Lorain Parish Celebrates 100 Years

by RON VIDKA Lorain Morning Journal

LORAIN, OH - On July 10, the parish family of Ss. and Methodius celebrated its 100th birthday as a church.

On that day, at the 10 a.m. Mass, three bishops from the Cleveland Catholic Diocese were present for the celebration: Bishop Anthony Pilla, head of the diocese, Bishop James Quinn, auxiliary bishop for the Western Region of the diocese, and Bishop Edward Pevec, Cleveland, who is retired.

The joyous event climaxed with a brunch at DeLuca's Place in the Park, Since its inception in 1906, the church has seen 11 pastors, the last one being the Rev. Paul Krajnik, who has served as spiritual leader of Ss. Cyril and Methodius, 1795 E. 31st St., for 30 years.

"We are happy to come to celebrate 100 years. We wish to keep going as long as we can," said Krajnik, 82.

Instead of accepting an offer to retire in 1994, Krajnik petitioned diocese to remain pastor beyond the official mandatory age of retirement.

Recognizing the close relationship between pastor and parishioners, the diocese granted Krajnik's request.

While the community has decreased in size in recent years, Krajnik said the parish continues to maintain the religious and ethnic traditions of its founding families.

Slovenians, Croatians, and Hungarians, the majority of whom were employed in the steel mills of Lorain, were the first organizers of Ss.Cyril and Methodius, which was the first Catholic parish in South Lorain, said Krajnik.

The parish was originally known as St. John's and was also referred to as "the steel mill church."

It served all three ethnic groups from 1900 to 1906 when the Hungarians and Croatians withdrew from the church to form separate parishes, said Krajnik.

As in the case with many ethnic-rooted churches in tapered off, as younger family members found work and moved elsewhere or, in ensuring years, parishioners grew old and died.

"As you know, young people marry and go after jobs, wherever they find them," said Krajnik. "But (declining membership) here is mostly because the older people are dying.

"But we are full of hope to continue for awhile," said Krajnik.

Although current membership is about 200, Krajnik, said the parish swelled to 1,895 members in 1952. In fact, the church roster increased to the point that many parishioners petitioned for the construction of a new church. After years of planning and fund-raising, Krajnik said a new church was built and was dedicated on December 7, 1952.

But, by the mid-1960s, many of the parish's original families had moved out of South Lorain. At this same time, a church school, maintained since organization of the parish, dwindled to 86 students.

The Sisters of Notre Dame, who had taught at the school, left the parish and the students transferred to the former St. Ladislaus School.

Krajnik said the former school building is now used as a parish hall.

The upstairs of the old building, church Krajnik, is now used as a hall and the downstairs as a meeting place.

The rectory stands between both the old and new churches.

Although the decline in church membership would normally signal an end to the church itself, Krajnik said he believes Ss. Cyril Methodius will survive and evolve, either through absorption into another church, or by being served by a so-called "weekend pastor."

Bishop Pilla said, "This (membership) number is not enough to save the church for another pastor after me," said Krajnik.

"But as long as I am here, and the people are still coming and still like the church and support the church, and the bills are paid, there will be no problem," he said.

"As the time comes for a new pastor, people will be more receptive to a merger with another church or to have a priest who comes here on weekends," said Krajnik.

"But as long as I am here, I'll see that everything is okay."

Comfort of Slovenian Music

by RUDY FLIS

Often I find myself praying for this person or that person, for this reason or that reason. I believe in it and do ask others for their prayers when I feel I am in dire need of prayer.

Last week Therese had some shopping to do and off she went to make her rounds, in her Toyota Camry, with its spinner hub caps just shining and spinning as she pulled away from our home with the sun hitting the spinner caps broadside. Therese was one tough looking grandma as she sped down the street at 10 MPH.

She was to be gone for a while, and I had time on my hands. After I thanked God that Therese hadn't asked me to go shopping with her, I went and dug out two VCR tapes that two lovely lady friends of mine had given me a couple of years ago. They were tapes with men and women vocalists, with a variety of string, horns and accordions, button box and piano type, in taverns and all over the beautiful countryside of Slovenia. I saw mountains, streams and forests, the very place my mom used to describe to me as a youngster, when she would always end her stories with this quote, "I don't think there is a more beautiful country than Slovenia, but no other country more poor either."

For several hours I watched these two tapes.

Therese came home and went about her business, as I finished the two tapes. Music may not have the power of prayer, but there is something healing in my body, as I listen to the vocalist, watch the musicians and observe the interesting surroundings of all involved in the making of these tapes. At times after my operation, I have experienced pain and discomfort, mostly discomfort. As I watched the tapes, it was pure pleasure for me. Did I hurt while the tapes played? No. Was I in pain? No. Was I healed? No.

But I was smiling, in a comfortable state of mind and body, with a growling stomach as Therese prepared my supper. Yes, music does that to me. Music soothes me. I cannot be in an angry mood and enjoy music. Music is one of my blessings from God. So bring on the music and dump the anger.

Our area was saddened this past week as so many of our young Marines were killed in this war on terror. No matter what your feelings, pray for our brave men and women who put their country ahead of their own safety. Please remember to pray for the grieving families who have sacrificed so much. Pray that terrorism does not succeed, and please Almighty God, bless our country and our allies in this terrible struggle the civilized world faces.

Ordination & First Mass of Gregor Celestina

by TOM CELESTINA

MIAMI, FL -- Every year on the Feast of Saint Peter and Paul, the archdiocese of Ljubljana and Maribor ordain their seminarians to the priesthood. This year Slovenia ordained 24 new priests which is an unprecedented number for a country of two million people.

Among the newly ordained was Gregor Celestina. I had the opportunity to witness Gregor's ordination as well as his First Mass. Gregor is my second cousin and was raised in the Celestina family home in Zavine which is a small village near the town of Zagorje.

Upon completing high school, Gregor had planned to study chemistry at the University of Ljubljana. However, after deep contemplation, he decided the priesthood was his life calling.

In the later years of Yugoslavia, Gregor was raised during a time when religious vocation was not widely desired. In fact, I recall that when his home village of Zavine decided to build a new church, the then communist government had instilled a number of costly road-blocks to slow the process. For example, the government required the parish to build a bunker type structure underneath the church at a tremendous cost - as much as the church itself.

Nonetheless, the faith in Gregor's family was strong. Traditional church customs were practiced at home and participating in church activities were the norm. When Pope John Paul II visited Slovenia in 1997, Gregor and many of his friends attended all three Masses which were held in Ljubljana, Maribor and Postojna. It was as if the Pope's visit had lifted Slovenia's Christian spirit and inspired him to take part in the changes that were taking place all around the country. In 1999, Gregor made the decision to be part of the new revolution and heed his calling to the priesthood.

Once a priest is ordained, it is customary that his First Mass be celebrated in his hometown. Gregor celebrated his First Mass in Zavine on a beautiful sunny Sunday morning of July 3rd. Events preceding the First Mass included a "Welcome Home" celebration held on Saturday evening.

The evening began with Gregor being greeted by the pastor and many of his fellow parishioners. Being that Gregor is the first priest ever to come from the village of Zavine, the evening was especially festive and exciting and filled with-prayer and song.

The next morning, by tradition, Gregor, left his farm home with the blessing of his parents Ani and Viki. He was greeted by a large waiting crowd some dressed in their national costume.

Before departing for the church, the trip was preceded by speeches, which included some stories of Gregor's early years, poems, and songs. From the farm house, the waiting crowd slowly made their way to the little church in Kisovec.

The Mass was attended by over 2,000 locals and it was heard on "Radio Ognjisce" and "Radio Slovenija." There were more than a half dozen priests in attendance including my uncle, Fr. Frank Kosem, and Fr. Lozje Snoj, who had a profound impact on Gregor's early years in Ljubljana. Also in attendance were our own St. Vitus Slovenian school students who were touring Slovenia as part of their graduation curriculum. Despite the hot sun, this day will certainly not be forgotten by Gregor any time soon.

After the Mass, a reception and lunch was held at the homestead. A large tent was constructed for the 400-plus guests. During the course of the lunch and dinner, speeches, prayers and a number of comical anecdotes were shared. Each guest was given a specially commemorated bottle of wine and a rosary which Gregor had obtained during his recent pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Now that the celebrating is over, Gregor's life in the priesthood has begun. After a month of relaxation and reflection, Gregor will begin his assignment in Kranj in a fairly large parish. Certainly, Gregor will endure many challenges in the coming years, but with perseverance, patience and the support of his parish and family, he will have a profound impact on our church in Slovenia. We wish him well.

Gregor Celestina receives a blessing from his parents Ani and Viki Celestina in Zavine, Slovenia.

Two persons cannot long be friends if they cannot forgive each other's little failings.

Around 1924, some shoemakers, including Ata, left the church savings and loan cooperative and founded the People's Savings and Loan. The followings and Loan. The following year, they gave all their profits to Ivana Gantar and her family (my future wife's mother and family). Ivana lost her husband in World War I, had six children, no income, and flood damage in 1925.

Another example of Ata's generosity: He knew that his brother Matvez owed money at the Shoemaker's Cooperative, and that he would never be able to pay off those debts. So Ata took care of some of those debts himself. Ata didn't seem worried that we might not have enough money for our own family.

Ata founded two meatbuying cooperatives, at different times. I remember when the butchers were selling meat at 10 dinars per kilo while they were buying live cows at 2 to 2.5 dinars. So Ata organized people to bring down the price of meat. He got enough members who contributed money to hire their own butcher. Soon the other butchers reduced their prices from 10 dinars/kilo to 5 and there was no longer a need for a buyers' cooperative. Ata returned all the money that people had invested - without taking anything out for his own expenses. A few years later, prices were up again, and he repeated the same thing until the prices came down again.

Anton Grom and Matija Selak, both tanners, returned from America about two years after WWI. They reached an agreement with a number of master shoemakers to build a cooperative tannery along a stream in our village. I think each share was about 10,000 dinars, with the total invested capital about 1 million dinars. Grom was the manager, while my father was the secretary and treasurer. They did that for 15 years, until Tone Gantar and Anton Anzelm Jr. bought out their shares. The cowhides were perfectly tanned, so they sold well.

Ata was also the secretary-treasurer for the Water Distribution Cooperative for many years. And around 1938, he was elected as the secretary-treasurer of the trades association, and continued in that capacity until the various trades associations joined into a large regional association in 1941.

In addition, Ata was one of the founders of the construction cooperative for the building of the Cooperative Home from 1938 to the arrival of the Germans in 1941. The Cooperative Home was one of the largest buildings in Ziri until the partisans burned it in 1944. Ata collected about 100 spruce trees from the surrounding hills for the construction of that building.

