Opeka se zdravi v Lyonu. G. Lukan ima težave s srcem v domovini. S. Marija Pavlišič je na Madagaskarju silno preobremenjena. Manjka sestra. G. Devetak je bil v juliju na mesečnem tečaju o Vincencijevi duhovnosti. Po 12 letih ga je v avgustu zamenjal kot direktor usmiljenk g. Anton Lavrič, ki je pri vseh priljubljen in ga sestre dobro poznajo.

Papežev prihod v Toronto in Kanadi je pred nami. Sedaj grozijo s tranzitnim štrajkom, kar ni prijetna izkušnja v dneh pred papeževo sv. mašo v Downsview, na letališču.

Arizona and the Grand Canyon

by Eleanor Cerne Pavey

Off we went into the wild blue yonder — Helen Levstick, Nettie Seaman, Bertha Walden, and I to Sun City, Arizona. We left on May 15 and were driven to the airport by Josephine Prince. We flew from Cleveland to Kansas and after a short wait, we transferred to our flight to Phoenix. There we picked up our rental car and headed for the home of Jeanette Perdan Cahill in Sun City, a retirement community about 18 miles north of Phoenix.

Bertha and Nettie lodged with Jeanette while Helen and I stayed at a Travel Lodge about three miles away. We made arrangements for the two of us to go next day by Greyhound to tour the Grand Canyon, the specific reason Helen made this trip. Just a tip — if you are planning to take the Greyhound trip to the Canyon, remember Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays the bus makes a one-day trip. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, a two-day trip is on schedule.

We started our trip by being driven to the Greyhound station in Sun City where we were picked up by a bus which made several other pickups on our way to Phoenix where we transferred to the bus which was to take us to the Canyon.

On our way we stopped outside of Flagstaff at Arby's to have a sandwich. Our driver informed us that it might take two hours or more to get service at the park as the lines were so long — and he was so right! Helen and I got cheese and beef sandwiches served on great big onion buns and they were tasty!

A few miles before we arrived at the park, we dropped off seven passengers who had scheduled the airplane flight which takes you down into the Canyon for a closer look. The cost was $45; five years ago I had taken the flight for $40 and it was well worth it.

Arriving at the park, we were on our own for about two hours walking the perimeter and stopping at the different observation points. Helen admitted that it was a truly magnificent sight and couldn't get enough of it. It's probably the most spectacular example of the power of erosion — a chasm 277 miles long (measured by river course) and up to 18 miles wide and an average depth of about one mile.

At 3:15 in the afternoon our bus returned and picked us up to take a ride along the South Rim offering startling views into various sections of the Canyon. We were even able to see a returning muleback train made up of about 30 visitors. The guide told us that most of the people have never been on a mule or a horse and that for the guides the funniest part of the day was when these riders dismounted. The AAA booklet states, "The trips are strenuous and should be undertaken only by those in good physical condition and of sound health. Riders must be English-speaking persons weighing under 200 pounds when fully dressed and measuring of (at least) 4 feet 7 inches. Confirmed reservations, strongly recommended all year, are absolutely necessary from May to October."

We were fortunate in that we had a beautiful day to view the Canyon. Our driver said that anyone who predicts what the

100 Dancers at Kres Show

Summer is quickly departing; fall and a new school year are already upon us. Coinciding with these is the annual performance of the Slovenian folklore dance group Kres. This year's performances, however, take on a special significance, for this is the 30th anniversary year of the group's existence. Therefore, the performance on Sept. 15 will be preceded by a banquet dinner.

The young dancers have been working very hard all during the spring and summer months, to prepare for these performances, under the tutelage of Mrs. Breda Loncar, Mrs. Veronica Znidarsic, and Mrs. Bernarda Ovsenic.

I feel a special admiration and closeness with the 20 new dancers of which I am a part. However, "new" is not a good description for half of them because they have danced before as youngsters. Now, they are old enough to be considered in the older group.

To join Kres as an older dancer and be able to perform beautiful Slovenian dances, one has to be at least in high school. When I decided to re-join Kres this past year as an older dancer, I did so not only because I felt a commitment to keeping the culture of my parents alive, but also because I saw the other dancers having fun performing and developing friendships amongst themselves. Just watching many of the dancers practice, I can see what a tremendous transformation many have made since the first practice sessions. Those who were awkward and unsure of themselves at first, are now smooth and polished dancers.

