WHY?

YOU'RE TOO LATE

HAVEN'T YOU ANY?

NO! THEY JUST RUN OUT.

THIS IS THE THIRD DAY YOU'VE TOLD ME THEY JUST RUN OUT.

I CANT
HELP IT, SIR

WHY DONT YOU
CHAIN A COUPLE OF 'EM AND KEEP
'EM FROM RUNNIN' AWAY?

What an expert Woodsman you are, Jack!

I'm in a crash by myself!

ONE TOUGH O' NATURE

—now this is the common Cinquefoil, or yellow avens—

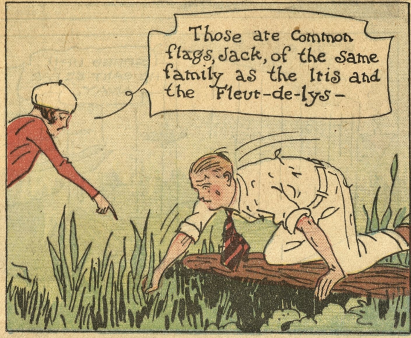

It's probably poison ivy!

Oh—Jack, do get me that—it's either O'Reilly's Gillyflower or Grandmother's Bluenose —and reach me that Yellow-dog-eared Nootonia as you go by!

Those are Common flags, Jack, of the same family as the Iris and the Fleur-de-llys—

Oh, dear—and they always grow in such swampy ground!

Do get that fungus, Jack—it breaks off quite easily—

Oh—of course—I'm so sorry—the book says they only grow on dead branches!

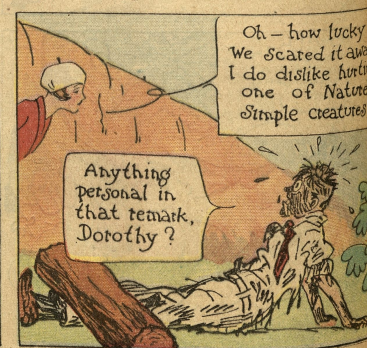

I think that's a columbine—a rapidly disappearing plant—

Rapidly disappearing plant, do your stuff!

Heavens! Jack will be hurt—I'll drop this log on the beast!

Oh—how lucky we scared it away—I do dislike hurting one of Nature's simple creatures!

Anything personal in that remark, Dorothy?

JUST NATURALLY DUMB—

NO, I HAIN'T GOING, WOULD YOU?

MY! OH MY! SUCH ENGLISH.

NOW, WOTS WRONG?

"HAIN'T"—THERE AINT NO SUCH WORD.

WELL, THEN, AINT.

NO USE, YOU'RE DUMB. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT SYNTAX?

SYNTAX?? WE HEARD OF THE INCOME TAX AND LUXURY TAX, BUT I DIDN'T KNOW THERE WAS A TAX ON SIN.

DAVED BY TURTLES

After our escape from th' crocodile and th' monstrous snake, my animal pals and I pushed our way through th' thick jungle. A roarin' laugh just ahead brought us to a sudden stop. Then we saw a monkey up in a palm tree heavin' up in a palm tree heavin' cocomnuts at another monkey on th' ground. On th' limb of another tree was a kookaburra, th' laughin' bird of Australia, almost bustin' his sides laughin'. Then th' two monkeys spied us and started peltin' us with cocomnuts. Th' kookaburra almost fell off th' limb, he was so tickled, when he saw us get out of there with cocomnuts whizin' past our ears. Then I spotted th' big sea-turtles that we had ridden th' day before. I thought of a way to get to Boo-Boo Island where we had left our boat. I cut three long pieces of thin, stout vine and each of us hopped onto th' back of a turtle, and with th' pieces of vine for halters to keep 'em from divin', we headed across th' lagoon for Boo-Boo Island. In no time at all we reached th' other shore. We had just kended when a giant lizard sprang for me from th' top of a rock. Wow! How my pals and I did run, with that dod-gasted lizard roarin' after us through th' jungle. Our boat was right where we had left it. We leaped into it and pushed out with th' lizard almost on us. In my next yarn I'll tell you something funny about a parrot.