Regarding Ata's honesty, I remember a few more examples:

Twice he dealt with poor management at the church. The first time, he helped collect money for new church bells. The collected funds, which were enough to pay for the bells, were given to the pastor. The bells were ordered and installed, but the pastor decided to use the money for other things which he thought were more important to the church. When the bell foundry demanded payment, there was no money. Workers arrived from the foundry to repossess the bells from the bell tower. I think it was due to Ata's intervention that the Ljubljana savings and loan paid the foundry and the bells stayed in the bell tower.

Another time, a statue of St. Andrew was stolen from our church. Ata went to the antique stores in Ljubljana, asking if anyone had brought in a statue for sale. He didn't find our statue, but he found one that was very similar, so he bought it and brought it back to our church. It wasn't long before the second statue suffered the same fate. Ata went to Ljubljana again, and this time he found our statue. They said that a certain gentleman had brought it in. After that, we had peace with the statues.

AN OBITUARY

(Sent by a friend, author unknown)

"Today we mourn the passing of a beloved old friend, Mr.Common Sense. Mr.Sense had been with us for many years. No one knows for sure how old he was since his birth records were long ago lost in bureaucratic RED TAPE. He will be remembered as having cultivated such value lessons as knowing when to come out of the rain, why the early bird gets the worm and that life isn't always fair. His health began to rapidly deteriorate when well intentioned but overbearing regulations were set in place...reports of a sixyear-old boy charged with sexual harassment for kissing a classmate; teens suspended from school for using mouthwash after lunch; and a teacher fired for reprimanding an unruly student, only worsened his condition. Mr. Sense declined even further when schools were required to get parental consent to administer aspirin to a student but could not inform the parents when a student became pregnant and wanted to have an abortion. Finally, Common Sense lost the will to live when the Ten Commandments became contraband; churches became businesses and criminals received better treatment than their victims. Common Sense gave up the ghost after a woman failed to realize that a steaming cup of coffee was hot, she spilled a bit on her lap, and was awarded a huge financial settlement.

Common Sense was preceded in death by his parents, Truth and Trust; his wife, Discretion; his daughter, Responsibility; and his son, Reason. He is survived by two stepbrothers, My Rights and Ima Whiner. Not many attended his funeral because so few realized he was gone. If you remember him, pass this on. If not, join the majority and do nothing."

Mlakar Walks Down Memory Lane

by RAY MLAKAR

Once again thanks to one and all for your prayers, calls, cards and concern, for with all those prayers, I am sure I have been moved down on St. Peter's Call List. Special thanks to Sue and Andrew Cashen from Madison, Ohio who sent me a special huge pen to insure I would not run low on lead to continue the jokes. It is for sure that now, no one can say I don't have any "lead" in my pencil.

Before I go on, my congratulations to a new writer Mrs. Marie Dular. If you recall, Marie wrote a great article on the many benefits of "vodka." Our readers will have to admit the American Home news is not only a great newspaper, but we do everything to keep you well informed with our good health tips on WD-40 and now with vodka. All your aches and pains will soon be a thing of the past. Here is one use for vodka which I will use promptly, that is to use it as a spray to kill wasps and bees. Under my back porch I have a stone slab and the critters have made a home there and in spite of all the spray cans I bought, it has done nothing except brought more of the insects. But now by putting vodka in a spray bottle, well those buggers will go out in style. What a way to go to meet their maker - fully intoxicated.

I was thinking of making a little bottle and keeping it on the front seat of the car, you know to clean my glasses, even the windshield, spray a little on the forehead when I get a headache, but with my luck, just as sure as God made green apples, I would get pulled over by a cop. Can you see me explaining I was using the vodka to clean my glasses, spray my head to ease the tension pain, and also explaining I was trying to spray a wasp that got in the car. The cop would lose no time in calling for "backup," while thinking, "We have to get this old man committed." But if that were the case, the spray bottle would go with me. With that in mind, Marie Dular, please keep those helpful hints coming for you are a life-saver and fortunately I don't even have to use my Medicare Card or my Blue Cross Card. I knew that without a doubt that when God called Sister Mother Theresa home, she would send a replacement and we are most fortunate in having Marie Dular in our midst. Thanks, Marie.

Thank God we got a relief from the hot and humid weather. Guess for having the most days in the temperatures over 90 degrees took center stage, but thank God all that is behind us now. The Good Lord also seen to it that we got our share of rain for which we are all grateful. The lawns are perking up and gardens are doing better, thanks to God's bountiful rain and cooler temperatures.

As for "Happy Harry", my Cairn Terrier, he is still in hopes that my sister will stop by with an egg sausage croissant. Sorry, Harry, I am the head cook and head den mother. It is my cooking or nothing, for he knows and I know that a steady diet of "fast foods" is not good for the tummies. Speaking of dogs, heard a joke the other day about a dog. A guy goes by the pet shop and sees this little dog that he fell in love with and decided to buy it, but it proved that the dog was dumber than his looks. The guy took the dog out to do his business and the dog went by the tree and lifted up the wrong leg and tinkled on his master's leg.

Seems I am on a roll now.
Little Johnny asked his grandmother how old she was. Grandma answered, "39 and holding." Johnny thought for a moment and then said, "And how old would be if you let go?"

Okay, one more. Two young boys were spending the night with their grandparents. At bed time, the two boys knelt to say their prayers when the youngest began praying at the top of his lungs, "I PRAY FOR GRANDMA, I PRAY FOR A NEW BICYCLE, I PRAY FOR A NEW GAME BOARD, I PRAY FOR A NEW DVD." His brother leaned over and nudged the young brother and said, "Why are you shouting your prayers? God ain't deaf. The little brother said, "No, but Grandma is."

Okay, one more for the road and this one takes the cake. By the way if "Father" tells you this joke in church, you know he gets the American Home too.

Sister Mary, who worked for a home health agency, was out making her rounds visiting homebound patients when she ran out of gas. As luck would have it, a gas station was just a block away. She walked to the station to borrow a can and buy gas. The attendant told her the only gas can he owned had been loaned out but she could wait until it was returned. Since the nun was on the way to see a patient, she decided not to wait and walked back to her car. She looked for something in her car she could use to fill with gas and spotted the bedpan she was taking to a patient.

Always resourceful, she carried the bedpan to the station, filled it with gas and carried it back to her car. As she was pouring the gas into her tank, two men watched from across the street. One of them turned to the other said, "If it starts, I'm turning Catholic."

With that, time to close and looking at the page, I never got to continue about our trip to Slovenia back in 1979, but be rest assured I will get to it but you have to admit in this issue and the last you got some good healthy, helpful hints on the proper use of vodka. American Medical Journal, eat your heart out. With that May the Good Lord shower his blessings on you and keep' you in good health and happy spirits.

Learning to ignore things is one of the great paths to inner peace.

Can you guess what occasion prompted these distinguished-looking gentlemen to gather for a nice group photo? Hint; it took place in St. Vitus Church on Dec. 31, 1995. The answer is it was after the last regular 12 noon Mass held there. Celebrating the Mass was Father Victor Cimperman (center). To his right is pastor Rev. Joseph (500-mile walker) Boznar. The other gentlemen are the long-time 12 o'clock Mass ushers. Left to right, Bob Novak (deceased), Joe Mismas, Mirko Orel, and attorney Ed (Wally) Turk.

Did you know the SOO (as we sometimes call it) is the oldest city in Michigan? It is also the third oldest Catholic mission in the United States. Shortly before going to St. Ignace, Father Marquette founded Sault Ste. Marie in 1668.

The Soo was a central meeting point for the Great Lakes Indians who also referred to it as "Bewating," which means "gathering place." In 1837 Franc Pirc erected a church which later became Bishop Baraga's first cathedral. This would be the SEE, or seat of our first bishop's diocese, since it was the most important settlement and meeting place in the Upper Great Lakes.

The historic Bishop Baraga Home, built in 1864, is still standing. At. St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral, numerous Baraga artifacts are on display.

Bishop Baraga often crossed the St. Mary's River. He helped the people of Goulais Bay build the Church of Our Mother of Sorrows. He occasionally visited Garden River and often called upon the sick and dying all along the St. Mary's River. The Canadian government has set several historical markers to note the work of Bishop Frederic Baraga.

Sugar Island...

Near Sault Ste. Marie is an island named by the Indians for the large amounts of maple sap extracted from the trees there and boiled down into easy-to-store maple sugar. Between 1854-1864, Baraga visited and erected four churches on the island.

Marquette...

Sault Ste. Marie remained the seat of the diocese until Bishop Baraga gained permission from Rome to move it to the more centrally located Marquette in 1865. The home in which he died is located at 615 S. 4th Street and was the headquarters for the Bishop Baraga Association and Archives. Located in St. Peter Cathedral is the crypt where the remains of the Upper Peninsula's first bishop, Bishop Frederic Baraga, have been laid to Eagle Harbor... Copper mining in the 1840s, '50s, and '60's brought many immigrants to the Keweenaw Peninsula, known even today as The Copper Country. Irish, German and French Canadian Catholics placed new demands on the already busy priest and bishop.

+ Frederic Baraga

Eagle Harbor became an important lake port for the export of copper to the rest of the world. In 1852, Father Baraga bought some land upon which he constructed a church for the many Catholic immigrants of the area. The Holy Redeemer Church, completed in 1854, still stands. In this, and other mining settlement churches, Baraga and the priests he recruited were known to often preach three sermons on Sundays, in English, German, and French.

Ontonagon...

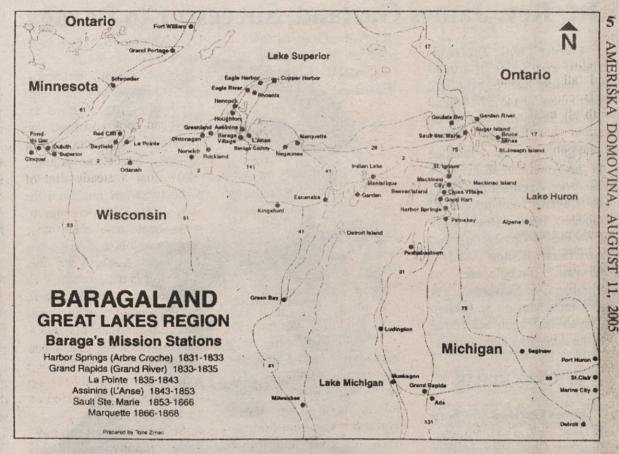

St. Patrick's, the first Catholic church in Ontonagon (1854) was located near the shore between the Ontonagon River and the present township park. South on the old Norwich Road are the ruins of St. Francis Xavier church, built in 1856. From Norwich return to Ontonagon and take U.S. 45 south to Rockland. Now a mission church, St. Mary's is the home of the oldest organ in the Upper Peninsula, purchased in 1859 by Bishop Baraga.

Mackinac Island...

Fr. Baraga first set foot on the island in May 1831 en route to Arbre Croche with Bishop Edward Fenwick.