Each and every one of the over 100 Kres performers welcomes the entire Cleveland community to attend this year's performances in the Slovenian National Home on St. Clair Ave. The first performance will be held on Saturday, September 15 as a combination dinner-performance. A delicious dinner will be served beginning at 6:30 p.m., followed by the program at 8:15 p.m.

On Sunday afternoon, September 23, Kres will repeat this performance at 3:30. However, this time there will be no dinner served.

Once again, the members invite each and every Slovenian to attend, and maybe to even bring a friend or two to this celebration of Slovenian youth and culture.

Most of all, however, we invite the youth to attend and enjoy these performances, because who will preserve this great culture of ours if the youth generation is not a part of it.

Labor Day Baby

Congratulations to Steve and Michelle Opalich, proud parents of their first child, Austin, born on Sept. 2.

Austin, weighing in at 7 lbs., 1 oz., is the first grandson and third grandchild for George and Judy Opalich and the first great-grandson for Alice Opalich, currently visiting from Cape Coral, Fla.

Austin's imminent arrival kept his parents away from a lovely holiday clambake, hosted on Sept. 1 by his great-aunt and uncle, John and Pat Chiappetta of Richmond Heights.

About 100 relatives and friends enjoyed the bake, which would have included hot-air balloon rides if late-summer winds had cooperated.

Travel News

Emma (Skoff) and Cathy Lincoln of Shaker Heights, Ohio, recently wrote to tell us about their "great adventure" in Russia, Siberia, Outer Mongolia, China, the Himalayan countries, India and Sri Lanka.

The mother-daughter were overnighing in Bangkok when they wrote, with a return scheduled for Nov. 1.

They say they're loving every minute of their busy travel schedule, which has included trains, stays in various elegant hotels (including one guest house where presidents have slept) and visits to yurts (Mongolian portable homes).

Meanwhile, Marge Masler has returned home to Cleveland from a three-day visit to Atlantic City, N.J., where she enjoyed the gaming tables with the Waterloo Pensioners Club.

On Television

Joseph Zelle tells us that Sister Rosemary Hocevar, an Ursuline nun from Cleveland, was featured last Tuesday on ABC-TV's three-hour special about America's education crisis.

Sister Hocevar, former principal at Villa Angela Academy, discussed the reasons for parents sending children to parochial and private schools instead of public schools.

Anniversary Greetings

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stransky of Euclid celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday (Sept. 8).

Their four children — Edith Lukež, Edmund Jr., Norbert and Eric — and their four grandchildren — Rudy, Andrew, John Lukež and Jennifer Stransky — wish them good health and best wishes. So does the staff at the American Home.

Lou and Mary Prhne recently celebrated their 17th anniversary and will cap it with a permanent move from Maple Heights, Ohio to Englewood, Fla.

The couple has spent the past five winters there before deciding to make the southern state their year-round home.

Water Fitness

Eleanore Rudman next week begins another session of water exercise classes Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Wickliffe Quality Inn.

Children's swim lessons, taught by Mike Fakult, and aerobicize, taught by Mary Piatak, also are available.

Call 585-0600 for times, costs and further information.

More on Vidmar

As reported last week here, Peter Vidmar, the Olympic medal-winner, recently visited the area to participate at the Kirtland Heritage Days festival.

Since then Prof. Edward Gobetz, wrote to tell us how he interviewed Vidmar back in 1980 (for his Slovenian Heritage book).

Dr. Gobetz says Vidmar confirmed that his paternal ancestors were from what is now northern Yugoslavia (Slovenia), news he shared with the Yugoslav press on a gymnastic tour that included a stop in Zagreb.

According to Dr. Gobetz, Vidmar's parents recently released the memoirs of Peter's grandmother, who wrote about his first paternal immigrant ancestor — his great-grandfather, Jurij Vidmar. Peter's grandfather, John Charles Vidmar, was born in St. Louis in 1888 or 1889, and Jurij was subsequently killed in an industrial accident in the same city.

Based on its past experience in tracing the roots of

numerous Slovenian immigrants, the Slovenian Research Center of America contacted about a dozen organizations, and Prof. Gobetz shared the first replies with Vidmar when he visited the area late last month.

Dyke College Offers $100,000 in Scholarships to H.S. Grads

Dyke College of Cleveland announced it will be awarding $100,000 in additional scholarship funds for the 1984-85 academic year.

