As our Holy Father John Paul II celebrated the first Vespers of advent earlier this month, he urged Catholics around the world "to discover the glory of God that is revealed in Christ." This marked the beginning of three years of prayer, study and charitable acts in preparation for the Holy Year 2000. With this plea, we look at the meaning of the season.

Christmas calls us back to our origins by remembering Jesus' own beginnings. We stand at the humble scene of Bethlehem, the helpless child who depended on Mary and Joseph to assist Him in the basic needs of life. The scene should never be forgotten because it reminds us of our beginnings and the need we have to depend on others. As adults we find that beginnings can be forgotten. No matter how wealthy or poor we are, there is the reality that everyone needs to be nourished, helped, and most of all, loved in those early years of development. At the heart of Christianity is love: to love as Jesus loved. My whole life is a ceaseless effort to love more and more the way Jesus loved. On the road to such perfect love I need a gift of God called... TRUST.

Where do I begin? With God's own Christmas gift: God's Son trusting Himself to us. He did you know. He trusted Himself to a teenage mother. He trusted Himself to 12 intimate friends, one of whom sold Him for silver, another denied with an oath that he had ever known Him.

He trusted Himself to a people of His own creation where leaders let the Romans crucify Him. He trusts Himself to us - in our hands and on our tongues: If we love Him, He lives in us.

What does this Christmas gift demand of us in return? Our own trust. Let the Lord gradually remove the fears that prevent perfect love. There are indeed fears about which God says to you and me, "Don't be afraid." They touch our salvation, our love: love for God now and forever, love for our sisters and brothers, love for our own selves. So many of us are afraid: afraid of God, afraid of hell, afraid of ourselves, afraid to risk. All too many Christians are afraid of God. In their experience, God seems so distant, or so majestic, or so despotic, or so uncaring. God is the God of tornadoes and earthquakes, of wars, laws and punishments. No, if such is your image of God, look down into a crib, look up at a cross. There is your God - in swaddling clothes and bloody naked. "God so loved the world ... " (John. 3:16), so loved you and me!

All too many Christians are afraid of hell. But only if I forget God's love, God's mercy, God's forgiveness: only if I forget to love. Once more look down into a crib, look up at a cross.

Christmas is not an end to all fear; but it should be a beginning of a fresh love. Fresh love for a God who experienced in our flesh all that we experience - for love of us. Fresh love for our own selves - not what we have made of ourselves, but what God's love has made of us - " new creatures. Fresh love for our brothers and sisters. And all this within a fresh yearning to risk, to open ourselves to God, to God's world, to all God's children. Emmanuel: "God is with us." God loving, God caring. So, don't be afraid.

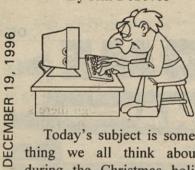

Most Reverend Anthony M. Pilla Bishop, Diocese of Cleveland

AMERIŠKA DOMOVINA,

Today's subject is something we all think about during the Christmas holidays: – food; – both real and imagined.

Waiter; what's that fly doing in my soup?

Possible answers from 1 to 16:

10. – The Macarena.

9. – Laps.

8. - Building a raft.

7. - Snorkeling

6. – Wiping the steam off his glasses.

5. – Looking for Vincent Price. ("The Fly" movie; get it?)

4. - Signaling for some bread.

3. Trying to get his feet unstuck from the liver dumpling.

2. – Making an Act of Contrition. 1. – Crying.

1. – Crying.

0 F æ, 5%

11 – Singing "Home on the Range". (Get it?) 12. – Sneezing from all that pepper.

13. – Keeping his mouth shut. His doctor put him on a low-sodium diet.

14. – Searching for his missing wife and 500 kids.

15. – Singing, "I' (might not) Be Home for Christmas."

16. – Singing, "Dashing through the soup, on a onehorse-fly open sleigh…"

Waiter, do they serve crabs in this restaurant? Certainly sir; have a seat.

Waiter: How did you like the food in our restaurant? Slovenian customer: It was more like being in the Bureau of Mission Portions.

Customer: I'd like some food to make me smarter.

Slovenian waiter: One noodle soup coming up.

Tramp: I haven't had any food all week. Fat lady: Gee, I wish I had your will-power.

Customer: Don't bring me any more klobase. Waiter: How come?

Customer: It's going to waist.

Customer: I'd like to have pressed tongue, fried chopped liver, frogs legs, and pigs feet.

Waiter: Personally, I'd rather like to look like Carry Grant.

Customer: How did that intruder get into this restaurant?

Waiter: Intruder window.

Waiter: I'd say you have iron deficiency. Customer: That's amazing. How did you know? Your shirt needs ironing.

Customer: Knock, knock. Waiter: (Playing along) Who's there? Customer: Arthur. Waiter: Arthur, who? Customer: Arthur any more biscuits in the oven?

Customer: Knock, knock. Waiter: Who's there? Customer: Dishes. Waiter: Dishes who? Customer: Dishes a stickup.

Customers: Knock, knock Waiter: Who's there? Harvey: Harvey, who? Harvey going to get our food sometime today?

You notice those little symbols located between item one and 11? For nine months I have been sitting at this computer and trying to figure out how I can get one incorporated into some article and -- I discovered it can't be done. Therefore, although they may seem important, clever and part of the Holiday jocularity, they really have no bearing whatsoever on the subject of food. But I thought, what the heck, this is Christmas and magical things happen all the time, and we can all wonder at the beauty of the symbols which are called Wingdings. Here's another nice one: 12 We'll have to ask Tony Grdina (the ex-Navy signalman - what it means - if anything). Probably just a flag waiving in the breeze.

I bet you've always wondered what a zafpDingbat is: Me, too. Anyhow, here's a few which will probably be the only time we'll ever use them: 🗑 🕮 🗇.

The time draws near the birth of Christ: The moon is hid; the night is still; The Christmas bells from hill to hill answer each other in the mist. – Lord Tennyson.

Starting Over in America

By Anton Žakelj translated and edited by John Žakelj

March 21, 1950

It's the first day of spring, but it snowed all day. Yesterday I moved 100 bushels of oats and 12 sacks of manure. Today I split wood. John is usually milking by himself. Since I never seem to do things right as far as he's concerned, I try not to work with him. I am becoming more ill-humored, quiet and withdrawn. This can't go on much longer.

March 22

About 5-6 inches of new snow fell today. In the morning I went to Greenwood with John to buy leather, but the shoemaker only had pieces of horseleather that were about 30 inches square. On the way back, we saw Sršen who said that Rihtar got a job in Cleveland as a carpenter at $3 an hour. He will go to Cleveland this Saturday.

March 23, 1950

I wrote to the Marshfield Clinic and asked them to reduce the bill for Cilka's operation.

Lamovec brought 25 sacks of potatoes from Stevens Point. They cost $10, or less than a penny a pound. Since the potato harvest was plentiful last year, they are selling potatoes for animal feed, with government support.

In the evening, Ciril Rakovec visited with his wife and daughter. Although we had not met before, he suggested that we each get a week's vacation this summer; when one goes on vacation, the other takes care of his chores. Ciril knows John well. He worked for him as a hired man for a few months and understands that he's impossible to work with. If we were staying here, I would become best friends with Ciril. But, since I had almost decided to move elsewhere, I kept quiet and went to bed at 9:30, while the others talked until 11. (+60 degrees F).

March 24, 1950

John went to Marshfield with Frank, but they were not able to get the right kind of leather there, either. I worked on the bull's stall. It's a waste to have a bull for 16 cows; the bull and the two horses eat more feed than 4 cows, and don't provide any benefit. It would be cheaper, if instead of the bull, we used artificial insemination, and instead of the horses, asked Frank to help with his tractor.

After three months in America, we have nothing -and are $200 in debt.

March 25

I cleaned the cows in the morning. The Marshfield Clinic responded to my letter; the bill for Cilka has been reduced from $85 to $60, but this must be paid immediately.

March 26, 1950 -- Sunday At 10 o'clock we went to church. On the way to church, we got stuck in deep snow and mud. When I was pushing the truck to get it unstuck, John stepped on the gas and sent mud flying on me. I had to go back and change clothes.

The roads here are hopeless, like nowhere in Europe. They're just sand, pushed in from each side. When melting snow soaks the sand, cars swim in mud up to their axles. When the ruts on the nearby road get too deep, John sometimes goes out to level the road. He uses his team of horses hitched to a kind of harrow made of six 8-foot long tree trunks bound together with chains. Of course, this lasts only for a couple of cars.

After mass, John took Karl back to his home. Sršen and I decided to look for work in Marshfield, maybe in the shoe factory.

In the afternoon and evening, I wrote to my brother John, my mother, and to Jesenko. Outside, it was windy, rainy and muddy.

March 27

John woke me at 5 a.m. to help with the birth of a calf which was already 10 days overdue.

Helen and Cilka worked on a quilt they are making from 1,000 pieces of cloth.

Sršen and Karl went to Marshfield to look for work. April 2, 1950 --

Palm Sunday

Karl and Sršen will begin work in the Marshfield shoe factory at the end of the month.

April 5

J. Zupan sent me a check for $33 for the lace I had sent him; he is promising he will find work and housing for me in Cleveland. I wrote back to him in the evening. I also wrote to my brother-inlaw, Mire, in Canada, asking him for money.

Aril 6, 1950

In the morning, John asked me "Did you hear how sadly a deer cried last night?" I said, "No, I didn't." We went out to the road to see what had happened. We found some bloody spots only partly covered by sand and deer hair. We decided that a hunter must have used his car-lights to attract the deer. 3 The deer paid for its trust with its life.

In the afternoon, John and I burned brush in the pasture. Even though there's water everywhere, the brush still burns.