Although Fr. Samuel Mazzuchelli, resident priest, was not on the island when Fr. Baraga passed by, they soon met and became friends. In one letter Baraga Mazzuchelli "spiritual director." Both as priest and as bishop, Baraga regularly visited the island for extended and stop-over visits.

On January 13, 1855, Bishop Baraga wrote in his Diary: "This morning with a prayer and an address, I inaugurated the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, which the Rev. Mr. Jahan had initiated, and which hopefully, will do much good. May God grant it." In 1857, he suffered "the great affront" when a "friend" publicly accused him, in the sanctuary after

Mass, of failing to pay his

Houghton, Hancock and Calumet...

Each of these three towns were once a thriving mining community. In Houghton, called Portage Lake in Baraga's time, is where he dedicated St. Ignatius Loyola church in 1859. Often Baraga, on snowshoes or by canoe, traveled this route between Eagle Harbor and L'Anse. At the Church of the Resurrection in Hancock, a marker indicates the grave of Edward Jacker, Rev. Baraga's most trusted friend. Rev. Jacker assisted the Bishop during his illness, was present when he died, and administered the diocese until Bishop Mrak's installation. Hancock was such a thriving community in the 1860's that Baraga seriously considered moving his See City there rather than to Marquette.

In Calumet, St. Paul's church is on the National Registry of Historic Buildings and is part of the Calumet National Park. It traces almost to the time of Baraga and is a fine example of an early ethnic (Slovenian) church. Throughout Calumet are reminders of the vast industry which copper shaped the area in Baraga's Hope to see everyone in Cleveland on Sept. 3, 4 and 5 as we celebrate the life of Bishop Frederic Baraga, one of the foremost Slovenian missionaries of all time.

Rt. Rev. James Garland, Successor to Baraga

(Writer's note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on visiting bishops who will participate at the 57th annual Baraga Days this year to be held in Cleveland, Ohio. Previous articles published in the American Home have been on: Archbishop Elden F. Curtiss (archdiocese of Omaha), Bishop Roger Foys (Diocese of Covington), and Auxiliary Bishop Andrej Glavan (archdiocese Ljubljana, Slovenia. Slovenian version on Bishop Glavan has been submitted to the Ameriška Domovina.)

by STANE KUHAR

James Garland was born on Dec. 13, 1931 in Wilmington, Ohio. He considers himself a native to the "Buckeye State" (Ohio). He attended Wilmington College, Ohio State University, Mt. St. Mary's Seminary (Cincinnati), and Catholic University (Washington, D.C.).

James Garland was ordained in 1959 and began administering in the service of the people in the archdiocese of Cincinnati. He was assigned and served at several Catholic parishes in the archdiocese of Cincinnati. He was then assigned as director Catholic Charities in Springfield and Dayton, Ohio (part of the archdiocese of Cincinnati); and later at the diocesan office in the archdiocese of Cincinnati. He served on the U.S. Catholic Conference Committee for the Campaign for Human Development.

He was appointed as Titular Bishop of Garriana and installed to the episcopacy on July 25, 1984 as auxiliary bishop, archdiocese of Cincinnati. He was then installed and consecrated as bishop for the Diocese of Marquette on November 11, 1992 as the 11th successor of founding bishop of the diocese, Bishop I. Frederic Baraga.

The Upper Peninsula (UP) of Michigan has as part of its history French exploration in the Upper Great Lakes Region so that by the 17th century (1600s) the Catholic religious order of the Society of Jesus (Jesuits) sent missionaries to this vast wilderness. Priests such as

Bishop James Garland

Mesnard, Jogues, Allouez, and Raymbault would carry the Word of God to the Native Americans in this part of Michigan and Ontario.

The Slovenian missionary Fr. Baraga spent nearly four decades in the UP area administering to the needs of not only the Native Americans in particular Ottawa and Chippewa tribes, but the ever-increasing European emigrants. Baraga worked tirelessly to bring missionaries, financial resources, religious orders, and building of churches, schools, orphanages, and other endeavors for the dignity of all people in the UP. The first religious female order arrived in the UP in 1853. These included religious orders such as the Ursulines, Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondolet, and Sisters of St. Agnes.

The Upper Peninsula currently has over 75,000 Catholics with 83 parishes and missions.

Sega Promoted

According to the Congressional Record, Dr. Ronald M. Sega, Slovenian-American astronaut, was appointed Undersecretary of the U.S. Air Force, and confirmed for that position by the U.S. Senate on July 29, 2005.

Thanks to Vladimir Pregelj of Washington, DC for this information.

Many thanks for including the article regarding the concert on the Green in Hudson last Sunday which was dedicated to my dear husband, Al Tercek.

Because of the rainy day, the concert was moved to the Hudson High School Auditorium. (I apologize to whomever had a difficult time finding it.)

It was a super concert. Don Wojtila and his band did a terrific job along with Christine Hibbs. It was a lively concert and this got everyone in the audience participating (and the majority was not Slovenian.) The crowd loved the Slovenian songs, as I did.

Throughout the program, various people went to the mike and said a remembrance of Al: - Tony Petkovsek, Chris, and the band members, and members of the community.

Two of my sons were able to come into town and they were surprised by the wonderful friends we have. Everyone loved Al and he loved everyone. It was a night to remember forever.

Thanks for making it a success.

The first night we ate outside, because we didn't want to eat spaghetti in the dining room which had cream colored chairs. I had made the sauce at home, froze it, and carried it with me on the plane. By the time we were ready for supper, it was defrosted.

Sunday morning after breakfast of homemade cinnamon raisin bread, we all lounged around the pool. In the afternoon we drove to Red Hook to have lunch at Duffy's Love Shack. Duffy's is not located on the beach, but in the middle of a parking lot. Once inside, you forget the location and just enjoy the tropical decor.

One daughter had a drink served in a container with mermaids on the side; I had a drink in a shark's head vase. After lunch of southwestern chicken, shrimp, and plantains, we stopped at the local grocery store for more provisions for the week.

Monday, my oldest daughter, her husband, and I went into Charlotte Amelia to shop and have lunch. It took us almost an hour to find a place to park. Even though there were only two cruise ships in the harbor, the shops were packed with people.

I have never seen so many places selling the same souvenirs, tee-shirts, and gold jewelry. It was so overwhelming that I didn't even feel like shopping. I had intended to get myself another gold necklace, like the one my husband had bought me years ago when we were on a Caribbean cruise with the oldest grand-daughters. But the high pressure salesmen in the stores completely turned me off. I ended up only getting some refrigerator magnets in the shape of tropical fish.

We decided to get some lunch before looking for an Internet café. I saw two women sitting on a bench enjoying a take-out meal that looked really good. So I stopped and asked them where they had purchased their lunch. They directed us to a really nice restaurant where I was able to order liver and onions.

After lunch we left my son-in-law at the Internet café and we wandered around for a while going in and out of shops and still not buying. We found a very small casino (four video poker machines) and lost a couple of dollars.

Even though we left town about 4 p.m. we never arrived back at the villa until almost 7. The traffic was really heavy and we had to stop and get some more groceries. I knew the rest of the family would be worried about us because it was getting dark and the roads were very narrow. I used my cell phone to try to call from the grocery store parking lot, but all I got was voice mail, so I turned my phone off. When they tried to call me of course my phone was off.

We had promised to stop and buy everyone milk shakes before returning. A store called the Udder Delight was close to the villa and is famous for its milk shakes. The woman at the counter was so incredibly slow, we thought we would never get out of there. An interesting thing about the shakes, you can get them with alcohol. I settled for a simple chocolate shake with strawberry ice cream.

We had no plans for Tuesday, just enjoying the villa, pool, and hot tub. In the afternoon we were entertained by the pelicans that flew almost level with our pool deck. It took me almost the entire week before I was finally able to get a picture of them; they would always disappear as soon as I got the camera out.

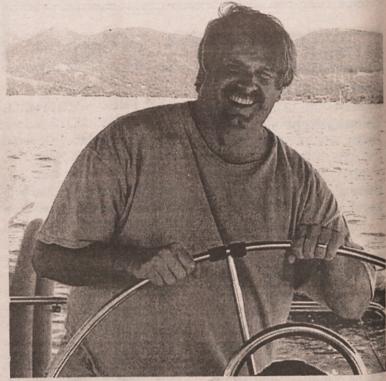

Wednesday, we left husband and oldest son-in-law, while we went into Red Hook for a day of sailing and snorkeling. It turned out to be one of our favorite trips. We sailed on the Rumbaba, with a crew of two and one other couple. After getting settled, the mate served us a breakfast of spinach and cheese quiches plus homemade muffins.

We sailed to St. John's and snorkeled in the morning. My oldest daughter wasn't going snorkeling, because she said she couldn't see a thing without her glasses. The mate, Karen, lent her a prescription mask so she could see the fish.

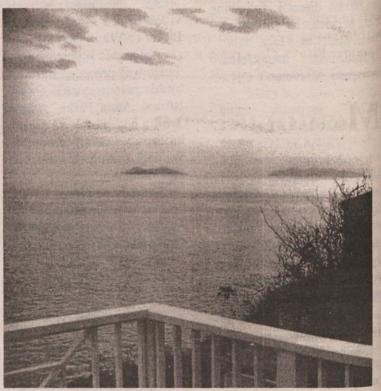

When we came out of the water, we had a wonderful hot shower to rinse off all the salt. During the trip the crew provided all the soft drinks, beer and mixed drinks we wanted. I have been on other snorkeling trips, where beverages were sharply limited and this was a nice change.

The captain attached a small propane grill to the rail and made our lunch. We started with appetizers of grilled shrimp, raw vegetables and dip. Our lunch consisted of our choice of grilled fish or BQ chicken; asparagus, salad with dried cranberries, pineapple salsa, and garlic bread. Dessert was ginger cookies. The food was wonderful and we really felt stuffed.

In the afternoon we

moved to another island and snorkeled again. On the return trip, my son-in-law had a great time sailing the boat.

Before meeting the rest of the family for dinner at the Hook, Line, and Sinker, we did a little shopping. I bought some earrings for my granddaughter for Christmas and I looked at gold coins for myself. Either the coins were too small or too expensive. I was really tempted to buy an Alexander the Great coin, but it was $450 and I thought it was more than I wanted to spend.

We ate dinner on a covered deck with a great view of the harbor. The highlight of this meal was the lobster. I had never had Caribbean lobster before and they don't have big claws, just huge tails. We all got 1 lb. lobsters and ended up taking some of it home because we couldn't eat it all.

Memorials and Random Thoughts

by JOSEPH T. SNYDER

After visiting Ray Mlakar and Rudy Flis at Parma Community Hospital it has inspired my writing proclivities to relate some items that are newsworthy.

On November 27, 2004 we lost another solid citizen from St. Lawrence. Richie "Gramma" Peskar was a leader among his fellow students back in the late 1940s. His demeanor and presence commanded respect despite his small stature. His voice and wiry physique exhumed confidence and righteousness. When he left the neighborhood his career became a blur to my recollections. His younger brother Tony filled in some of the details.