Under the Dyke College President's Scholar Incentive Award (PSI) program, tuition is subsidized by 50%. At dyke's full-time tuition rate of $3,200 per year, the total award amounts to $6,400 for each student over the course of a four-year bachelor's degree program.

Scholarships will be awarded on merit, regardless of need. The student should be a recent high school graduate, must have a grade point average of 3.0 (B) or better, and obtain a recommendation from his or her high school principal. Only one graduate per high school can receive this award.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for high school students to receive a private college education at half the cost," said Dr. John Corfias, president of Dyke College. "These awards are especially appealing to students who might not be eligible for other assistance programs." The funds are donated by private businesses, individuals, and foundations.

Dr. Corfias noted that award recipients may still apply for other types of financial aid.

Dr. Corfias suggested interested students respond quickly since classes begin today, with late registration to Sept. 15.

The college is located at 1375 East Sixth Street in downtown Cleveland. Additional information about the PSI awards is available by phoning Eleanor Brant at Dyke College, 623-5751 or 696-9000.

Dyke College, founded in 1848, is a private, not-for-profit, accredited college offering bachelor and associate degrees in a variety of business programs. It is the only college in the Cleveland area offering a paralegal program approved by the American Bar Association.

St. Vitus Holy Name Celebrates 50th Year

After Mass, a breakfast and short program will be held in the parish hall. All members, past and present, and their families are cordially invited to attend this Golden Jubilee event. There is no charge.

In conjunction with the 50th Anniversary, American Home will publish a supplement which will depict the society's history throughout the half century. Patrons are being garnered by Michael Kolar, Stanley Frank, Daniel Postotnik, and Frank Zupancic. Cost per patron name is $5.00. Deadline for patrons is September 15, 1984.

Want to Print A Special Edition?

The idea of printing a special section of the American Home seems to have caught on with great enthusiasm. In March we printed a 32-page supplement for the Federation of Slovenian Homes. In August the Holmes Ave. Slovenian Home put together a 24-page edition. This month the American Home will print an 8-page supplement. In October the St. Vitus Holy Name Society is issuing a four-page edition. For November, the Slovenian Society Home on Recher Avenue in Euclid has reserved space.

The special sections often recall past events in the organization with pictures and brings the readers up to date on the current officers and activities.

Enterprising members of the groups go out and sell ads which not only pay for the paper, but add a few dollars to the treasury as well.

Besides advising readers of American Home about the club's activities, we print extra copies to distribute free to persons attending the special occasion.

Frank Zupancic said recently, "The only means to immortality here on earth is through a newspaper." By that he is referring to the fact that our paper is put on permanent record in six different places. Those in the future wishing to know what we did here and now need only to look up copies of the American Home and/or its supplements to discover who did what, when. The material in special editions are permanent and will not be thrown out by uninterested parties.

Any group wishing to have their very own special section of American Home which they can completely control what they want in it, need only call me at 431-0628 and further details will be furnished.

Why hide all the hard work those who have gone before us have done and what work we are doing now? Let's see and remember, and be proud of our heritage. Show the rest of us what good you have done and/or are doing. We're here to serve you.

Kres: Thirty Plus More

Autumn is perhaps the one season in the year where color and imaginary are woven together to form a kaleidoscope of beauty and splendor. The heat of the day slowly begins to transform to cool evenings with tiny drops of dew on grass appearing like well-shaped diamonds. Spring and summer are only preludes to this majestic season, where many months of preparation will display this yearly crowning achievement for but a relatively short period of time.

In-like manner, the Slovenian dance group Kres will display a full array of colors, dance steps, and scenery on September 15 and September 23 in the heart of the Slovenian community in Greater Cleveland at the Slovenian National Home located at E. 65 and St. Clair Avenue.

This year's performance has great significance for Kres since the folk dance group is celebrating its 30th anniversary. This should be an encouraging sign not only for other Slovenian cultural groups but for all other nationalities who maintain a deep commitment in preserving a unique expression of culture over an extended period of time.

Kres is directed by Breda

Loncar, Bernie Ovsenic, and Veronika Znidarsic. The children and young adults who participate in the group live within the various Cleveland neighborhoods and adjoining suburbs of Cleveland. A great deal of credit belongs to the directors and dancers for devoting a great deal of time and effort to continually provide quality performances over the past 30 years to so many people.

The September 15 performance is in the format of a banquet and program. The dinner is scheduled to be served from 6:30 p.m. until approximately 8:00 p.m. The program is scheduled to start at approximately 8:15 p.m. Reservations are requested for this performance. Call 944-0708). The September 23 performance is a program only, to start at 3:30 p.m.