April 9, 1950 -Easter Sunday

I finished my work in the barn by 7:40. At 8 a.m., we all went to church to-gether. Cilka and I sat in the open back of the truck; it was a cold five miles to Willard. When we returned, we ate the blessed food. In the afternoon, the Lamovec of family came for dinner - of family came for dinner good and plentiful! Then Helen took me to Sršen's. Sršen is going to Cleveland tomorrow to look for work. I don't know what happened to the plans for work in Marshfield.

Evolvement of Santa Claus

By Michael Noer

On a cold December evening in 1822, inspired by the sight of dozens of snowcovered chimneys sprouting from new dwellings along Broadway in New York's Greenwich Village, Clement C. Moore penned a Christmas poem for his young wife and six children.

A Visit from St. Nicholas made an icon of Santa Claus and changed the way Americans celebrate Christmas. Among American Christmas collectibles, early and illustrated version of Visit stand alone.

AMERISKA DOMOVINA

Before Moore's poem, American Christmas customs were in the European tradition. Dutch-American children, for example, were visited on Dec. 5, St. Nicholas Day Eve, by St. Nicholas dressed like a bishop and riding a white horse. German-American youngsters expected gifts from Kris Kringle (the Christ Child) on Christmas Day.

"Moore created a new and distinctly American figure – Santa Claus," says Betsy B. Shirley, a prominent New Jersey collector of American children's books. Moore created much of the tradition, such as the "miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer." The ninth reindeer, Rudolph, was created by a Montgomery Ward copywriter in 1939.

Moore, a professor of classical literature, did not acknowledge authorship of the work until 1837; it was okay for his kids, but he didn't want his name associated with it. copies in his own hand are so rare that one he made in 1860 for a friend was auctioned two years ago for $255,500. All copies of the poem printed before 1840 are collectible, and expensive – an 1925 copy from an almanac was recently auctioned by Sotheby's for $30,000.

Illustrators began using Moore's words to mold a visual image of Santa C laus almost as soon as the poem was first printed in upstate New York's Troy Sentinel in 1823. But for many years there was no general agreement about what Santa should look like: Among the oddities in Shirley's 6,000-volume collection are a Santa dressed in colonial garb, and a thin, balding Santa dressed in brown.

Thomas H. Nast, the political cartoonist famous for inventing the Republican Elephant and the Democrat Donkey is credited with creating the visual image of Santa Claus that we know today. (But thank Coca-Cola for permanently dressing him in red and white, starting in 1931).

A series of early Nast Santas was used to illustrate an 1869 version of the poem, and, if you can find it, a first edition of this book is worth more than $5,000. It is Christmas in the mansion, Yule-log fires and silken frocks; It is Christmas in the cottage, Mother's filling little socks. It is Christmas on the highway, In the thronging, busy mart; But the dearest, truest Christmas is the Christmas in the heart.

Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat,

Please to put a penny in the old man's hat;

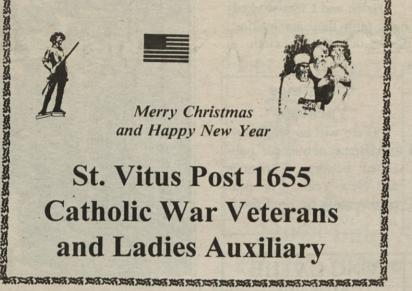

If you haven't got a penny, --a half penny will do,

If you haven't got a half penny; God bless you! --Beggar's rhyme.

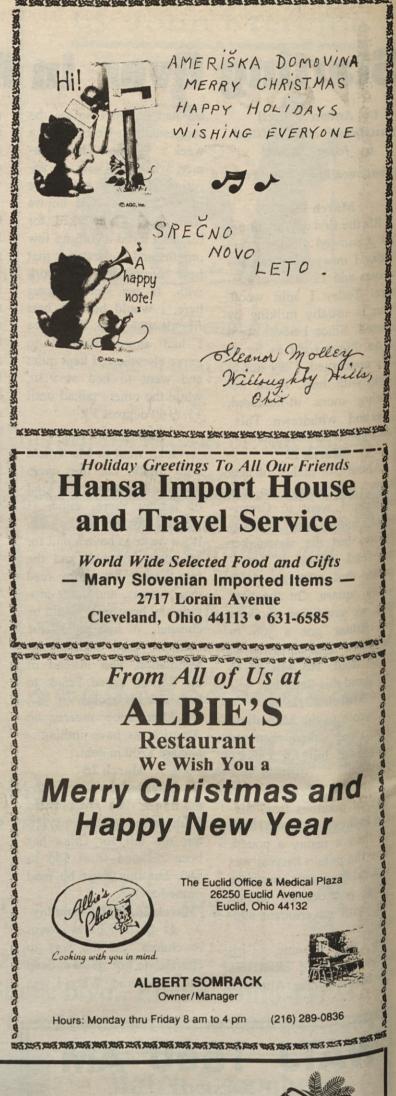

O Father, May that holy Star Grow every year More bright, And send its glorious Beam afar to fill the World with light.

Returning to Beautiful Slovenia

By Nada Skrly Arnold

1986 L (Continued from last week) Next morning we drove 52 45 minutes back into the karst hinterland and a prearranged stop at Črni Kal and the frescos of Hrastovlje.

DOMOVINA

Over the thousand-year period of Slovene evolution politics and aesthetics fostered the growth of hundreds of towns, churches, monasteries and castles. Fortified to withstand plundering Turks in the 14th through ₹ 17th centuries, many recently-constructed monuments reveal amazing treasures.

One of them is Hrastovlje.

Indiscernible from the zigzag roadway and shielded by a scrubby clutter of houses, nothing prepared us for the gigantic, rectangular fort or castrum on the rocky slope ahead, nor the slumbering masterpiece sheltered within.

We awaited the "key lady," to open the heavy iron gate, and eventually led us into the unexpectedly small, three-nave structure of a Romanesque church. Every inch, including the barrel vault is covered with twothirds-life-size, late-Gothic paintings - as fresh as when signed in 1490 by Istrian artist Janez of Kastva.

Uncovered in the mid-1950s and meticulously restored with dental instruments, the biblia pauperum (literally Bible for the poor, illiterate) depicts scenes from the Old and New Testaments. Themes include Genesis, Christ's Passion, the Adoration, apostles, saints, prophets, and months of the year with appropriate peasant activities.

But it is the Danse Macabre or dance of death on the southern wall that defies imagination. Although an English-language tape described other particulars, my focus reverted to this strange parade: Twelve smirking, 28-rib skeletons holding hands with persons of all ranks, from baby, beggar, youth, miser, merchant, to monk, bishop, cardinal, queen, and king. All are equal in death.

Yet another trip gave us insight into the horrors of war so vividly portrayed by Ernest Hemingway in "A Farewell to Arms.

The Karawanke highway northwest into the Julian Alps winds through pacific valleys of pristine beauty and abundant with cornfields, fruit orchards, home vegetable plots, and quaint chalets, balconies overflowing with cerise-and-pink geraniums.

Projecting like a patriotic beacon is the majestic 2,864meter Triglav, a sparkling, rosy-hued reminder to dutiful Slovenes to climb it once before they die.

At resorts like Vrbnje and Lesce, para-sailers, hanggliders, and parachutists dotted the sky. Below, babusha-wearing women, some wielding scythes, helped harvest hay, which dries on racks so singular that Charles II packed one off to a London park.

Religious markers dot the roads, a sign of the national ethos of "work and pray." (Another is the villagedefining, ubiquitous Catholic Church - some 3,000 - most atop hills as bulwark against the Turks.)

Simple, elevated crosses once defied the plague; and painted statues of Mary or the Crucifixion mark the site of an accident. And garishlydecorated, cupboard-size chapels often represent gifts from prosperous emigrants.

From the ski slopes of Kranjska Gora, near Austrian and Italian borders, we tracked spectacular mountain passes to Bovec, hacked out by Russian prisoners of World War I. And we paused at a Russian chapel that 400 commemorates prisoners who died in an avalanche.

It was a picture-postcard moment. But blooming yellow acacias, bright skies, trilling songbirds, and the hypnotically-clear waters of the Soca (Isonzo) river belied the ferocious battles fought here in the frigid winters of 1915-1917.

To bridge that gap, we needed the World War I museum in nearby Kobarid (Hemmingway's "Caporetto"), and the brilliantlyfocused dioramas, photographs, and artifacts.

Afterwards we stumbled upon a veritable "three-star" restaurant, the Kotlarl, and enjoyed a memorable pasta with fresh truffles, lobster risotto, grilled seafood and vegetables, and a Grappasorbet finale.

A pleasingly-dry Tokay proved to be a sneak preview of wine tastings in the fabled vineyards of Goriska Brda.

We took the Postojna road to the littoral and tarried enroute for the view from the pilgrim's church atop Sveta Gora - another strategic lookout during both world wars.

By noon we had traversed the closed corridor between Gorica, Italy, and Nova Gorica, Slovenia, and nicely ensconced on a terrace overlooking verdant valleys and orchards of both countries, we savored an '83 archive Merlot and some carpaccio (marinated beef).

Like fussy Goldilocks in the fairytales, only in reverse, we progressed from wine tastings in very small cellars (one 300-liter oak cask), to middle-size ones, and ended at the enormous 20-million liter cooperative at Dobrovo castle.

At each stop were delicacies like the justly-famous karst proscuitto, fresh mozarella with tomatoes, fruit cakes and wine compote and newly-picked cherries, apricots, and peaches.

At Kocijančič vineyards, splendors. Sitting outdoors overlooking acres of bluegreen vineyards shimmering in the afternoon haze, we drank prize Rebula, Sauvignon, Chardonnay, Merlot and Cabernet. Surely they were enhanced by the vineyard's Michaelangelostylized wine labels.

At the castle wine coop, we managed proper homage to the international gold medal, grand prix Peneca Rebula a '94 champagnemethod Pinot; also tasted a Sauvignon that Bill, by his own system, pronounced a "10."