He entered the Air Force and served during the Korean War. I remember him on one of his furloughs. He was all spit and polish, with his pants tucked into his shined boots which would have given him a 4.0 during inspection.

He lived in Maple Heights while raising his family of eight children, six boys (Richard Jr., William, Daniel, Michael, Mark, and Timothy; two daughters, Ann Marie and Mary Wagner. He had 18 grandchildren. His death was preceded by his son, Thomas, and brother John. He had two brothers, Ray and Tony with sisters Josephine and Rosemary. He was a sales representative for Coyne Textiles of Cleveland, Ohio, manufacturers of industry textiles.

He loved woodworking, CNN, and debating politics, and was very proud of his children. He was a past member of the American Legion, Catholic by Faith,

He retired after 30 years of and a Korean War Veteran. He retained his Slovenian heritage as he kept in tune with local polka activities in his Florida area where he lived for the past five years.

Frank Rajar passed away early this year after spending the last few months in somewhat discomfort at Marymount Place. He was affectionately known as "Baldy," not for his hair styling, but from a childhood nickname. He was a contemporary of Ray and Bill Hrovat, Horse Jeric, Louie Supan, Bernie Cesar, and all of the early Laurentians.

He was a lifetime hardball player, a race track railbird, an avid golfer, a good baseball and basketball player, was one of the early Laurentians, a college and prosports enthusiast, a crafty home-spun philosopher, a brother of Rosalie and Mary Ann Turk, a friend of many, a veteran of the Korean War.

As a confirmed bachelor, he was the proverbial "Dutch Uncle." In my youth he once took me aside and asked me in a stern manner, "Who do you think you are?" As a smart aleck kid, I was taken aback and wondered what he meant. He explained. "Just because you were hospitalized a couple of years ago and are the youngest in your family, you do not have to expect the rest of the world to cater to your whims. When you grow up you might realize that you can get along much better if you are more considerate towards others." This sage advice came to mind whenever I thought of Baldy. After graduating from Benedictine High School with Ceasar, Beanie Resnik, Bill Hrovat and other dignitaries, and a stint in the Army, his career took him to Cleveland Pneumatic Tool where he excelled in his trade. He worked the graveyard shift for some time and on one occasion I went golfing with him on a Monday morning. He observed all the gloomy workers waiting for a bus to begin another week of toil. He said that it looks like nobody enjoys their job. Wait until Friday afternoon, there will be nothing but smiles.

Although highly opinionated, he was not disputatious or confrontational. His close friendship with Louie Supan, Beanie Resnik, Billy Turk, and Richie Blatnik was lifelong and true.

Another passing early this year was Larry Blatnik, the long-time president of KSKJ St. Joseph's Lodge 146. Larry was an early musician with the St. Lawrence Band during the 1930s and was the first neighborhood man to be inducted into the Army in 1941. Although he was in special services as a musician, he did partake in the landing at Normandy as an artillery specialist and was duly decorated.

Fr. Oman tried to have him re-organize the band after the war, but the old guard was off to their own pareers and marital situations, so the attempt was in vain.

All three of these men were a credit to St. Lawrence and will be remembered and missed. May they rest in God's holy peace.

Making the Case for Vodka

Submitted by MARIE DULAR

(Conclusion)

Here is the case for the many uses of vodka.

11. – Make your own mouthwash by mixing nine tablespoons powdered cinnamon with one cup vodka. Seal in an airtight container for two weeks. Strain through a coffee filter. Mix with warm water and rise your mouth. Don't swallow.

12. – Using a q-tip, apply vodka to a cold sore to help it dry out.

13. – If a blister opens, pour vodka over the raw skin as a local anesthetic that also disinfects the exposed dermas.

14. – To treat dandruff, mix one cup vodka with two teaspoons crushed rosemary, let sit for two days, strain through a coffee filter and massage into your scalp and let dry.

15. – To treat an earache, put a few drops of vodka in your ear. Let set for a few minutes. Then drain. The vodka will kill the bacteria that is causing pain in your ear.

16. – To relieve a fever, use a washcloth to rub vodka on your chest and back as a liniment.

17. – To cure foot odor, wash your feet with vodka.

18. – Vodka will disinfect and alleviate a jellyfish sting.

19. – Pour vodka over an area affected with poison ivy to remove the urushiol oil from your skin.

20. – Swish a shot of vodka over an aching tooth. Allow your gums to absorb some of the alcohol to numb the pain.

NOTE: The American Home does not recognize nor take any responsibility for any of these "vodka cures."

'Write' Way to Reduce Stress

When taking a deep breath and counting to 10 aren't enough to stem your stress, try putting pen to paper. "Writing down your feelings helps you stop dwelling on past events, which reduces stress and allows for better sleep," says James W. Pennebaker, Ph.D., professor of psychology at the University of Texas, in Austin.

In fact, researchers at M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, in Houston, found 21 cancer patients slept longer and with fewer interruptions during the night after venting their feelings on paper compared with 21 patients who wrote about their diet and exercise.

To stop stress from stealing your ZZZ's, Dr. Pennebaker recommends setting aside 20 minutes each day for four consecutive days to write. Find a place where you won't be distracted, and pour out your thoughts without stopping — or worrying about spelling or grammar. It's not the punctuation, but the release of feelings that will make you feel better and snooze more soundly.

A person's health can be judged by which he takes two at a time – pills or stairs.

News

Some days words just flow; and other times it's like the grass, all dried up...

Our HAP picnic July 13. was very nicely attended; but we still wanted more. The sun was shining, the food was great, and no one had to go home early.

It was truly great to see John Habat among us. John has a peck of troubles, but he's looking much better. He was with us with just a cane, which signifies progress! (No wheelchair!) Way to go, John.

People had fun listening to music, and some were eager to dance. Mitzi sure knows how to twirl! The food was good and plentiful! Anyone going home hungry has only him or herself to blame. Couldn't decide which was better: Roast Beef, Sloppy Joes, Slovenian Sausages or Hot Dogs,.....so I had them all! Pastry tables were groaning with all the homemade goodies; and there was plenty of liquid refreshments to cool one off. Bottled water was in high demand; (imagine that?!)", guess all the designated drivers were thirsty, too.

A biiiiig "THANK YOU" to all who worked so hard to give US a good time. St. John K., and St. Matthew Z. led several teams of "angels", doing everything from directing parking, to holding raffles, and running the kitchen, bar, and pastry tables. Just to let you know, guys, your hard work is deeply appreciated. Give yourselves a BIG hand. too!

Mark your calendars for the Federation of American Slovenian Senior Citizens picnic Wednesday August 31. Tickets are $18. pp, same as last year.

(And you thought the bargain days are over) You may still be able to get some. Julie Zalar will be cooking, on all burners, I might add; and Frank Moravcik will be playing for our dancing and listening pleasure.

Next HAP meeting is Aug. 10: MaryJo Ivec, LPN, from Gateway Retirement community will be our guest speaker. Should be interesting,,,,,

Hope you are all paid-up for the Catskils Resort trip. Time is coming up fast: we leave Fri. Aug. 16, and return Aug. 19. A terrific trip; it will be hard to take in everything. So much recreation is on the list you'll have to clone yourself to try it all. Have a good summer, y'all. Stay healthy!

Tall Buildings Aren't Profitable

It really comes down to economics. The higher you build, the more elevators you need. By the time a building reaches about 80 stories, the elevators take up so much space there usually is not sufficient floor space to generate enough rental income to make the building profitable.

The Sears Tower in Chicago, at 1,450 feet, is the tallest building in the United States. CAKEMICO CHIO MOD

The tallest building in the world is the Taipei 101 building in Taipei, Taiwan. It opened last year and rises 1,470 feet, exactly 20 feet higher than the Sears Tower.

But it won't be the tallest building for long because a building under construction in Dubai, in the United Arab Emirates, will rise 160 stories and a staggering 2,624 feet - nearly a half mile into the sky - when completed in a few years from now.

Hard Choices for Slovenia

Janez Jansa, Slovenia's prime minister, is in a bind. In forming a government coalition late last year he committed himself to a policy that some of his own economic advisors say is untenable.

Desperate to consolidate the first electoral victory for the Slovenian right since independence in 1991, Mr. Jansa in November drew the Pensioners' party into his coalition by promising to link pensions to wages instead of inflation. Should Mr. Jansa break that promise when he submits his first budget this autumn, his coalition could fall apart. Keep to it and, say economists, he would put Slovenia's euroadoption plan at risk and sow the seeds of a future fiscal crisis.

"Not to reform the pension rules but to index pensions to wages is completely crazy," says Boris Majcen, director of Slovenia's Institute for Economic Research.

The looming confrontation over pensions may be the first sign that Slovenia's remarkably smooth transition from Yugoslav style socialism to a market economy may be entering a new, bumpier phase.

For a decade, the economy of Slovenia has grown at more than twice the EU average. Unemployment is low and stable. Inflation has dropped smartly to 3.2 per cent. Yet as the standard of living has increased (per capita GDP in purchasing power is about 80 per cent of the EU average), the country has padded an already generous social welfare structure, beefed up the public sector and dragged its feet on privatization.

Nearly half of public spending is on social transfers, with very little, according to Mitja Gaspari, governor of the central bank, reaching those truly in need.

While the number of jobs in the private sector has fallen slightly in the last three years, government sector employment has grown by more than 6 percent.

To pay for all this, taxes are high. The highest marginal tax rate, combined with social security contributions can consume up to three-quarters of a worker's gross pay, sapping worker incentive to earn more and companies' ability to hire.

More than 40 percent of the economy remains in state hands, compared to 8 percent in Hungary. A large chunk of what is private belongs to a handful of former state companies privatized in the 1990s to management, employees and state controlled investment funds, a process that left communist-era company directors still in charge.

One economist working in Slovenia's central bank calls it a recipe for disaster. "It really is a mystery to me how the economy is still doing well," he says.

Yet the government has also kept discretionary spending impressively low. The deficit last year fell to 1.9 percent of GDP. This has allowed the inflation rate to fall in spite of rising energy costs. In addition, many of the "red directors," as members of Slovenia's old boy network of chief executives are known, have proved themselves capable corporate leaders.

Gorenje, a white goods maker, Merkatur, a retailing champion, and Elan, a sporting goods manufacturer, to name three, have all performed remarkably well both in and outside Slovenia.

Small and medium sized companies are thriving, too, particularly in niche sectors connected to the electronics, automotive and software industries.

EU membership has accelerated the decline of textiles, furniture making and food processing. But the elimination of customs checks at the borders with Austria, Italy and Hungary, where goods were often delayed for hours or even days, has helped other companies prosper. Exports and imports each rose by more than 12 percent last year.

Slovenian companies continue to enjoy strong growth in the former Yugoslav markets of Croatia, Bosnia, Serbia-Montenegro tourists and business travelers. Overnight stays in March for travelers from the UK were up 86 percent year to year.