Fantje Concert Oct. 6th

October brings us not only the near-height of fall's beauty, but also the annual melodic concert of Cleveland's own Fantje na Vasi. The Fantje are a singing group of 18 "Young Men of the Village."

Each of the group's members is of Slovenian descent, replicating the Slovenian spontaneous evening's acapello vocalizations of the young men on the village green after the day's work is done.

Director John Sršen said the group, once again, will perform its customary traditional peasant songs of Slovenia at their seventh annual concert on Saturday, Oct. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Slovenian National Home on St. Clair. The Fantje have achieved a regional following as well as those from around this country and Canada.

As a new innovation to the program, the Alpine Sextet will perform between numbers. The A-6, a handle the Sextet is quickly attracting, will also provide dance entertainment after the curtain falls. The A-6 is in its ninth year, fresh from a successful engagement at the Sharon, Pa. Bavarian Fest, a regional ethnic celebration which attracted some 80,000 this year.

Sršen astutely noted this successful match-up always brings on brisk ticket sales and he strongly urges people to purchase their reserved tickets early. There will be cabaret-style seating in the round. For tickets call Tomaž Sršen (432-2041), Mark Jakomin (486-0840), Janez Tominc (531-8855) or any of the Fantje members. Tickets are $5.00, the same as in the past several years.

IN LOVING MEMORY Of Our Beloved Parents

Anton Kapel

died July 22, 1973

He had a nature you could not help loving,
And a heart that was purer than gold;
And to those who knew him and loved him,
His memory will never grow old.

Antonia Kapel

died Sept. 5, 1983

Our Mother,
Who gave us the best of her life,
Who cherished our secrets,
our sorrows, our strife.
Who taught us to love,
Who taught us to pray,
Our Mother in Heaven,
God bless her today.

Many Observances Force National Home Postponement

The Slovenian National Homes in the greater Cleveland area along with the various cultural groups and societies have this year observed some very significant anniversaries. Commemorating the events, special programs were presented, and according to reports, all have attracted large crowds. It is so gratifying to those who struggle to keep their heritage and tradition on a cultural level with other nationalities, to see that even our present generation is willing to support and participate in these celebrations.

Early in the year, the Slovenian National Home, the largest such institution, located at 6409-17 St. Clair Ave., announced plans for a grand observance of the 60-70th anniversaries since the Home was founded. The first celebration would mark 60 years since the new building was built; the second would be a tribute to the men and women whose foresight 70 years ago was for such an important gathering place for the then newly arrived countrymen. A two-day affair in March, 1984 was planned. A dinner for Saturday night, followed by a cultural program and social on Sunday. The dinner program was a great success and the Board of Directors is grateful to all who attended.

After letters of invitation and solicitation for advertising in a Souvenir Booklet for the Sunday affair had been mailed to lodges, local merchants, individuals and organizations, word was received that another important event had already been in full progress, and many of the patrons of the Home had been committed to it. The general feeling was that it would be appreciated if the Home would postpone its cultural program celebration. The Board agreed to do so. An August date had been decided upon. No sooner was it announced, then word came that AMLA was sponsoring its annual AMLA Day the same day. Again, most of the patrons were involved in both organizations; and the Board of Directors of the Slovenian National Home agreed to move its date to September. Again, not realizing that so many of our important fraternal societies were celebrating their special anniversaries, word reached the Board that the KSKJ Society would be observing its 90th Anniversary. Not wishing to be in conflict, this date had been cancelled and a November date selected. Luckily, before the tickets, etc. had gone into print, word was received that the Slovenian Society Home on Recher Avenue will be celebrating their anniversary on the same weekend, and the November date was cancelled.

All this going on, makes one wonder will the date finally decided on by the Slovenian National Home on St. Clair Avenue for Sunday, March 31, 1985 really hold. We hope so. Meanwhile, monies received for advertisements in the Souvenir Booklet, which of course, was not printed, has been returned to the advertisers.

Plans are being formulated for an impressive occasion and, as the Board recognized the desirability and significance of cooperation with kindred groups, are looking forward to have a full house as the 70th Anniversary cultural program is presented.

Further details will be reported as plans unfold. Meanwhile, please reserve Sunday, March 31, 1985 to be a guest at the celebration of the Slovenian National Home.