Other days we explored Ljubljana, a natural starting point for the first-time tourist. With its eclectic architecture (a mixture of Baroque and Art Nouveau), quaint pedestrian bridges, daily markets, and visitorfriendly lanes and shops, Ljubljana is by far prettier than Hapsburg-era sisters like Prague and Zagreb.

Stylish handicraft boutiques like "365" and Skrina offer sophisticated momentous in crystal, wood, bread dough, enamel, ceramic and straw with Slovene motifs of the carnation, heart and Linden-tree leaf.

Gostilna Zabar in nearby Vic is worth a stop for scrumptious house specialties like frog legs, escargot, grilled trout or veal, and delectable ice creams. We enjoyed lunching in the Linden-shaded garden of this century-old Ljubljana favorite.

For overnight accommodations, we avoided congested and expensive Ljubljana center in favor of the Narobe Inn. It is located 15 minutes south of Brnik airport and equidistant from downtown and has all-new, well-appointed rooms in a renovated 500-year-old barn.

Stroke Facts

Risk Factors That Can Be Changed by Lifestyle:

Cigarette smoking. Smoking increases blood pressure, reduces the amount of oxygen in the blood, thickens the blood and makes clots more likely to form.

Elevated blood cholesterol and lipids. High blood cholesterol increases the buildup of fats in artery walls increasing the risk of heart disease.

Physical inactivity and obesity. Being inactive, obese or both can increase blood pressure and the accumulation of cholesterol in artery walls.

Drinking too much alcohol. More than two drinks a day raises blood pressure. Binge drinking can lead to a brain attack.

Certain kinds of drug abuse. Intravenous drug abuse carries a high risk of stroke from cerebral embolisms. Cocaine use also has been linked to stroke, even in first-time users.

Risk Factors That Can Be Changed by Medical Treatment

High blood pressure. This is the most important modifiable risk factor for stroke.

Heart disease. Clots that form in the heart can break away and lead to a brain attack.

TIAs. Proper medical TIAs, treatment of "temporary strokes," can reduce the risk of a major stroke occurring. It is very important for people to recognize the signs of a TIA and tell their doctor promptly if they occur. The usual symptoms are like those of a full-fledged brain attack, except that they are temporary, lasting 24 hours or less. Many people ignore the symptoms of TIA and put themselves at unnecessary risk.

High red blood cell count. Too many red blood cells thicken the blood and make clots more likely. The problem can be treated by removing blood or by administering blood thinners.

Warning Signs of Stroke:

- Sudden weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg on one side of the body.
- Loss of speech, trouble talking or understanding speech.
- Dimness or loss of vision, particularly in only one eye.
- Unexplained dizziness, unsteadiness or sudden falls, especially along with any of the previous symptoms.

There is no lesser or greater gift if the gift is love.

The Wonderful Memories of Frank Mahnic

Christmas never fails to evoke memories. Most of us recall Christmas of great joys and of disappointments, of warm, camaraderie and of frightening loneliness, of exciting hellos and of painful good-byes.

Each Christmas I think of my dad and what he meant to each of us and the impact he made on our lives. Little did we realize his influence on our lives until he was gone.

Every time I see someone reading the newspaper or drinking a cup of coffee at the kitchen table, it's a flashback of my dad. He read the paper so thoroughly, not missing one small detail. He always had to have either a cookie or piece of Mom's bakery to go along with that cup of coffee. This is where we exchange our ideas and had our major debates.

It is where he told us stories of our Slovenian heritage and our ancestors. It was where my dad balanced his check book and paid his bills. Everything properly filed with a rubber band around it tightly. It was where he met with our insurance man on a regular basis. It's where I found him when I came home from a date.

I can remember walking in the back door, and if he wasn't at the kitchen table you could see him sleeping in his recliner, catching a quick snooze before he went onto his second job. His hands displayed signs of hard labor, but his love of music provided him with the inspiration and steam to keep going. He never complained about work. Why would he do that? It was security and the means to take care of his family.

His silly side grin assured you that he found humor in what you said. He anticipated a silly quirk himself or the Christmas cheer had taken over. I remember one Christmas eve after visiting family, we went to Midnight Mass. When the choir began singing Silent Night, he looked at us with a big smile, began singing so loud that my mother grabbed my arm and escorted me to another pew. However, my younger brothers just huddled closer to my Dad, giggling feverishly, enjoying every minute of his solo.

My Dad expected a lot from us – respect, hard work, pride, courage and sacrifice. He expected us never to think of ourselves as better than others, but always remembering our roots. He believed in a higher education and his wife at home with his children.

to the to the to the to the to the to the to

My Dad wasn't the TV fairytale of Ozzie Nelson. He was just my Dad, unique and loving in the best way he knew how. I would give anything to pour him a cup of coffee today, hear him sing Silent Night as loud as he wanted, and put my arms around him and tell him how much I love him and appreciate him.

We do have his records and tapes to once again hear how beautifully he played the saxophone with the Vadnal orchestra, but there really isn't any music now that he's not around.

December 28 will mark the Fifth Anniversary of his death of our father Frank Mahnic. We miss him so, but most of all, we respect and appreciate the foundation and standards he laid out for us.

Deck the Halls with Boughs of Holly

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly..." is not only one of the most popular Christmas carols, but what most people would like to decorate with during the holiday season.

The use of holly as a decorative green can be traced back before the time of Christ, when Egyptians used it and other foliages in winter wreaths and garlands. Later the Romans sent gifts along with holly to friends and others held in high esteem during the winter celebration period called the Saturnalia, around mid-December through January 1st. holly, Isle aquifolium, and its many varieties grown commercially since the 1920s, primarily in the Pa-

By Rudy Flis Most of my Christmas memories are condensed into a warm, fuzzy memory.

While my Mom and my Sweetheart were on the beautiful "Humming Bird Express" to Montgomery, Alabama, my friend, Larry, our Company Mail Clerk, came to me and asked, "How would you like to go to Germany?" young adults. I guess you could say my Mom had a European accent. In the Day Room, my Mom was surrounded by young, homesick soldiers; many celebrating (what sadly became) their last Christmas.

But Christmas, 1952 was different. Nearing the end of our Basic Training, 120 of us were told we were going to Korea and we must stay at Camp Rucker until January 1, 1953.

I called my Mom, told her the news, and expected to see her after the holidays. My Mom had different ideas. She told my brothers and sisters, "This could be Rudy's last Christmas, and I am going to visit him." Then she asked my girlfriend (now, wife) "Would you like to come with me, Therese?" All I could say was, "I could buy my Mom a Coocoo Clock." Larry said, "Well, your orders are for Germany." Sixty of us received the good news.

After a great turkey dinner in our Company mess hall many of us went to the Day Room to relax.

My Mom and Dad came to America in 1913, as The soldiers quickly discovered that behind that Slovenian accent was kindness, wisdom, humor and one heck of a story teller. She was the Christmas Star in that Day Room.

As always, I will love and enjoy this Christmas with my wife and family, and I will thank God for the wonderful Mom he gave me and – and --for Christmas, 1952. Today, holly and the winter holidays are still inseparably paired.

Though there are several North and South American hollies with fine foliages, associated with equally colorful Indian uses and legends, the cut holly of choice in the home is the English cific Northwest where the fairly tender, evergreen trees or tall shrubs flourish. Some of the holly cultivars can be traced back to their native southern and central European or British Isle roots.

English holly's glossy, leathery, spine tipped leaves are 1-1/2 to 3 inches long and accompanied on a woody, branching or branchless stem by glossy, usually red, berries each about onequarter inch in diameter and bunched in dense clusters.

Then we have a category called a "Symbol." The most interesting one is a backwards E in which I guess the only time we'll be able to use it is in the sentence, "SLOVENIANS ARE US". Hey, -- I just found an upside-down A which will really come in handy someday if we ever want to strain ourselves and say,

"SLOVENIANS VR3 US". See, and you thought the only thing we do with these computers is play solitaire.

Actually, these symbols, can come in handy if you were a spy, or preferred to talk in shorthand like they do on the Internet. Usually, the reason they use shortcuts on the Internet is because they play with the computer so much, they forgot how to spell correctly.

But, a code can come in handy, sometimes.

For example, Bob Mills, the Ohio Chief MARS radio man receives messages from ships in code all the time because you can get a lot more bang for your buck, so to speak. If you'll recall last year's article about Bob, he relays messages from U.S. Navy sailors and Marines at sea to people in Ohio. He calls up by land phone the recipient of the message, and reads it to her. It's free of charge. At this time of year, he's busy with Christmas greetings.

But, you're only allowed to send 50 word messages. So, instead of trying to figure out 50 exciting words to send to your sweetheart, you might say, for example, "ARL SIXTY TWO" which counts as only three words, but in reality means: (Amateur Radio Relay League) "Greetings and Best Wishes to you for a pleasant Christmas Holiday Season.". Bob receives this message from the USS Wasp, for example. He then looks up what ARL SIXTY TWO means. Then he calls up the person to whom the message is addressed, and reads the translation, and then adds the 47 other words the sailor or Marine wishes to convey.

In return, the recipient can send 50 words back. He might begin the message with ARL SIXTY ONE, which translates to: "Wishing you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

ARL FIFTY SEVEN is a real Holiday heart-grabber: It reads, "Wish we could be together."

And to what does all of this have to do with food? The answer is, First -- it's food for thought. And, Secondly -- I'm going to pause here and enjoy a delicious perfectly baked lowfat Christmas cookie filled with apple sauce, just made talented my and by wonderful mother-in-law, Dorothy Urbancich.

So, to everyone who is working on Christmas Day for the well-being of others, and to all subscribers of American Home newspaper, we extend sincere best wishes for an abundance of good health in the New Year, and may the Good Lord shower you with His warmest good blessings and ARL SIXTY ONE and SIXTY TWO.