The new government, led by prime minister Janez Jansa, will have its chance to create more success stories. Mr. Jansa has promised to renew privatization in several sectors, from banking and telecoms to energy and steel. He is moving cautiously, however, as this will surely test the appetite for openness among the public and even within Mr. Jansa's tenuous coalition, which holds a slim majority in parliament.

Potential foreign investors are not the only ones hoping for a shakeup. Small and medium sized businesses across the country have long complained that they, too, are outsiders in their own country.

They want more access to capital from state-controlled banks; more access to land that is locked up by municipalities and state-owned companies and less bureaucracy. The old rules, they say, favor only a handful of companies with political competition.

Amid all the frustration for businesses, though, the Slovenian economy continues to bubble. Growth reached 4.6 percent last year and is expected to hit 4 percent this year. That is reassuring but perhaps it also means that policy makers will feel little urgency to push bold reforms, as has been the case for the last 14 years.

In foreign policy, Mr. Jansa's conservative government has impressed for its lack of radicalism, particularly in its relations with neighboring Croatia.

Further abroad, Slovenia's foreign ministry has been playing a prominent role in several international hot spots through the rotating chair of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE).

In that role Dimitri Rupel, Slovenia's foreign minister, has found himself mostly brokering a US-Russian dispute over the role of the OSCE.

The US wants more democracy while the Russians, annoyed at watching prowestern activists topple anti-democratic regimes on their periphery, want the OSCE to concentrate more on economic projects.

Mr. Rupel has also shifted some of the OSCE's attention back to the Balkans where Europe's most intractable dispute still simmers in Kosovo. With his old contacts in Belgrade and Pristina, Mr. Rupel believes he can help the two sides build badly needed trust.

Mr. Rupel has not had resounding success and the Slovenian public seems non-pulsed by his international forays. Nevertheless, foreign diplomats feel the high profile job has profited the country's image by showing a Slovenia that is eager to engage the wider world.

St. Mary's Summer Picnic

St. Mary's (Collinwood) Summer Picnic will be held at Slovenska Pristava on Sunday, August 21.

The picnic will begin with a Mass at 12:00 noon followed by a delicious roast beef/chicken dinner ($11 for adults and $5 for children).

Music and entertainment will be provided by Trio Spica from Slovenia.

There will be a bake sale, plus food, refreshments throughout the day. Plus the popular Biergarten returns and much, much more.

Pristava Campers Dinner Is A 'Booming' Success

The Saturday, July 2nd Slovenska Pristava campers picnic was a "booming" success for all involved. A record crowd of 410+ diners enjoyed a delicious steak or chicken dinner at the beautiful Slovenska Pristava. The weather was perfect, the food delicious, and the music and fireworks were spectacular.

A very coordinated effort between the kitchen and grilling volunteers along with the musicians and bartenders kept all in attendance well cared for.

While Tom and Joey Znidarsic, Miš Radisek, Stan Rus and Dan Foreman (and others) shed excess pounds cooking the steaks, Marge Znidarsic along with Lynette Radisek, Ani Sterle, Maria Stepec, Vera Foreman and Marge Leden were the kitchen die-hards.

Terri Vogel and Marge Rus were responsible for the excellent decorations and ample supply of tickets. It took 12 plus bartenders to keep everyone's thirst satisfied during the event with a particular thank you to Joe Radisek Jr., Bob and Tom Stepec, Pete Domanko (Jr. and Sr.) along with many others.

A huge thank you goes to Matt Grdadolnik who organized a fabulous band for the evening's event with names such as John Nemec, Tine Ribic, Tony Nemec, Mike Dolinar, and Tony Ovsenik.

The event was crowned with a spectacular fireworks display generously donated by Joey Znidarsic, Ron and Stan Rus along with Frank Kogovsek.

Everyone in attendance enjoyed a very special evening, one that will be hard to duplicate at any price. They know their attendance made a significant contribution to the new hall building project presently underway at the beautiful Slovenska Pristava.

Make certain to stay alert to additional picnics for the remainder of the season at our special Slovenska Pristaya.

Founding of Gottschee

The feudal domain of Gottschee was established around 1263 as the result of a division of the Ortenburg lands among members of that family, when Count Frederick of Ortenburg received the lands of Reifnitz/Ribnice (which was founded already in the year 1083), this part of the Ortenburg lands was largely uninhabited because it was rough country. It was densely forested. The climate and rainfall were unpredictable. The land was bad, mostly porous Karst. It had droughts. It had frequent hailstorms. It was tough country that was difficult to farm, because every new farm had to be cut from the forest. The native Slovenians knew this, which is why so few settled there prior to the coming of the Gottscheer Germans.

Following the feudal custom of making feudal domains more productive economically and militarily, Count Frederick recruited and sent from Ortenburg domains in Carinthia and Tyrol settlers to clear the lands and establish new villages in the whole area of Gottschee.

Gottschee itself probably founded sometime around 1270. It is first mentioned in records of 1310, and more definitely in the year 1330, when the archbishop of Aquileia asks the Count of Ortenburg to nominate priests to be pastors for the parishes of Ossiunitz, Gottenitz, Gottschee, Polland, and Reifnitz. Three of the towns mentioned in the archbishop's letter - Ossiunitz/Oslinice, Gottenitz / Gotenice, and Gottschee / Kocevje - were in the newly established domain of Gott-

To get peasants to move from their estates in Carinthia to come to Gottschee, the, Ortenburg lords granted special privileges, such as:

- Large farmsteads, consisting of an entire Bavariansize chunk of land (about 50 U.S. acres), as long as the colonists would clear the allotted forest plots.
- Documented rights to exclusive use of portions of the forest for building materials, hunting, trapping, and extraction of other resources, such as ferns for animal feed and food.
- Right to buy, sell, and exchange their land and forest holdings amongst themselves.
- Right to come and go as they pleased, a right no other group of peasants in Europe had at the time.

• Relative few fees (tithes and taxes) as compared to the more developed parts of Carinthia and Carniola.

Expansion of the Domain of Gottschee

How many Carinthian and Tyrolean colonists took up the count's offer is not known, but in the year 1370, the emperor "made available" 300 families from the area of Franconia and Thuringia in Germany for settlement in Gottschee as noted in a document from the archives of the archbishop of Aquileia. My guess is that these families had been involved in some sort of rebellion and were being "banished to the frontier" where they could cause less trouble.

Because of this influx, along with the growth of the original settlers, the Orten-burgs and their successors opened up new villages.

We can see the rapid growth of Gottschee domain by the original settlers, the Ortenburgs and their successors opened up new villages.

We can see the rapid growth of Gottschee domain by the fact that already in 1393, the town of Gottschee was raised to the level of a "market town" and accrued all the rights that market towns had in the middle ages.

Ortenburg lords owned Gottschee until the year 1418, when the last Count of Ortenburg died and his estates in Carniola passed into the hands of the Counts of Cilli. When the last Count of Cilli died in a battle against the Turks at Belgrade in 1456, the Cilli lands in Carniola and Styria passed inheritance agreement into the hands of the Habsburgs. Thus, all the individual domains, estates, and properties that had been personally held by the counts of Ortenburg and Cilli now became the personal properties of the Habsburgs - who were also the ruling dukes of

The Habsburgs originally governed their hundreds of new feudal domains in Carniola with appointed stewards. Gottschee had by this time evolved into three "manors" (Amter) of Upper Gottschee, Lower Gottschee, and Rieg. Sometimes there were stewards appointed in each manor; at other times, one steward managed the whole domain for the absentee landlord.

Impact of the Turkish Invasions

That the Habsburg Emperors had a keen sense of the threats to the borders of the Empire is shown during the period when the Ottoman Empire was gobbling up the Balkan countries one after another and their armies began to reach the borders of the Holy Roman Empire. By the year 1463, the country of Bosnia was already under the control of the Ottoman invader.

Very shortly after this in 1569 to be exact - the Ottoman Turks attacked the Holy Roman Empire exactly in the area of Gottschee. This was the first of 12 major invasions by the Turks of southern Carniola over the next 120 years. It is estimated that over 200,000 persons were taken prisoner in Carniola and Lower Styria during this time and sent to Bosnia to farm and produce goods for the Turkish army, or be sold into slavery in other areas of the Ottoman Empire. It was not until the ending of the 16th century that Gottschee and southern Carniola were able to feel secure again.

During the period of the Ottoman wars, Gottschee went on a "war footing." All labor, agriculture production, and military resources were devoted to the defense of the border.

Habsburg Leasing Policy

The Habsburgs abandoned the idea of managing their many local domains (such as Gottschee) through appointed stewards and begin a system of "leasing" these domains to nobles who would pay the Habsburg owner a large fee, in return for which the leasing lord would take all the tithes and taxes paid by the peasant subjects.

The first appointed lord lease-holders of Gottschee were the Counts Hohenwart, Thurn, and Ungnad, who were members of the Ritter families with ties to the Teutonic Knights who had Christianized and pacified Prussia and the Baltic lands, now in Carniola to defend against the new enemies of Christ and crown. In addition to governing Gottshcee, these "border lords" had important military responsibilities. Many were captains of troops of soldiers. Those Gottscheer peasants not directly involved in military units were pressed into service as laborers, craftsmen, and wagoners for the supply and support of the border army.

City, Seal of Gottschee

It was during this time, in 1471 that Gottschee was elevated to the status of city, receiving a municipal charter and Burgrecht. In 1492, after the particularly disastrous Turkish attack of that year, and which almost completely destroyed the town of Gottschee, the emperor granted the people of Gottschee, Kostel, Pölland, and Reifnitz the famous Hausierpatent which allowed the residents of these domains to sell goods that they produced throughout the Habsburg lands of Austria and Ger-The Gottscheer many. Hausierer was well known throughout Germany and Austria well into the 12th century.

Blagay Family

From 1547 until 1613, the lord lease-holders of Gott-schee were the Counts of Blagay. The Blagay's had a profound impact on Gott-schee. First, they were Croatians. Second, like their predecessors, they were military leaders on the military border of the empire. Third, they brought with them a number of settlers who were refugees from Croatia who had lost their homes during the Turkish wars. Many of these people settled in Gottschee and southern Carniola. These refugees were sometimes called Uskoks; but they (the settlers who stayed) seem to have been mostly Catholic Croatians and displaced Slovenians.

It is during this period in the latter half of the 16th century, that we find the introduction of many Germanized Slavic names and Slavicized German names in Gottshcee. The former occurred as the mostly Croatian and Slovenian immigrants arrived to occupy vacant farms. They were assimilated into the German-speaking community in Gottschee. The Slavicization of German names in Gottschee occurred because the Blagay lords brought with them stewards, judges, administrators, etc., who were Croatians, and who recorded many names in the Croatian fashion. As a result one sees many Gottscheer names ending with "itsch."