WOW! WE HAD A CLOSE SQUEAK WITH THAT BIG SNAKE — AND WE'RE NOT OUT OF THIS DABBUSTED JUNGLE YET!

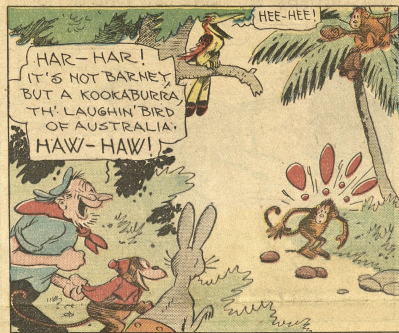

THAT SOUNDS LIKE BARNEY'S LAUGH!

HA-HA-HA!
HO-HO!
HAW-HAW!

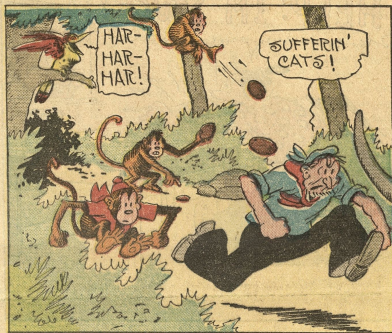

HAW-HAW!

HAR-HAR! IT'S NOT BARNEY BUT A KOOKABURRA TH' LAUGHIN' BIRD OF AUSTRALIA!
HAW-HAW!

HEE-HEE!

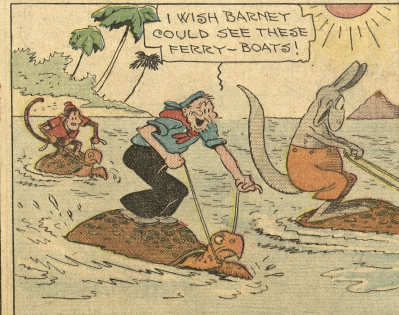

HAR-HAR-HAR!

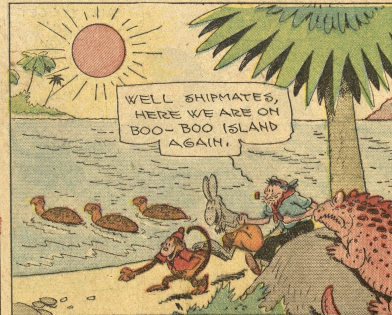

SUFFERIN' CATS!

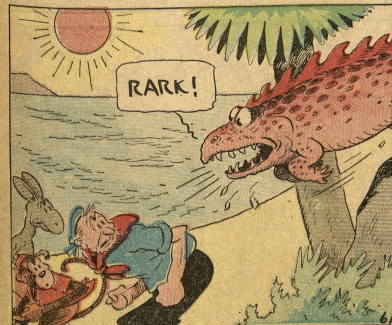

THERE ARE TH' TURTLES AGAIN, MATES. I'VE GOT AN IDEA!

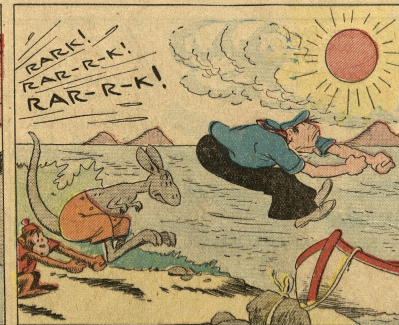

I WISH BARNEY COULD SEE THESE FERRY-BOATS!

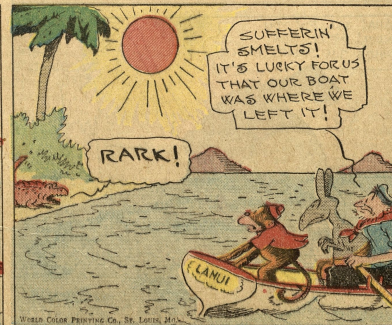

WELL SHIPMATES, HERE WE ARE ON BOO-BOO ISLAND AGAIN!

RARK!

RARK!
RAR-R-K!
RAR-R-K!

SUFFERIN' SMELTS! IT'S LUCKY FOR US THAT OUR BOAT WAS WHERE WE LEFT IT!

RARK!