HAPpy News

The Holmes Avenue Pensioners (HAP) celebrated a memorable conclusion to the 1996 year with their annual Christmas Dinner at the Hall on Wednesday, Dec. 11th.

Julie Zalar, a true Slovenian Culinary Treasure, along with her able and efficient staff, produced yet another outstanding meal that could never be matched anywhere, anytime, at any price. How lucky we are to have her in our greater Slovenian community!

Christmas angels were in abundance and busy everywhere, helping to make the dinner party a very festive one. From Frances Kajfez and Lillian Homar who greeted us at the door, dressed in bright, cheerful clothes, to Matt holiday Kajfez and Frank Homar, our loyal bartenders, who sported elegant black tie and formal holiday jackets, from Emily Kersman and Louise Blanc who, as always, worked hard selling raffle tickets and giving out prizes as well as Ed Fujda, sporting a bright red sweater and faithfully selling refreshment tickets, to the corps of worker, too numerous to mention individually, who came early to decorate the hall in true Christmas fashion.

celebration, to Hank our Guzel, our one-man-band, non-ear-shattering whose music both during dinner and later for dancing, was pleasing to the ear and most welcome.

All these angels and more served to produce a truly memorable holiday event for the 252 participants who attended. We owe them a sincere debt of gratitude.

But above all else, the running common thread through the party was the unmistakable signs of joy at simply sharing a special event with many friends. This was all too evident as the meal ended and everyone seemed to go off tablehopping, exchanging news and holiday greetings, and sharing memories with fellow members.

By and large, this is what HAP is all about 12 months of the year, but which seems to take on special significance at Christmas time. Finally, we cannot conclude an end-of-the-year report without remembering those members who are no longer with us. They were all in our hearts and minds at December's party and will remain so throughout the holiday season and beyond.

Euclid Pensioners Club News from

EUCLID, OH Pumpkins still sat on my 1996 porch, and leaves were still clinging to trees when 19, forecasters issued the first DECEMBER snow storm warming of the season. Where was Indian Summer?

The Euclid Pensioners Club had just squeezed in their monthly meeting before those Arctic winds across the lake, blew dumping more inches of snow than I can remember since I was a child. I am sure the kids enjoyed it because they had no school and could get in some sledding. But I, for one, couldn't decide where I was going to pile the snow day after day. Many of us were without electric power from Friday until Tuesday.

Perhaps cuddling in a cold and darkened house lit only by candles had some of you reflect on the many comforts we have in our lives, but don't realize it until some such disaster strikes. Some of us had to learn the art of conversation all over again.

This snow storm can turn out to be a lesson for us all, a lesson to have some candles and bottled water set aside for an emergency. I, at least, had a gas stove and could prepare some meals for myself. The food in the freezer was a total disaster. Winter has a long way to go, so get ready for the next storm. BE PREPARED!

Getting back to the Euclid Pensioners, the election of officers took place at the November meeting. Our new officers for 1997 are as follows: President, Dorothy Lamm; Vice-president, Frank Kalamasz; Recording Secretary/Reporter Patricia Habat; Treasurer, Frank Kosten; Financial Secretary and Membership, Marion E. Bocian. Auditors are Frank Sadar, Stana Grill, Jeanette Yert, with Alternate: Peggy Smreke.

We wish to thank the officers who did not seek reelection: Al Sintic, and Ruth Korelec, who both did an excellent job this last year. Marie Selan has agreed to remain our Sunshine Lady, as well as Robert Lamm as our Sgt.-at-Arms. Hopefully, Mimi Stibil, our Tour Organizer, will have an interesting lineup of trips for our members for the coming year. We wish all the new officers a year filled with success.

The regular meeting for December was set aside, but our President, Dorothy Lamm, introduced the new officers to members. The Xmas Party and Dinner was very festive and everyone enjoyed the music of Lou Trebar and members of his band. It was so nice to see so many members we haven't seen for a long time. Chatting with them and catching up on the latest news about their families was delightful.

The reign of George Knaus as Slovenian Man of the Year 1996, is coming to a close soon. George does so much for all the Slovenian lodges, clubs and homes. Wherever there is some polka affair going on, you can be sure George will be there if possible. He also received an award from the Polka Hall of Fame this year for Promotion. He reminds me of the Energizer Bunny; he just keeps going and going and going.

I sadly report the loss of members Stephanie Jansa, John Cesnik, Theresa Kavas, Mary Peterlin, Jean Tomsic, Anthony Mrak, Frances Mausser, and Mary P. Mahne. We extend our sympathies to the families and know they will be missed by all of us.

On a happier note, we welcome new member Rose M. Turovsky, who recently joined us. We are always looking for new members, and will be pleased to have you in our club. There are a few requirements, though, mainly, that you be Slovenian, married to a Slovenian, have or Slovenian ancestry; be at least 55 years of age and retired. New applicants should be recommended by a member in good standing. Yearly dues are only $6.00.

We wish all our sick members a speedy recovery and hope to see you soon at one of our meetings.

NOTE: For those of you who did not catch the notice in my last article, any news concerning the death of a member, a change of address, dues payments, or concerning anything membership, should now be sent to: Marion E. Bocian, 29137 Edgewood Drive, Willowick, OH 44095-4739. Phone: 585-2845. The next meeting of the Slovenian Pensioners Club of Euclid, Ohio, has been changed for the month of January. There will be no meeting on Wednesday, January 1st, which is New Years Day. The next meeting of the Euclid Pensioners will be held on Wednesday, January 8, 1997 at 1:00 p.m. in Slovenian Home, Recher Society Avenue. Please mark your calendars so you won't forget. I wish all of you happy holidays and a new year filled with success and happiness. Remember, keep dancing and stay happy. -- Marion Bocian, Reporter

Keep children occupied during holidays

RADFORD, VA - At holiday time, children are off from school without the benefit of pools, picnics or other warm weather diversions. With little constructive activity, the chaos level seems to escalate. Kids' voices seem louder. Parents seem edgy. And those who aren't accustomed to dealing with children might find themselves wondering how to entertain and restrain the seemingly boundless energy of youth.

Spending time with children over the holidays can be easy or tough depending on your attitude and how prepared you are, says child psychologist and Radford University psychology professor Lois Kugler.

If you're wondering what activities to plan with children, Kugler has a few suggestions for how to make your shared holiday time pleasant and fun:

· One of the most important things is to provide a space large enough to accommodate a range of toys. Some suggested toys that almost all children love are Duplo blocks, Lincoln Logs, Nerf balls, puzzles, Play Doh (you can even make your own), or big boxes to make play houses.

• Art supplies are good for all ages, for example, washable markers, glitter, glue and magazines to cut up and make a collage (be prepared for a mess, though).

• If you have a lot of energy you might want to play large movement games or cooperate games where older children can help younger children. You might play cards, charades, hot potato, Dominoes or games that emphasize silence (to quiet things down).

 Activities might include making cookies together or making your own puppets.

· Have plenty of kids'

videos on hand so that when you need a break you can sit the kids down for some quiet time with a video and popcorn.

• Kid friendly foods you might want to have on hand include hot dogs, pizza, sandwiches and ready-to-eat fruits and vegetables like bananas, apple slices or celery sticks with peanut butter. • For daytime excursions you might be able to find kid-centered places like children's museums, but don't forget time-honored favorites such as city parks, zoos, libraries, the circus or puppet shows.

Don't stress out and above all, enjoy your time together.

Within a few days Christmas will be here. We have been bombarded with 19, advertisements on how to spend and buy the best presents, perceived or otherwise. According to the advertisements our spent money will make us and others happy AMERIŠKA DOMOVINA, without regard to the most important reason of Christmas.

The birth of Jesus Christ. The announcement of the joyous news that the Savior was born. And born He was into a simple stable with animals, Joseph and Mary.

For people of Slovenian heritage around the world, Christmas is a time to act upon the Christian heritage that has been intertwined into the Slovenian culture for nearly 1,250 years.

One custom that is unique to the Slovenian people is celebrating Christ's arrival with the praying of the rosary and blessing of a house on Christmas Eve. As darkness falls family members begin prayers, walking inside the house and reciting the rosary.

One member of the family carries a small container with lighted charcoal and incense while another carries holy water, blessing each room. When all the rooms have been blessed, the family returns to the stable scene and concludes the rosary.

Each family member is then blessed with the holy water. Personal family gifts are exchanged.

The family rests, enjoys conversation and some light food and refreshments until the time approaches to attend Midnight Mass.

A second Slovenian custom is the inscribing of the letters "G + M + B" in a main family doorway. The purpose of this inscription is in remembrance of The Three Kings. That is, Gaspar, Michael and Baltezar. The date is inscribed after the last letter. In our household Ata or Mama performs this task. Legend holds that this signals reverence for the Three Wise Men and by making these inscriptions, good fortune will remain in a household all year through.

A last Slovenian Christmas tradition is the completion of the stable scene: One may be quite simple while another may be a more elaborate design. I have to confess that my mother-inlaw, Jožica Benedik and her brother, Jože Kristanc, have that rare gift of designing a perfect and most creative scene of Bethlehem nearly 2,000 years ago, transforming a regular household room into a visual wonder of Christ's birth. It was their uncle, the late Msgr. Leon Kristanc, who provided the beginnings of what one may see today by the sanctuary inside St. Vitus Church during the Christmas season.

For those seeking additional meaningful Christmas, two unique events are being held in northeast Ohio.

The first is for those interested in experiencing a traditional Slovenian Christmas family centered get-together. The singing groups Korotan and Fantje na Vasi, as well as the dance group Kres and the dramatic theater group Lilija, will have its annual Christmas family get-together on Dec. 22 at 5 p.m. at the Slovenian National Home on Holmes Avenue. Readings from the Bible, Slovenian Christmas songs, blessings are held. In Slovenian this is known as "skupna božičnica." Homemade pastry is requested to be brought by those attending - for all to enjoy.