The fourth impact of the Blagay rule was their attempt to institute the Croatian method of feudal administration in Gottschee. this was very different from the Austrian system and causes considerable conflicts in Gottschee, with its own method of established rights and privileges. As a result, there were frequent protests - many of which were written down - by the Gottscheer subjects against the "new rules and new impositions" which the Gottscheers regarded as violations of their "ancient privileges held from time immemorial."

It is from the records of these peasants' correspondence with the Habsburg archduke and his viceroy in Carniola that we get some of the best documentation of local history of Gottschee that is of genealogical use prior to the establishment of church records.

Looking through our files we came across this old photo of young Kres dancers who paused long enough for a picture at Slovenska Pristava taken during August. What year this photo was taken, we do not know. Perhaps someone can recall the year and the names of the then young Kres folks. Anyhow, a large crowd gathered to cheer on all the dancers. Difference Between Feast Day and Birthday

by JOE GLINSEK

SARASOTA, FL - It's 1939 and yesterday was my 10th birthday, almost as big a deal as my Feast Day. Like most everyone I know, I was named after a saint in the church calendar. They were assigned a date, and your saint's day becomes your Feast Day. It's more significant than a birthday, though both are celebrated with a special meal, at least if you're a kid.

I was named Joseph, after my dad, and his father. It's a common name around here. So March 19th, St. Joseph's Day, is important - at least in my neighborhood. There is a parish nearby, mostly Irish, where being a Joe must be like having a birthday around Christmas: St. Joe's comes just two days after St. Patrick's.

My Dad and I have birthdays less than a week apart, but like most adults, he pays little attention to his; birthdays are for us kids. I was born on Thanksgiving, a movable feast, and my birthday will seldom fall on the holiday. When it does, the traditional turkey or capon will do double duty as a birthday dinner.

But yesterday we ate in the dining room and Mom made my favorite: a big platter of thin, breaded veal, crispy fried potatoes with caramelized onions cracklings, and a salad of beets. We were supposed to have endive from a cache buried and bleached under the leaves in our garden, but the weather's been wet. The last of it rotted. The beets, with caraway and slivered onions, marinated in oil, vinegar and garlic, made a fine salad. It went well with the dinner.

For dessert, mom made a Poor Man's Cake. Mom is real good at cakes, but this one's a fool-proof, Depression recipe. A quick and easy spice-raisin cake, it's supposed to be moist and heavy. Everyone loves it. We never fool around with candles, but is there something better?

As in the past, there were crisp new dollar bills, one for each year. They were fanned out like a hand of cards in front of my plate. Nice, but I can't spend it. Mom will whisk me over to the Cleveland Trust Bank, and the ten bucks will just be numbers in my savings account, and she keeps the passbook hidden away. I guess Slovenians only make deposits, never withdrawals; they're served for future emergen-

Feast Days are more exciting. Grampa bangs a kettle with a wooden spoon in the morning and the whole family participates. With two Joes, two Mikes, and a Mary, we only celebrate on three days, though there are five of us. Uncle Mike and Grampa celebrate with St. Michael the Archangel, late September, the 29th I think. And Mom, who could have picked any number of Mary dates, is also in September, the 8th. I guess she chose Mary's birthday because it was close to her own, on the 21st.

The Joes, Dad and I, are honored on March 19th. Since we're not Irish, and hardly know anyone who is, St. Patrick doesn't steal our thunder. Because the Feast Days have religious meaning, they're more important to us than birthdays. I'm the only one in the family who gets special treatment for a birthday. That's because I'm a kid. The four adults might have desert with supper on their birthdays, but otherwise, it's just another day.

On Feast Days, the whole family eats well. I guess that's why they got that

Discussing the Various Tax Rates

A visitor from Holland was chatting with his American friend and was jokingly explaining about the red, white, and blue in the Netherlands flag.

"Our flag symbolizes our taxes," he said. "We get red when we talk about them, white when we get our tax bill, and blue after we pay them."

"That's the same with us," the American said, "only we see stars, too."

Remembering My Husband, John Mauric

In regards to the deceased John Mauric of Richmond Heights, Ohio.

Surprisingly enough, it will soon be one year since my Dear John, husband, father and grandfather, passed on to his Heavenly Father. I haven't been able to come to the final realization that he is gone. However, as late as it is, I wish to acknowledge and thank all who helped our family and especially me during our trying time. This also includes both John as well as my illness.

Our sincere appreciation to the Zele Family, especially Lou Sr., who planned John's wake and funeral, which included the Navy touch. Thanks to our church, St. Felicitas. Father Bober presided and delivered a very meaningful eulogy. Also Father Mehok, our friend Father Kraig, and our Slovenian representation, Father Boznar. Thanks to Mary Muehle who helped our family with the church program. Olga Klanchar and Dolores Mihelich sang beautifully with great renditions of hymns and in particular The Slovenian selection. We thank the choir director, also.

Of course, my thanks to my dear family; John and wife Kelli, grandsons John T., Peter, and Matthew and granddaughter Milena; Stephen and wife Holly, granddaughter Ashley and grandson Zachary; our "adopted" two honorary grandsons Victor and Matthew Wagner, who all participated in the Mass.

A special thanks to our pallbearers: Joe Klemens, Don Wagner, Robert Preseren, Jerry Gricar, and J. T. Mauric, Matthew Gricar, John Briganti, and Dominik Corsaro.

My gratitude to my son John who gave a wonderful and indelible eulogy. A tremendous thanks to our great Ladies Auxiliary of the Slovenian Home on Waterloo, and Gordon Luce for the wonderful luncheon.

Thanks to the many friends and family who attended the wake and funeral and especially for the many beautiful floral arrangements and the great amount of money that was donated to various charities, churches and organizations.

My gratitude to my nephew Jerry Gricar and wife Maryann as well as Joe and Mary Bratush who visited, sent cards and called every week. I would like to express my appreciation to my brother Herman Preseren who came from North Carolina. It was a delightful surprise.

At this time I wish to acknowledge the first anniversary of my Dear John's demise. We love you and miss you greatly. If I have omitted anyone I am sorry.

The Maurics – Fran, wife; John - son and wife Kelli; grandsons J. T., Peter, Matthew and grand-daughter Milena; son Stephen and wife Holly; grandson Zachary and granddaughter Ashley.

Slovensko delegacijo bo vodil Drnovšek

Slovenska vlada je sklenila, da bo predsednik države Janez Drnovšek vodil slovensko delegacijo, ki se bo udeležila 60. zasedanja generalne skupščine Združenih narodov v New Yorku od 14. do 16. septembra.

Več kot 600 milijonov dolarjev za ceste

Državni zbor je dal soglasje za poroštvo države za najem 360 milijonov evrov posojil za avtoceste. Dodatni viri so nujni za pravočasno izgradnjo avtocestnih odsekov Lendava – Pince, Nova Zrkovska cesta, navezava na Luko Koper I. faza, Koper – Izola, Vrba – Peračica, Lešnica – Kronovo in Hajdina – Ptuj. Njihova skupna investicijska vrednost je 539 milijonov evrov.

Vladna (ne)imenovanja

Zgodovinar dr. Aleš Gabrič (nekajkratni sodelavec na zborovanjih Družbe za slovenske študije v ZDA) ni dobil soglasja kot edini kandidat za direktorja Inštituta za novejšo zgodovino. V svetu Narodne galerije je Uroša Slavinca zamenjal duhovnik Janez Gril. Slovenski veleposlanik pri Evropski zvezi v Bruslju Ciril Štokelj je izročil posle svojemu nasledniku Igorju Senčarju (40 let, leta 2000 šef kabineta premierja Andreja Bajuka). Na splošno velja, da od prevzema oblasti dalje vlada Janeza Janša sistematično zamenja vodilne v raznih podjetjih in drugih ustanovah, nad katerimi ima vlada odločilno besedo. S časom vodi to do precejšnjih svetovnonazorskih sprememb pri najvplivnejših kadrih. Ta proces je še potr-Juje bistveno in dolgoročno pomembnost zadnjih parlamentarnih volitev. Primer: od 31. marca do 29. julija je bilo razrešitev, imenovanj ter neimenovanj kar 600.

Zadnji odsek avtoceste Koper—Maribor odprt za promet to soboto

Na 230 kilometrih avtoceste od Kopra do Maribora bo zadnji odsek uradno odprt jutri, promet po njem pa bo stekel to soboto, 13. avgusta. Novi – in zadnji – odsek je dolg 8,2 kilometra, graditi so ga začeli leta 1997, poleg prodorov Trojane in Podmilj je sedem viaduktov v dolžini 2,1 kilometra in dva mostva. Cestnina na odseku Ljubljana-Trojane bo 360 tolarjev, malce manj od dva dolarja, hitrost bo pa omejena na 100 kilometrov na uro (kakih 63 milj). Prodor Trojane, ki so ga začeli graditi leta 2000, je z 2,9 kilometra najdaljši med 12 dvocevnimi prodori v Sloveniji.

Jeseni bo zaživel nov vladni center

Čez dva meseca naj bi zaživel nov vladni center v Ljubljani (Gregorčičeva in Erjavčeva ulica) s tem, da bodo kabinet predsednika vlade in nekatere vladne službe preselili z Gregorčičeve 20 čez cesto v Gregorčičevo ulico 25 (obnovljeno poslopje). Vladni center bo namenjen tudi za potrebe predsedovanju EZ v prvi polovici leta 2008.

Odslej z Brnika tudi v Varšavo

Ljubljansko letališče bo oskrbovalo letala in potnike za poljsko letalsko družbo LOT, ki bo 4. septembra odprla redno linijo (4 poleti na teden) Varšava-Ljubljana (v sodelovanju z Adrio). V enem letu naj bi prepeljali 12.000 potnikov, ki morajo zdaj v Varšavo leteti z Dunaja ali iz Münchna.

Letno vedno manj porok v Sloveniji

Lani se je v Sloveniji poročilo le 6558 parov, so ugotovili državni statistiki. Za primerjavo: leta 1980 je bilo 12.000 porok, leta 1990 pa že le 8500. Še drugi trend: starost ženinov se je povišala na 32,6 leta (leta 1990 28,7 leta), nevest pa na 29,6 leta (25,4 leta leta 1990). Lani je bilo 2411 razvez oziroma skoraj vsaka tretja zakonska zveza, pri več kot polovici razvezancev jo je najslabše odnesel vsaj en vzdrževan otrok.

Tečaj tolarja – Tečajnica Banke Slovenije (8. avgusta): 1 USD = 193,66 SIT, 1 CAD = 159,47 SIT.