The second is singing performance by St. Vitus Youth Choir. The choir will perform two concerts filled with joyous Christmas songs sung in three languages (English, Slovenian, and Latin). The choir will sing at St. Mary's Church (15519 Holmes Ave., Cleveland) on Friday, Dec. 27, at 7 p.m.

Their performance in St. Vitus Church (6019 Glass Ave., Cleveland) will be on Sunday, Dec. 29, at 3 p.m.

The choir is under the direction of John Srsen.

CHICAGO, IL - Illinois First Lady Brenda Edgar recently hosted the "Tree of Lights" celebration at the Chicago Children's Museum on Navy Pier. Children dressed in traditional ethnic costumes presented ornaments to Mrs. Edgar for the tree. Hanukkah and Kwanzaa were also honored, and Mrs. Edgar read The Mitten by Jan Brett.

Shoveling Snow: Another Winter Hazard

COLUMBUS, OHIO – The snowstorm that hit Northeastern Ohio earlier this winter creates a common winter hazard, -- shoveling snow. According to Dr. Peter Somani, Ohio State Health Director, people should use extreme caution when shoveling snow because overexertion may cause heart attacks.

"Snow shoveling is strenuous, and people not used to regular physical exercise may put themselves in a life-threatening situation when shoveling snow," said Dr. Somani. "Each shovelfull of dry snow weighs about four pounds, plus the weight of the shovel; wet snow can easily double this weight or more."

In addition, Dr. Somani noted that breathing cold winter air also constricts small blood vessels through which blood passes away from the heart to the body. While this action reduces the loss of body heat the heart must work harder to pump blood through more narrow arteries, placing additional stress on the heart. He offered these tips on how to make shoveling snow safer:

* NEVER smoke while shoveling. Tobacco smoke constricts blood vessels just as cold air does, and the combination can be dangerous.

* Shovel snow before eating, or wait an hour after eating.

* If you become short of breath while shoveling, stop and rest. If you feel pain or tightness in your chest, stop immediately.

* Have a partner monitor your progress and share the workload. If a heart attack happens, they can call for help or if trained, perform

A Call to Serve the Poor

By Fr. Charles A. Wolbang, C..M.

During our years of Theological studies and formation in the Seminary of Ljubljana, 13 of the theologians organized a Mission Club. We met regularly to study mission documents issued by the Church in order to understand the needs of the universal Church in the nations of the world where Christ wasn't known or accepted.

After the massacre of my parents, a sister and a brother by Communists in 1945 and after an experience of pastoral work in a large refugee camp in Italy, I entered the Vincentian Novitiate in Siena in 1946 and then went to Rome to prepare for missionary work in China. For years I had read in the monthly Mission Magazine printed for the Society for the Propagation of Faith about the work of the Vincentians in North China.

I decided to go where the Church needed priests and China was my first choice. A one-year medical course in Rome, recommended by the United Nations, enriched me with an international diploma accepted in all mission nations of the world. A number of Lin Yutang's books on the Chinese nation also helped me to learn a lot about its people.

TWA took me from Rome to Tel Aviv. After three days in Jerusalem, getting acquainted with the places where Jesus was born, labored and died, we left for Bombay. After crossing India by express train, I spent six days with the Jesuits at St. Xavier's College in Calcutta before flying over the mountains. Himalayan Looking down on those majestic mountains one learned a good lesson of humility.

Landing in Kunmig, the Province of Yunnan, a 2,000 feet high plateau under the neighboring heights of Tibet, we were received warmly by the French Archbishop and the hospitable Salesians, who cared for 1,600 poor boys, half of whom lived at the school. The rest came there from the city.

Father Fernandez was assigned as my teacher of Chinese. Every day he quizzed me for one hour. At that time I was studying the writing and pronunciation of Chinese characters for at least 12 hours each day.

After six months, we were called to report to Bishop John O'Shea, C.M. in Kanchow, Kiangsi Province. Flying over mainland China to Shanghai, we stayed with Frs. Moulisse and Lassous at the Vincentian Procure and left by train and then by bus for our destination.

Several of our Confreres came from Peking and Tientsin. After the retreat we were sent to three parishes in five counties, each staffed with two priests. My first pastor was Fr. Joseph Casl who is retired in Toronto. The second was Fr. John Kopach, who died in 1994 as a retired pastor in Toronto.

The beginnings were rather tough. Rats and mosquitoes were our regular cross and the repair of the mission buildings demanded a lot of patient labor. Our Chinese cook and food were both very different and it took time to get used to both. Water from the well, dangerous to drink, had to be boiled to prevent the deadly typhus.

My first task was to start an elementary school which had 135 pupils and a faculty of eight teachers, some of whom were old Catholics, others still pagans. Two converted in one year and one became the principal of the school. Fifteen students from the upper grades went (Continued on page 17)

The school was soon recognized as the best in Ningto, a town of 10,000 people, and it lasted under the Communist occupation from 1949 until our expulsion. Our school was independent in spite of continuous efforts by the Communists to involve it in their activities on the streets, like parades for Mao Tse Tung. By the second year of its existence, all eight teachers had become Catholics and were dedicated to their mission.

A dispensary in a special part of our mission grounds was another project we developed soon after arriving at the parish and taking it over from the hands of two Chinese Diocesan priests. Bishop O'Shea helped us with medical supplies from the Kanchow Hospital of the American Daughters of Charity, and a number of times Bro. Cyril Verdnik sent us some material and medicines from Shanghai. Each day we spent hours helping the poor, sick people, frequently 100 of them, lined up in front of the dispensary.

A baby girl was abandoned and found in a basket in the town plaza. Our boys told me about it and we went to collect her and brought her to the mission. I baptized her in the sacristy and sent her to Kanchow to our orphanage run by Chinese sisters. Theresa must be old by now, if she is still alive.

Bishop O'Shea informed me afterwards that the Communists were pushing toward the south of China and we shouldn't send any more children to the orphanage which faced an uncertain future. The people looking through the open sacristy windows that day had talked about the missionaries killing babies to make some special medicine out of them. Later, they were relieved and happy to see that the child was sent to a safer life in the orphanage.

The Tabernacle was the center of our growing parish community. Of the 250,000 people in two large countries, only 20 were Catholic at the time of our expulsion. Close to 50 entered the Church since we had come to the parish in May of 1948 and worked there for a few years.

The Communist government in China, continuously

Merry Christmas - and Happy New Year

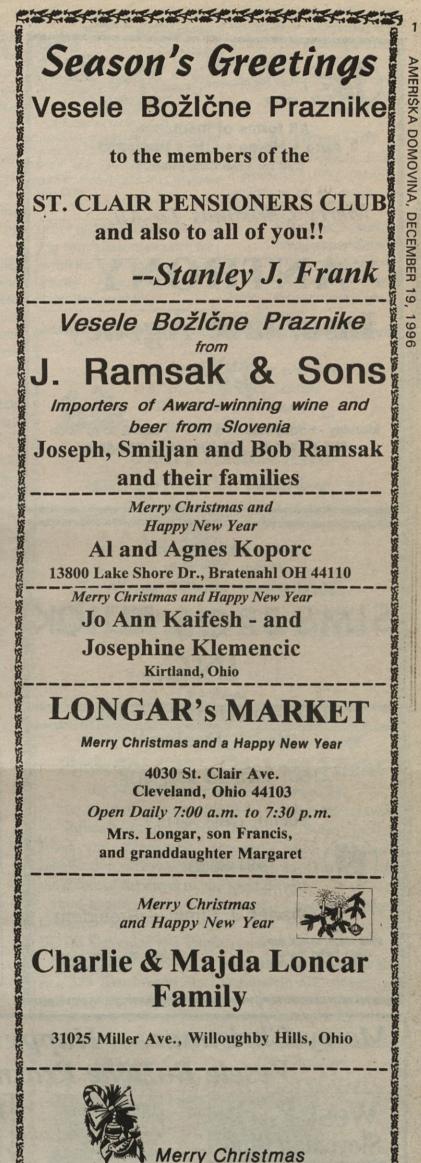

harassed us and would not permit us to go outside the city walls. One evening in January of 1951, the police chief arrived at the mission and read to us an order from the Ministry of the Interior from Peiping that we were going to be expelled from China the next morning and all our property, the mission and our personal belongings were to be confiscated. "You do not have enough money to buy an inch of Chinese soil," they stated. We were put into different rooms. They only permitted us to take the holy oils from the Church for the Bishop in Kanchow, whom I was able to see for a few minutes under the watching eye of the police.

I can still see those young boys kneeling in the morning near the truck the Communists used to take us to the bus station. They asked for a blessing and cried loudly. I hoped that some of them would some day become native priests and take the banner and torch of spreading the Gospel from our hands.

Every stop of the bus trip brought in some new faces: a nun, a sister of a Protestant minister and in Canton the President of the University, who told me on the train to Hong Kong that he was a Methodist. We felt one in Him who had sent us to China and let every thing happen in His providential ways.

Getting off the train in Hong Kong, I crossed the bridge on the border with my Confrere and fell into the arms of an English officer. Exhausted and tired, I was grateful to be alive and breathing free again after 18 months of Communist rule in mainland China.

The 5,000 Chinese characters I studied are slowly being forgotten, because I have not had the chance to use the language regularly. But the Chinese experience is fully alive. And so many Confreres sharing our sacrifices there are already waiting for us in His Kingdom: Bishop O'Shea, Fathers Meyrat, Gately, Moehringer, Paul and Vincent Koeffler, Kennedy, Mason, Hill, Mottey, Colby, Konen, Curtis, Henry, Davis, Brown, Thomas, Kopach, Jereb and Pokorn with Bro. Cyril Verdnik. May they rest in peace. Others, Father Gehring, O'Connor, Menig, Kenny, Crawford, Lawlor, Casl, Pokorn and myself are still waiting for the call and praying that in due time the "res bene incepta porro tractatur." That the work well begun would be by others some day successfully continued.

In a little while it will be Christmas. It is the never exhausted story of the birth of Jesus Christ. The Gospel of John explains clearly the reason for the birth of Jesus Christ by saying that God loved the world so much that he sent his only begotten Son into the world for our salvation. Constantly but especially at Christmas, we ponder the immensity of God's love for us.

He gave Himself to us totally, so that through His help we might become friends of God and someday enjoy with God the never ending life in heaven.

As your pastor, I wish to invite you and your families to join our parishioners and friends of our parish in observing Christmas together. Please come!

Father Victor Cimperman, Father Ted Marszal and I wish you and your families a most joyful and grace-filled Christmas. May the good Lord bless you and protect you in the new year of 1997.

VESTI IZ SLOVENIJE-

Milan Kučan naj bi se odločil glede mandatarja še pred novoletnimi prazniki Pat pozicija že začela zbujati skrbi

Predsednik države Milan Kučan še nadaljuje s posvetovanji z voditelji v novem parlamentu predstavljenih strank. Gre že za drugi krog takih srečanj. Vse od volitve 10. novembra se situacija pač ni spremenila, kajti noče nobena stran nič popustiti in tako še ni prišlo do kakšnega konsenza glede sestave nove vlade oz. oblikovanja koalicije, ki bi imela dokaj zanesljivo večino v državnem zboru.

Po ustavi ima predsednik Kučan dobo 30 dni od konstituiranja novega parlamenta, da predlaga mandataria za novo vlado. Ta rok bo potekal 3. januarja 1997 in zato je včerajšnje (18. dec.) Delo obravnaval v dveh člankih izpod peresa Vladimirja Voduška, različne odprte možnosti, stališča strankarskih prvakov, in tudi govorice o kakšni »tretji osebi«, ki da naj bi bila v nekaterih očeh možna rešitev. Dva vodilna kandidata za mandatarja sta pač še vedno premier dr. Janez Drnovšek, predsednik LDS, stranke, ki je dobila največ poslancev v novem parlamentu, in Marjan Podobnik, predsednik SLS, ki je druga najmočnejša stranka, in razpolaga skupaj z dvema drugima tkim. pomladnima strankama SDS in SKD z natanko 45 od 90 sedežev v parlamentu. Gotovo je, da bi Kučan najraje izbral Drnovška, a mu Drnovšek ne more zagotoviti večine v parlamentu. Splošno mnenje pa je, po Vodušku, da bo Drnovšek dobil prvo priložnost za sestavo vlade.

Takole poroča Vodušek v Delu včeraj med drugim: »Tako Janez Drnovšek kot tudi Marjan Podobnik sta po današnjih (17. dec., op. ur. AD) pogovorih s predsednikom države dejala, da ne poznata napovedi o 'tretjem človeku' kot rešitvi iz nastalega pat položaja. Podobnik je eksplicitno dejal, da v precej dolgem pogovoru ni bilo niti besedice o tretjem človeku.

Glede pobude ZLSD za vlado z omejenim časovnim in programskim mandatom pa je Drnovšek dejal, da je bila ta možnost omenjena, vendar o tem ne razpravljajo. Pogovori z vsemi strankami se bodo nadaljevali, dokler ne najdejo rešitve iz tega pat položaja.

Podobnik je dejal, da je imel pogovore z vsemi strankami, ki so prišle v parlament, in predstavnikoma obeh manjšin. Ali bo že pred glasovanjem o mandatarju sklenjen kakršen koli dogovor na ravni poslanskih skupin ali strank, Podobnik ne ve. Po njegovem se povečuje interes za sodelovanje praktično v vseh strankah.« Podobnik je rekel, da se SLS ne zanima za varianto Združene liste o vladi z omejenim časovnim in programskim okvirom. Novinar Vodušek izraža skeptičnost do možnosti oblikovanja širše koalicije, v kateri bi bili zastopani tako tri pomladne stranke kot LDS.

»Sodeč po današnjih (torkovih, op. ur. AD) izjavah prvakov pomladnih strank pa te še vedno računajo na kandidaturo Marjana Podobnika, čeprav od predsednika niso dobili zagotovila, da bi ga predlagal v prvem krogu. Tako socialdemokrati kot ljudska stranka zagotavljajo, da nimajo nič proti, če predlaga predsednik države najprej Drnovška.

Vprašanje je, ali je v tej situaciji to, da bo nekdo prvi predlagan, sploh prednost, se sprašujeta tako Podobnik kot Janša. Prvak socialdemokratov, ki je bil pri predsedniku nekaj več kot trideset minut, je na vprašanje, kaj bodo naredili, če bo predsednik predlagal Drnovška in če ta dobi 46 glasov, odgovoril: 'To še nič ne reši, ker bo moral potem sestaviti vlado in to stabilno vlado, kar je s tako podporo nemogoče.'«

V drugem poročilu v včerajšnjem Delu piše Vladimir Vodušek takole o gledanju predsednika SLS:

»Marjan Podobnik, predsednik SLS, ima pogovore za koristne. Sam meni, da si predsednik države resnično prizadeva poiskati rešitev, ki bo imela večinsko podporo in ki bo zagotovila močno in stabilno vlado. V resnici je v zagati, je še dejal Podobnik. 'Povedal sem, da so naše stranke dobile potrebno podporo, in še enkrat poudaril, da SLS — in sam kot njen predsednik — dane besede ne bomo prelomili. Dali smo besedo dvema strankama slovenske pomladi, da bomo skupaj oblikovali vlado, če bomo dobili ustrezno podporo.' Gre za načelo, ki se mora po njegovem prepričanju uveljaviti v politiki.

Predsednik Kučan je povedal, da spoštuje to načelo, obenem pa pričakuje, da bo vendarle možno z nadaljnjimi pogovori priti do trdne vladne večine, je še povedal Podobnik. Njegov vtis je, da bo vendarle še pred koncem leta predlagal mandatarja.

Na vprašanje, ali bo predsednik predlagal najprej njega ali Janeza Drnovška, pa je Podobnik odgovoril, da ne ve. Gre tudi za vprašanje, kaj je za koga bolje. Podobnik meni, da je za Slovenijo dobro, da se vendarle postopki pospešijo, saj je pred nami veliko zahtevnih nalog. Sam ne bi imel nič proti, če bi Kučan najprej dal priložnost predsedniku LDS.«

Pretekli torek se je Janez Janša prvič po

Betlehem

Dolga stoletja so prišla in prešla. Svet se je pognal v mnoge revolucije. Skoro vse stvari so spremenjene. Bilo je več sprememb, kot si moremo predstavljati. Dejanska preteklost je bila veliko bolj čudovita, kot bi si upalo katerikoli sibilsko preročišče opisovati bodočnost. Zgodovina je bolj fantastična kot prerokba. Čas se spreminja, večnost pa stoji mirna; in prav zato v tem neprestanem spreminjanju ostane in je nepoškodovana vera, ki je zastopnica večnost na zemlji. V njeni neizpremenljivosti najdemo svoj pokoj. Betlehem one noči in onih štiridesetih dni ni nikoli minil. Živi resnično življenje; to ni le zaostala krščanska vas na skalnatem pobočju, to je stari Betlehem one prevažne ure, ko je učlovečeni Bog ležal med živino na tleh v votlini. Ne živi samo v spominu vere, temveč tudi v verskih uresničenih stvarnostih. Živi resnično, nepokvarjeno in nenehano življenje ne le v zgodovini ali umetnosti ali v pesništvu; tudi ne le v živem in rodovitnem bogočastju in ne le v človeških srcih vernikov, temveč v častitljivi resničnosti Najsvetejšega Zakramenta. Okoli tabernaklja, ki je naš trajni Betlehem, se nadaljuje isti svet prelepe pobožnosti, ki je obdajala novorojenega Otroka, pobožnosti, resnične in iz pravih src prihajajoče, ki je Bogu dopadljiva.

Betlehem obstoja kot živa sila v svojem trajnem proizvajanju nadnaravnih učinkov v dušah ljudi. Vedno jih vabi iz greha. Neprestano jih vodi k popolnosti. Vtisnuje posebno značilnost v svetost različnih oseb. Je božjega značaja in neprestano oblikuje duše po sebi; njegovo delo ostane in krasi večni dom Boga. Nadnaravni dej ljubezni v duši, ki ima najbolj šibko stopnjo milosti, je več kot odkriti novo celino ali kot vpliv slavne književnosti. In Betlehem izbavi nad deset tisoče dejev ljubezni sleherni dan. Betlehem je trajni vir nevidnih čudežev. Je boljši kot sama legija angelov, neprestano trdó dela za Boga in ima veličastne uspehe. Področje njegovega vpliva je ves širni svet, dežele, kjer pade Božič v sredo poletja, in tudi ti naši kraji. Šepeta preko morja in srca na krovu ladij mu odgovarjajo. Je povsod v obljudenih mestih, kjer je ostudna pregrešnost pognojena z nadlego brezupne revščine; in prav tu se ohranja kot sončni žarek iz neba. Šumi v gorskih soteskah, v katerih redko stopa noga duhovnika. Je doli v vlažnih rudnikih, kjer je smrt vedno blizu, zakramenti pa daleč. Lajša boleče srce papeža na prestolu njegovega junaškega trpljenja in plemenitega samodarovanja. Položi v zibel k počitku bolnega otroka, ki še ne zna brati, a ima že sliko zvezdnatega Betlehema v svojem srcu, kamor jo je naslikala materina beseda. Betlehem je dnevno luč na tisoč temnih krajih; olepšuje, kar je trpko; posvečuje, kar je nizko; zemeljska čustva spreminja v nebeška. Je vse to, ker je v njem neizčrpna globina pobožnosti, ki kopiči v brezštevilnih dušah zaklade božje ljubezni, ki je brezkončne raznolikosti in najbolj izbrane ljubkosti. Betlehem je morje pobožnosti, širokost nadnaravne svetosti, širno polje svetništva, ki zavzema velik del v dnevnem življenju Cerkve. Skrivnosti učlovečenja so vrsta razodetij neskončnega Boga. Razodevajo Boga na način, ki obsega njegovo neizmernost. Ko začnemo premišljevati katerokoli od teh skrivnosti samo, nas znova in znova presenečajo številne stopnje, ki se nam predstavljajo. Raznoličnosti sami se zdi brezkončno, prihajati iz ene luči v drugo kot barve mavrice ali vstopiti v brezkončne skupine sestavov, ki se trenutno spreminjajo, kot da se igrajo barve na zlatu ob sončnem zahodu. Različne (dalje na str. 26)

Zbor Korotan — pesem prihaja iz globine srca

Ljubljana — V četrtek, 16. 5. 1996 nas je v Želimljah pri Ljubljani z našimi rojaki iz ZDA povezala ljubezen do domače slovenske pesmi. K prazničnemu vzdušju je že na začetku pripomogel gospod Lojze Dobravec, ravnatelj salezijanskega zavoda Želimlje, z nekaj mislimi o kulturnem življenju v Želimljah in jih navezal na bogat program kulturnega večera.