S PESMIJO IN SPOMINI:

ob 60-letnici begunstva s pevskim zborom Korotanom v Sloveniji

Prof. dr. METOD MILAČ Syracuse, New York

Zvonovi stolnice v Ljubljani so v nedeljo, 3. julija 2005, ob 3.30 popoldne zveneli še prav posebno slovesno. S sestro Marijo sva hitela, da dobiva še kakšno primerno mesto v klopeh v cerkvi, ki sem jo zadnjič obiskal in tam malo požebral že pred več kot nekaj desetletij. Kljub zgodnji uri je bilo skoraj že vse zasedeno. Marija je našla skromen kotiček, jaz pa sem v eni zadnjih vrst.nagovoril mladega fanta in ga povprašal, če je tisti prostorček zraven njega še prost. "Govorim samo angleško," mi je odgovoril v gladki angleščini. Šepetaje sva se na hitro seznanila, saj se bogoslužje še ni začelo. Prišel je prvič v Slovenijo in to s Pevskim zborom Korotan in se kar ni mogel načuditi lepoti domovine svojih staršev ali starih staršev.

Zadonele so orgle, zapeli so pevci in pevke Korotana pod vodstvom Janeza Sršena in s pomočjo organista, profesorja Ivana Vombergarja.

Kdo bi si mislil ali kaj takega pričakoval prva leta Korotana v 50ih in 60ih letih prejšnjega stoletja?! Da ne govorim o svojih občutkih in vtisih, ki so me kar naprej odmikali od liturgičnega dela slovesne maše. Mogočno so zvenele že tisočkrat pete, vendar vedno in ponovno opominjajoče in versko vzpodbujajoče cerkvene pesmi kot "Je mrak končan" in "Najvišji Vsemogočni Bog" (i).

Korotanovo petje je dosegalo vse duše, vsa srca prisotnih vernikov, združenih iz vseh koncev sveta, saj je bil ta dan eden od mnogih srečanj Slovenskega izseljenskegadruštva Slovenija v svetu. Tu smo bili združeni s pesmijo in v molitvi in to na praznik slovesnega ustoličenja novega slovenskega metropolita, nadškofa Alojzija Urana.

Še isti večer ob 7h, v nedeljo, 3. julija, je bila v Linhartovi dvorani Cankarjevega doma akademija, kot zaključek vseslovenskega srečanja 2005. Boštjan Kocmur je kot predsednik Slovenskega izseljenskega društva Slovenija v svetu pozdravil vse navzoče. Nato je sledil nagovor predsednika vlade Janeza Janše. Slavnostni govor pa je podal Božidar Fink iz Argentine.

Korotan se je odločil, da na tej akademiji predstavi nekaj svojega, nekaj, kar je doživelo prve izvedbe že v begunstvu. To sta bili skladbi Frančka Gorenška, Naša pesem, za mešani zbor, na bese-dilo Marjana Jakopiča, ter kantata Metoda Milača, Pozdravljena zemlja, za mešani zbor in simfonišni orkester, na besedilo Pavla Borštnika.

Uvodne besede za obe skladbi je spregovorila v Ameriki rojena Muši Coffelt v lepi slovenščini.

Zbor je skladbi izvedel skoraj brezhibno, saj so jima posvečali še prav posebno pozornost zato, ker je Gorenšek vodil zbor šestnajst let, Milač pa enajst. Klavirski del Naše pesmi je izvedel pianist Ivan Vombergar, pri Pozdravljeni zemlji pa je sodeloval 17-članski simfonični orkester kot zahteva partitura, vmesni recital pa je s poudarkom podal Marjan Kosem.

Uspeh teh dveh skladb bi bil lahko še večji z bolj primerno in zboru naklonjeno ureditvijo na odru. Zbor je bil preveč v ozadju in za drugo skladbo tudi predaleč od orkestra, ki je bil nameščen spodaj pred odrom in poleg tega stisnjen, raztegnjen in obrnjen v napačno smer.

Kljub težkim okoliščinam sta zbor in za to skladbo posebej sestavljen orkester dosegla svoje namene iz izvedla obe skladbi dovršeno in učinkovito pod vodstvom dirigenta Janeza Sršena.

Pri tej zaključni akademiji je bila Linhartova dvorana nabito polna. Veliko ljudi ni dobilo dosto-pa. Brezplačne vstopnice so namreč pošle že veliko prezgodaj. Prireditelji so zato dodali monitorje v sosednjem prostoru, kjer so tisti brez vstopnic lahko poslušali govore in gledali nastope. Nihče ni pričakoval, da bo za 60-letnico begunstva prisotnih toliko ljudi iz Slovenije in tudi iz vseh delov sveta.

Pomembno vlogo je imel Korotan še pri dveh drugih vseslovenskih prireditvah. Prva je bila v dvorani Škofovih zavodov v Šentvidu nad Ljubljano, 2. julija 2005, ob desetih dopoldne. To je bila zaključna prireditev 2005 Tabora Slovencev po svetu. Korotan je dobil častno nalogo, da je uvedel dnevni program s tremi pesmimi, dobro izbranimi za to priliko.

Udeležba je bila izredno dobra, več kot polovica poslušalcev se je udeleževala stoje, ker je sedežev že kmalu zmanjkalo. Za nekatere od nasto ni bil najlažji dan in spomin, z mislijo nazaj na štiri leta bivanja v Škofovih zavodiih kot mladi gimnazijci in z mislimi na tiste, ki so od tod odhajali na svojo zadnjo pot v Kočevski rog...

Z nastopom v Državnem zboru Republike Slovenije se je Korotan predstavil najširšemu poslušalstvu, tako civilnemu kot zastopnikom raznih vladnih organizacij Slovenije in tudi Slovencem iz vseh koncev sveta. Zasedli smo sedeže, določene posameznim poslancem Državnega zbora, zasedeni pa so bili tudi vsi sedeži na balkonih.

Korotanova pesem je zadonela v tej dvorani samostojne slovenske države, začenši z državno himno. Korotan je več kot primerno in uspešno zastopal 60-letnico begunstva in to že z drugo in tretjo generacijo pevk in pevcev, potomcev tistih, ki so zapustili rojstno domovino pod silo razmer pred šestimi desetletji.

Po nastopu Korotana so navzoče pozdravili z izredno dobro pripravljenimi govori, najprej France Cukjati, predsednik Državnega zbora, nato Janez Kramberger, predsednik parlamentarne komisije za odnose s Slovenci v zamejstvu in po svetu, nato pa še Franc Pukšič, državni sekretar in vodja državnega urada za Slovence po svetu. (Ur. AD: V zadnjem času je Pukšič odstopil in bo odslej zopet poslanec v Državnem zboru; njegov naslednik ob tem poročanju še ni bil imenovan.) Posebno pomemben slavnostni govor pa je podal pisatelj Alojz Rebula iz Trsta.

Ker so me pota vodila zaradi mnogih obveznosti tudi na Koroško na obeh straneh meja, sem se s Korotanom srečal samo še ob zadnjem nastopu, najprej pri maši, nato pa pri koncertu pred oltarjem župnijske cerkve v Kranju, 9. julija zvečer.

Kot v ljubljanski stolnici nekaj dni prej, je Korotan med mašo podal svoj lepo izbrani program cerkvenih pesmi. Pozornost je vzbudil tudi organist, prof. Ivan Vombergar. Spremljanje petja in orgelski vložki so brez dvoma nakazali prisotnost umetnika na orglah.

Po maši, ki jo je daroval prelat Stanislav Zidar, župnik in dekan, ljudje niso odhajali. Prav nasprotno, nekateri so se še pridružili ob napovedanem koncertnem času ob osmih zvečer. Naj kar na začetku pritrdim, da je bil to izredno dobro izveden koncert, za kar imajo zaslugo prav vsi, dirigent Janez Sršen, pevke in pevci, solistke in solisti, Ivan Vombergar, napovedovalka Coffelt, kakor tudi vse odbornice in odborniki Korotana, ki so vseskozi in od vsega začetka skrbeli za uspesodelovanju letnice begunstva. (ii)

Vse pesmi so bile izvedene s skrbno dinamiko in s poudarkom na bistvu besede in glasbe. Očitno je bil, da se je zbor zavedal svojega poslanstva in da je s pesmijo osvojil poslušalstvo. Pesmi so bile sprejete s prisrčnim navdušenjem.

Ne samo zbor kot celota, tudi solisti so prispevali velik delež k lepemu uspehu, in zaslužijo posebno pohvalo: Martina Jakomin, Milan Gorenšek, Nejči Slak in oktet: Kristina Jakomin, Tončka Sršen, Martina Jakomin, Metka Zalar, Janez Sršen, Milan Rihtar, Marko Jakomin in Nejči Slak.

Pevovodja Janez Sršen je bil lepo priložnost predstaviti vse potankosti in zmogljivosti zbora s skrbno pripravljeno interpretacijo vsake skladbe. (iii)

Żupnijska cerkev sv. Kancijana v Kranju je zelo akustična, pa naj prihaja petje s kora ali izpred oltarja. To so občutili in zaznali vsi nastopajoči, kar je bilo občutiti tudi pri medsebojni povezanosti med poslušalstvom in nastopajočimi. Brez dvoma je bil ta koncert lep uspeh slovenske pesmi v vsej njeni lepoti. Prelatu Stanislavu Zidarju hvala za povabilo in za gostoljuben sprejem in pogostitev.

Vseh nastopov Korotana se zaradi mnogih obveznosti v Ljubljani, v Sloveniji, in v Avstriji nisem mogel udeležiti, tudi ne samostojnega koncerta v Celju. Tudi ne omenjam v tem poročilu drugih uspešnih nastopov begunskih skupin, kakor recitacijo članov Slovenskega gledališča v Buenos Airesu, V Znamenju križa, in sodelovanja glasbenih umetnikov Bernarde (mezzosopran) in Marka (basbariton) Finka, kakor tudi skupine RAST 34 iz Buenos Airesa. To bodo gotovo napravili drugi.

Namen tega članka je zabeležiti in potrditi važno poslanstvo Pevskega zbora Korotan z obiskom in nastopi v Sloveniji ob spominu na 60-letnico begunstva, kakor tudi na tragedijo, ki je zadela slovenski narod v tistih časih.

Slovenski begunci Severne Amerike se prav tako kot na drugih celinah trudijo, da posredujejo mlajšim rodovom zavest njihovega izvora in jedra, da kot dobri Amerikanci/Amerikanke in Kanadčani/Kanadčanke dolgo obdrže v sebi globok namen tistih besed,

Vabilo na vsakoletno romanje v Frank, O. - 28. avgusta

CLEVELAND, O. - Kdor je bral govor Božidarja Finka, ki ga je podal v Cankarjevem domu v Ljubljani govor je bil ponatisnjen v katoliškem tedniku Družina v njeni 29. številki - mora biti vesel, da smo dočakali čas, ko se je mogla resnica javno povedati. In to v sami Ljubljani.