Glavno besedo pa so vendarle imeli pevci mešanega pevskega zbora Korotan iz Clevelanda, Ohio, Amerika, saj je ravno slovenska pesem ena izmed najbolj prepozavnih vezi, ki druži slovenske razseljence po vsem svetu.

Predsednika pevskega zbora gdč. Rezka Jarem pa je uvodoma takole predstavila mesăni zbor:

»Naš pevski zbor, ki nosi ime Korotan, se je rodil pred 45 leti. Takrat je zbor nastal iz potrebe, da bi se slovenski begunci, ki so se naselili v Clevelandu in okolici, lakho družili in se med seboj povezovali, da bi vsaj s petjem ohranili v svo-

CLEVELAND, O. - Pa še malo novic izpod zvona našega zvonika.

Na prvo decembrsko nedeljo je imelo Oltarno društvo sprejem devetih novih članic. Lepo so bile sprejete v cerkvi in tudi pri sestanku v dvorani. Dobrodošle!

V soboto, 7. decembra je bilo miklavževanje v šolski dvorani, prireditev naše Slovenske šole, ter nekdanjih učencev in učenk. Ponovili so Geržinčičevo spevoigro Miklavž prihaja, v zadovoljstvo vseh navzočih. Vsi so svoje vloge lepo in dobro podali, a ne moremo pozabiti zapetega: Oče naš, naših dveh predstavnikov Cerkve, hvala Vama. Tudi pekel je bil nekaj svojega. Hvala vsem, ki se trudite, da se ohrani naša beseda in tradicija, posebno pa še g. Rudiju Knezu.

Zadnjo soboto smo imele zopet prodajo peciva. Hvala vsem, ki ste prinesle pecivo, rezance in delale v kuhinji, in tudi vsem, ki ste vse pokupili.

Na prvo januarsko nedeljo (5. jan.) bo zopet sv. maša ob 10. uri za naše Oltarno društvo, to je za žive in pokojne članice. Popoldne ob pol dveh bo v cerkvi ura molitve z litanijami in blagoslovom. Po cerkvenem opravilu se bomo podale v šolsko dvorano na sestanek, občni zbor in božičnico. Drage sestre, lep vas vse, ki lahko še hodite, vabimo, da se nam pridružite v cerkvi in v dvorani. Pridite! Vsem sosestram, upravi in bralcem Ameriške domovine iskreno želimo lepo praznovanje Jezusovega rojstva, v Novem letu 1997 pa zdravja, miru in blagoslova pri vsem delu za blagor bližnjega.

Mešani pevski zbor Korotan iz Clevelanda med koncertom jih srcih bogato slovensko kulturo.

Da, majhen je slovenski narod, pa je dal in razposlal po svetu toliko pevcev. Ob tem se človek sprašuje in hkrati daje odgovor, da Bog ni zapustil našega majhnega naroda. Tudi mi v Ameriki živimo s Slovenijo. Veselili smo se z vami, ko ste postali leta 1991 samostojna država.

Naši starši so nam s solzami v očeh pripovedovali o trpljenju Slovenije v povojnem brezbožnem enoumju. In zato mi, njihovi potomci, želimo ohraniti materin jezik in kulturno dediščino. To pa najbolj izražamo s pesmijo. Iz preteklosti raste naša bodočnost. Dolga je pot in zgodovina našega pevskega zbora Korotan. Ni je mogoče popisati z nekaj besedami.«

Gdč. Rezka pa je le obšla preteklost in se ustavila v sedanjosti, pri čudovitih pesmih ter dejala: »Bogata je ameriška dežela, kjer uživamo njeno izobilje, vendar nam vest narekuje skrb za tradicijo naših očetov in mater, jo obnavljati ter se srečevati s prijatelji v Sloveniji, ki je bila našim staršem odvzeta. Zato se toliko bolj zavzemamo za slovensko besedo.«

Zbor Korotan sestavljajo starejši in mlajši pevci. Da zbor ne izumre, je velika zasluga pevovodje Rudija Kneza.

Vsi navzoči smo zares ŭzivali na tako čudovitem koncertu. Na obrazih poslušalcev je bilo opaziti smeh in dobro voljo, pa tudi solzo. Človek ne bi mogel verjeti, če ne bi na lastna ušesa slišal, da tam rojeni pevci lahko tako ubrano pojejo slovensko pesem.

Naše misli so plavale v valovih petja, saj smo za trenutek pozabili na vse svoje težave. Saj je znano, da pesem omili in ublaži vse naše duševne in telesne težave. In tako je skozi pesem čas vse prehitro mineval. To je bilo pravo darilo za dušo in srce, saj so pevci peli, kot da bi seme, ampak za ljudi, ki jo pojejo in poslušajo, saj jih bogati z lepoto in plemeniti z bogastvom vsebine. Petje lahko združi še tako različne ljudi, saj pesem ne pozna meja in ruši pregrade sovraštva.

tako lepo zapeto pesem. Zahvala pa velja tudi našima sorodnicama, ki imata korenine prav v Ribnici, to sta Mimi Kozina in Mary Ann Vogel.

Za epilog pa je gospod Stanislav Hočevar dejal: »Gospod, razkropil si nas po vsem svetu in nas znova zbiraš. Iz Amerike ste prinesli te čudovite pesmi, ki res prihajajo iz globine srca, na vaš prvi koncert v Želimlje. Hvala vsem in vsakemu posebej ter Bog Vas živi!«

Čas je ob pesmih hitro minil in tako smo poslušalci v smehu in veselju odšli na svoje domove. Iz mnogih ust je bilo slišati same pohvale in občudovanje. Človek bi od ganjenosti kar zajokal ob čudovitem prepletanju glasov, ki so se združili v enotno, brezhibno harmonijo.

Da pa bi nas prepričali, da res prihajajo iz Amerike, so na koncu v angleščini zapeli God Bless America.

Predsednica gdč. Rezka se je ob zaključku zahvalila za povabilo in nam poslušalcem, da smo se zbrali v tako velikem številu na koncertu.

Kar nekaj časa je minilo od našega snidenja, tako da smo lahko uredili naše občutke in utrinke. Zahvaljujemo se vam, da cenite slovensko pesem, morda bolj kot mi v domovini in ste nam to pokazali ravno tedaj, ko je naš narod obiskal sveti oče, ki nam je dokazal, kako spoštuje naš jezik in kulturo.

Želimo vam še veliko uspeha doma in po svetu ter da bi osvojili še mnoga srca, saj ni lepšega darila, kot lepo zapeta pesem, pa naj bodo časi takšni ali drugačni, hvala vam!

Še posebej pa velja zahvala gospodu pevovodji Rudiju Knezu in spremljevalcu gospodu Stanetu Mejaču.

Odbor Oltarnega društva Lavriševa Kako rahločuten je lahko pevec, pa dokazuje prelepo zapeta pesem Veseli Rib'nčan. Ker nas je bilo na koncertu kar precej iz Ribnice, se gospodu pevcu iz srca zahvaljujemo za Še enkrat vsem iskrena hvala in še kdaj na svidenje! Milka Kozina Ribnica Rodna gruda, dec. 1996

Vabilo na božičnico!

CLEVELAND, O. - Pevski društvi Korotan in Fantje na vasi, plesna skupina Kres in dramsko društvo Lilija vabijo vse svoje člane, da se udeleže božičnice, ki bo to nedeljo, 22. decembra, v Slovenskem domu na Holmes Avenue, s pričetkom ob 5. uri popoldne. Pripeljite svoje družine, posebno še otroke, da bodo tako spoznali naše stare šege in navade ob božičnem času. Prav lepo sta vabljeni tudi obe slovenski šoli, Sv. Vida in Marije Vnebovzete, tako učenci kot njih starši.

Zakaj prirejamo te božičnice leto za letom že več kot 20 let? Zdi se nam, da smo ravno v tem času preveč usmerjeni v materialni del Božiča, kaj bo še treba kupiti za tega ali onega, kaj bomo mi dobili kot darilo, kam gremo na sveti večer, kam na kosilo na Božič itd.! Večno dirjanje za posvetnimi užitki in dobrotami. Ko so prazniki mimo se pa sprašujemo, kaj imamo od vsega tega? Ali smo doživeli tisto, kar smo pričakovali? Skoro vedno je odgovor isti - nismo.

Zato, dragi prijatelji, prirejamo te božičnice, da nas vsaj za par ur popeljejo v tisto božično razpoloženje, v katerega nas nobeno, ne še tako lepo darilo, ne more pripeljati. Preživeti par ur med prijatelji ob kratkem božičnem programu ob petju naših lepih slovenskih božičnih pesmi in še ob prijetnih pogovorih s prijatelji, katerih morda že nismo dolgo videli - vse to je namen naših božičnic. Mine vse tudi brez tiste naglice, ki je posebnost tega časa. Zato se nam zdi, da takih božičnic potrebujemo, kajti si preko njih naberemo novih sil in novih napotkov za življenje.

Dragi prijatelji, pridite to nedeljo pop. ob 5h v Slovenski dom na Holmes Avenue, ne bo vam žal! Gospodinje so pa lepo Ċlan naprošene za pecivo.

Preteklo je 46 let že, ko hladna zemlja krije Te; zelo vsi smo Te ljubili, in prezgodaj izgubili.

Srčno ljubljena nam mama, šla prezgodaj si od nas; dobra, skrbna si nam bila, vdano molimo za vas.

Oba prosita za nas vse Boga, da življenje nam srečno dá, ko bomo tudi mi k Vam prišli, veselili bomo se vsi.

Misijonska srečanja in pomenki 1162. Božična voščila in darovi, ki prihajajo te tedne, so letos bolj številna in darovi za najrazličnejše namene tudi. Vsem in vsakemu posebej skušamo poslati zahvalo in vse bo urejeno po želji posameznih dobrotnikov. Naj današnja tu objavljena zahvala velja za vsakega, ki se je oglasil in preko MZA podprl različne naše podvige in načrte. Božji Misijonar sam pa naj vsakemu povrne, kjer kdo najbolj potrebuje.

Iz domovine je prišlo več voščil z obžalovanjem, da je prenehal dnevnik Slovenec. Nekdo piše, da je sedaj, ko smo v svobodni Sloveniji bolj sproščeni, kot pa v času komunizma, »kljub težavam lepo živeti. Radio Ognjišče nam zelo polepša vsakdanje življenje. Veliko lepega in koristnega nam posreduje. Bogu hvala! Pred tremi tedni ste bili tudi Vi imenovani med velikimi dobrotniki med podpornimi člani Radia Ognjišče. Ob stoti oddaji je bila na Vrhniki večja slavnostna prireditev«.

Oglasilo se je tudi že več našin misijonskih garačev iz terena z voščili. Medtem je morala že večina prejeti MZA 1996 pomoč v poslanih pismih s čeki.

MZA Bridgeport-Fairfield,

Connecticut, je po predsedniku poslala poročilo o dveh farnih nabirkah v župniji Sv. Križa (Holy Cross) v Fairfieldu in administrator župnije nam je poslal ček za $1253.70; kasneje je g. Malenšek poslal še $20 od Ernesta in Rosalie Lagoja. Župniku Louisu M. Dytkowski in pomočniku Milanu Dimiču, SDB, smo se takoj lepo zahvalili. G. župnik je (dalje na str. 25)

(nadaljevanje s str. 24) sam priporočil drugo nabirko, ker ima za misijonsko Cerkev večje razumevanje kot smo občutili pod njegovim prednikom.

Vsi stroški so bili darovani. Fara je darovala poštnino za pismena vabila in kopiranje pisem. Novi žig kuverte je darovala Malenškova družina.

Po želji odseka smo poslali že škofu dr. Pirihu za novomašnika iz Kopra, Marjana Križaja, novomašni dar $100. Ker je v odseku veliko rojakov iz Štajerske in so prosili, da bi njih nabirka bila predvsem za vzgojo duhovnikov v sedanjih bogoslovjih. Tako smo poslali za Markota Veržiča v 3. letniku mariborskega bogoslovja, ki je doma iz Sv. Marka niže Ptuja, $300 za to šolsko leto. Preje je darovala družina Franca Želkota iz Toronta za dve začetni leti študija $500.

Nanovo smo jim odločili Tomislava Roškariča od sv. Križa, iz 3. letnika v Mariboru in poslali za letošnje šolsko leto zanj $300. Iz Kopra pa za Iztoka Mozetiča, ki študira v 3. letniku v ljubljanskem bogoslovju, za letos $300.

Darovali so pri obeh nabirkah naslednji: Po $100 Mr. & Mrs. Kozar; Frank Rivek; An-(dalje na str. 27)

†Otto Charles Susec

Dne 5. decembra je v Geneva (Ohio) Memorial Hospital na posledicah hude nesreče, ko je delal na svoji farmi, umrl 50 let stari Otto Charles Susec. Pokojni je bil rojen 30. maja 1946, sin Martina in Alojzije Starec. V ZDA se je priselil pred 30 leti, živel v clevelandski okolici 21 let, pred osmimi leti pa se preselil v okolico Geneve. Zaposlen je bil kot ključevničar pri Walton Hills Stamping Plant Ford Motor Co. Bil je faran župnije Assumption ter član United Autoworkers.

Dne 25. novembra se je v cerkvi sv. Vida v Clevelandu poročil z Marijo Miklič. Za njim žalujejo vdova Marija Susec, sinovi dr. Otto C. Susec (Charlotte, N.C.), Martin D. Susec Esq. (Columbus, O.) in Thomas M. Susec (študent medicine v Daytonu, O.), starša Martin in Alojzija Susec, brati Boris, Darko in Branko (v Slov.) ter Marijan (Parma, O.), sestri Biba Minelek (Slov.) in Olga Mernik (Hinckley, O.) ter letos rojena vnukinja Mandy Susec. Pogreb je bil v ponedeljek, 9. decembra s sv. mašo v cerkvi Assumption v Genevi, sv. mašo je daroval Rev. Paul Tobin, s pokopom na Mt. Pleasant pokopališču v Genevi. Družina se iz srca zahvaljuje za vso izraženo in izkazano sočustvovanje s strani sorodnikov, kolegov iz Ford-a, slovenske in tudi širše genevske skupnosti. Posebna zahvala velja č.g. Kumšetu, ki je prišel na pogrebno mašo in pri njej sodeloval.

BETLEHEM (nadaljevanje s str. 22)

okoliščine življenja, svetle in temne, osenčijo ali osvetlijo skrivnost in nam razodenejo njene globine, ki jih nismo nikoli slutili, in lepote, ki jih doslej nismo opazili. Žalost in radost sta za dušo orodje, ki dela pot v globino skrivnosti; obenem sta pa tudi daljnogled in mikroskop, ki odpirata pogled v višino in globino skrivnosti.

Ko rastemo v milosti, postanejo raznolikosti skrivnosti še bolj značilne. Skrivnost pa si nadene še nekaj več kot samo svežo značilnost; postane kot novo razodetje. Kdo še ni čutil, da mu vsak veliki teden prikaže Gospodovo trpljenje kot nekaj novega, presenetljivega in še nikoli prej doživetega.

Vonjava in dišava skrivnosti se spreminja sorazmerno z spremenjeno in povečano stopnjo milosti v nas. Noben Božič ni tak kot so bili prejšnji. Betlehem postaja vedno bolj očarljiv. Napev angelov je vedno slajši. Prinese na novo poznanje Marije in Jožefa. Božji Otrok prekaša sebe leto za letom. Poleg tega značilnosti Gospodovih skrivnosti niso samo bogoslovne prispodobe; še manj pa pesniške razlage. Pomenijo vse, kar morejo pomeniti. Pomenijo isto za vse ljudi in vendar tudi pomenijo razne stvari za vsakega posameznika. Novim rodovom odkrivajo nove pomene. Vekovi sveta jim dajo različne razlage in vedno je nova snov za vsako novo razlago. Vzrok tega je v neizrazni rodovitnosti resničnosti Boga.

Iz knjige Betlehem, spisal Friderik W. Faber prestavil p. Fortunat Zorman AVE MARIA, december 1959

9. novembra takole piše blagajniku Štefanu Maroltu v Cleveland:

»To je letno poročilo našega odseka CMA-MZA New York, ki se je vršila 20. oktobra 1996 v cerkveni dvorani na osmi v New Yorku.

Skupni darovi $2016.50. Ostali darovi pri prireditvi $136. Čisti dobiček $2152.50.

Od te vsote je $300 za vzdrževanje bogoslovca, kot je odrejeno našemu odseku. Pri letni prireditvi smo tudi nabrali $118 kot dar novomašniku Viljemu Čušinu iz koprske škofije, ki smo ga podpirali več let. Ta dar mu bomo poslali direktno na župnijo.

Iskrena zahvala za uspeh tega leta prireditve družini Karl Klesin in sinu Karl Jr., da je vse lepo uspelo. Zahvala pa tudi družinam Zupan (v kuhinji), Stalzer, Branc, Delak, Kamin pri izvedbi lepega uspeha. Nočemo pozabiti nobenega in se še enkrat zahvalimo vsem za pomoč, ki bo lep dar našim slovenskim misijonarjem po svetu. Pozdrave Vam vsem v Kristusu,

> Vinko Burger, blagajnik.«

Naj dodam še v imenu celotne MZA posebno zahvalo ge. Marjani Burger, ženi g. Vinkota, ki potrjuje rek, da je »za vsakim uspešnim moškim navadno močna žena«. Prav tako predsednici Heleni Klesin, katere misli bomo objavili ob prvi priložnosti, ko bo prostor na razpolago. Njen mož Karl je zdravstveno boljši.

In župniku frančiškanu Krizologu Cimermanu, ki je kot vedno dal na razpolago dvorano brezplačno, kar me spominja na dobrega frančiškana o. Okorna v Milwaukeeju, ki sem mu po pikniku ponudil mašno kolekto, pa me je pogledal in pribil: »Kar se danes v Triglavskem parku pridela, gre vse za slovenske misijonarje,« Bogu hvala za takega duha.