To je tudi nam v nemalo zadoščenje, ko opravljamo molitve in romanja v spomin naših dragih sester in bratov. Zato vas zopet vabimo na vsakoletno romanje, ki bo v nedeljo, 28. avgusta. Naročen je avtobus. Cena za vožnjo je ista kakor lansko leto - $15.00. Odhod bo zjutraj ob osmih od Slovenskega doma na Holmes Ave. Peljali se bomo v lepi bogoslužni kraj. ki je posvečen žalostni Materi božji v Frank, Ohio.

Ker bomo tam že zgodaj, bo še čas za osebne pobožnosti pred sv. mašo, ki bo opoldne, daroval jo bo č.g. Pavle Krajnik.

Razveseljivo je, koliko prireditev naše slovenske skupnosti bo ravno v okviru tega časa, vendar upamo, da bomo uspeli dobiti dovolj prijavljencev, dovolj namreč za vsaj en avtobus na to romanje. Vsi ste lepo vabljeni in naprošeni, da se prijavite čim prej.

Iskreno vabimo in pričakujemo naše prijatelje-romarje od Windsorja, Kanada, ki se nam pridružijo že mnoga leta za to romanje in so običajno na svetišču že pred nami!

Za prijave za avtobus, pokličete:

ki jih je Korotanu namenil ob prvem koncertu 12. aprila 1953, slovensko/ameriški pesnik in skladatelj Ivan Zorman:

Če bomo vztrajno čuvali in gojili slovensko pesem, ki je našega rodu najžlahtnejši cvet, bomo smeli upati, da bo še dolgo v nas ostala iskra slovenskega duha, ogenj slovenskega srca in sok slovenske zemlje.

Naj bo ta skromen zapis v potrdilo, da je Korotan "s pesmijo in s spomini", z zelo uspešnimi nastopi pripomogel k uspehu vseslovenskega snidenja in praznovanja 60-letnice begunstva, v Sloveniji, v mesecu juliju leta 2005.

Pripombe avtorja:

i. – Cerkvene pesmi, ki jih je Korotan izvajal pri vseh mašah: Najvišji Vsemogočni Bog, Med nami Jezus bivaš, Hostija Ti najsvetejša, Je mrak končan, Marija skoz' življenje, Hvala večnemu Bogu, in Veš, o Marija.

ii. - Odbor Korotana v letu 2005: Cvetka Rihtar, predsednica; Mary Ann Vogel in Frank Lovšin, podpredsednika; Maruša Pogačnik, tajnica; Helena Nemec, blagajničarka; Janez Nemec in Zdenka Zakrajšek, nadzorni odbor; Martina Jakomin, Cirila Kermavner, Mimi Rezonja, Blažena Rihtar, France Rihtar, Milena Stropnik, odbornice in odborniki.

S sinom sva šla za tri dni v St. Pe- mimo vasi, nikjer znaka, da bi se tersburg. Z vlakom, šest ur vožnje kaj gradilo, lesene stare hiše, ob netlakovanih poteh, ob hišah ni avto-Kaj vidiš iz vlaka? Najprej pred- mobilov. V smeri proti Tveru vidiš zapuščene tovarne, take sem videl do 30 nadstropnih, ob njih cela na- leta 1990 v Vzhodni Nemčiji. Znanci so mi v Moskvi zagotavljali, da Moskva ni Rusija in da kar vidiš v Moskvi, ne velja za deželo.

V St. Petersburgu se sprehodiš po Nevskem prospektu od Zimske palače do glavne železniške postaje. Če imaš odprte ⁰či, marsikaj vidiš. Mesto je obnovljeno, amerikanizirano. Lažje najdeš Mc-Donalds in KFC kot kako rusko restavracijo. Bolj vidne so trgovine evropskih verig (Armani, Dior ipd.) poleg ameriških vseh Ruske so katedrale, po večini obnovljene, s pozlačenimi kupolami, in nekdanje palače ruskih aristokratov.

Malo je znakov o Leninu ali Stalinu. Bolj proletarsko mesto sem videl samo na poti do spomenika žrtvam leningrajskega obleganja. Tam vidiš zastarele tovarne in zanemarjena delavska naselja. Spomenik je impozanten. Stotisoče žrtev je pokopanih v masovnih grobovih, samo letnice označujejo leta smrti. Obiskovalcev je malo, ker je grobišče v manj dostopnem predmestju.

St. Petersburg je vredno videti z ladje, ki te ^V dobri uri prepelje skozi kanale do Neve, mimo bojno ladje Aurore in Petropavlovske trdnjave do Admiralitete in Zimske palače. Ko večerno sonce obsije palače ob Nevi, spoznaš veličastnost mesta - brez nebotičnikov. Poleti so dnevi dolgi. Stemni se malo pred polnočjo, ob treh zjutraj je že svetlo.

V Moskvi in St. Petersburgu imaš dolžnost, da si ogledaš muzeje in cerkve, da greš v Bolšoj in v Gorki park. Kar me je iznenadilo v muzejih, niso bile slike renesančnih umetnikov ali impresionistov, ampak ustvarjalnost ruskih slikarjev in kipar-Globina ruske umetnosti pred revolucijo je presenetljiva in jo je danes lahko videti v Heremitažu v St. Petersburgu, v Tretjakovih dveh galerijah v Moskvi in v Puškinovem muzeju v Moskvi.

Tega ne vidiš v galerijah Evrope ali Amerike. Tuji turisti in njihovi vodiči seveda iščejo predvsem slike mladega Picassa, srečni so, ko odkrijejo Chagalla in Kandinskega, pa Monetove slike Rouenske katedrale, hitijo mimo slik ruskih mojstrov, ker imen ne poznajo in jim napisi v cirilici ničesar ne pojasnijo.

Moskva se ponaša s gledališči in številnimi koncertnimi dvoranami. Vstopnice so navadno poceni, razen če nastopajo tuji umetniki.

Ne vem, kako živijo ljudje v mestu s svojimi skromnimi plačami. Opaziš tri stopnje trgovin, hitro ugotoviš, kje kupujejo domačini. Razkošne so trgovine v GUMu ob Rdečem trgu. Zaman sem tam iskal rusko trgovino. Tuje trgovske verige, cene niso označene, a po tem, da v teh trgovinah ne vidiš kupcev, sklepaš, da so visoke.

Drugi nivo so nove veletrgovine, ki so se menda pojavile šele v zadnjih desetih letih. Zgrajene so ob zunanji krožni velecesti in so mnogo večje, kot podobne trgovine v Ameriki ali Evropi.

Na razpolago je vsega, cene so podobne kot v Ameriki. V eni takih "AŠAM" smo nakupovali hrano, hišne predmete, avtomobilske potrebščine, pijače vseh vrst - nisem štel, koliko vrst vodke je naprodaj -, obleke, vrtne naprave ... 96 blagajn je bilo polno zaposlenih. Nakupljene stvari si moraš sam spraviti v plastične vreče - ki jih kupiš po dva rublja vsako.

Obstaja še tretja vrsta tržišča. Naletel sem nanj ob športnem kompleksu na poti proti univerzi.

Barakasto naselje, z zasilnimi stojnicami in vsakovrstnim blagom. Cene so nizke, gneča nakupovalcev kaže, kako je ta trg dobrodošel. Ne morem pisati, kakšne so cene, a videl sem srajce in ženske obleke po 100 rubljev (tri dolarje), čevlje za 150 rubljev, pa hrana, sadje in zelenjava po nizkih cenah.

Ob Izmajlovski postaji podzemne je podoben trg za "kulturno blago", to predvsem za turiste, slike in ročna dela, ruske igrače in ikone, barvana jajca in leseni izdelki. Cene so podobne kot v prodajalnicah na starem Arbatu, tudi izbira je podobna.

Po starem Arbatu se sprehodiš skozi turistične privlačnosti, seveda ne moreš mimo Puškina. Na širokem novem Arbatu kraljujejo igralnice in nočni lokali. To je prinesla 'demokracija'.

S sinom sva šla na sprejem in koncert v Spaso House, rezidenco ameriškega veleposlanika, kjer sem srečal ameriškega veleposlanika in osebje ambasade ter diplomatske goste.

Poslopje je zgodovinsko pomembno in ga imajo Združene države v naje-. mu za skromno najemnino. Moj sin bi tudi moral iti na sprejem na slovensko veleposlaništvo za obletnico slovenske samostojnosti, pa je bil za-

Na Slovenijo te spomnijo ruske zastave, belomodre-rdeče, brez zvezde ali grba.

Presenetil me je mestni avtobus z velikim reklamnim napisom GORENJE. Sredi Moskve. V Ljubljani jih nisem videl.

Nerad sem se poslovil. Ne verjamem, da bom še kdaj šel v Moskvo. Pri mojih letih je težko biti turist.

Poletje v Triglavskem parku

GURNEE, III. - Na "Očetovski dan smo se zbrali pri kapelici za naš prvi piknik. Mašo je za nas daroval dr. Jože Gole in se v pridigi spomnil vseh naših očetov - živi in tistih, ki že počivajo v božjem varstvu. Zelo radi ga poslušamo, saj nam je večini le malokdaj naklonjeno, da smo deležni tako lepe pridige v slovenščini. Materinski jezik pač čutimo tudi s srcem, ne samo s pametjo.

Po dobrem kosilu in veseli muziki se je piknik razvil v res prijeten nedeljski popoldan, ki nam da moči, da se lažje prerinemo skozi novi teden dela in skrbi.

Kar precej parov se je zavrtelo na plesišču. Občudovanja so vredne male punčke, ki menda prinesejo talent in veselje za ples že kar s seboj na svet. In pa naši priletni gostje – prav kakor poje pesem: Stara sem ratala, delat ne morem, muz'ka zašpila, plesat pa pojdem...

Vsem, ki pripravljate in delate, da vse teče "po žnorci", gre velika hvala. Veliko nesebičnega truda je vloženega v jedačo in pijačo in Park je zmeraj vabljiv in svež, kakor pomladansko jutro. Gospodar in njegovi pomočniki zaslužijo veliko hvalo.

4. julija smo imeli društveni piknik. Je že kar v navadi, da že v petek popoldne zraste na hribu kar mala vasica šotorov. Na praznik pa se mali in veliki pomerijo v svoji športni umetnosti.

Imeli smo 13 tekmovalcev. Trije med njimi so jih bili že kar čez petdeset! Pomerili so se v plavanju, v teku in kolesarjenju. Prvo mesto je zasedel Michael Mejač, drugo Thomas Mejač in tretje sta delila Frank Rozina in Matt Mejač. Vsem so bile podeljene medalje. Zelo živahno je bilo tudi na balinišču.

Vse tiste večere pa smo zaključili z raketami, ki so jih mladi in stari spremljali z mnogimi "Oh!" in "Ah!"...

Jože Smolič umrl

Zal pa smo po vseh teh lepih dneh doživeli spet žalost in veliko izgubo za naše društvo. 3. julija je nenadno umrl Jože Smolič, eden naših ustanovnih in zelo zaslužnih članov. Bil je pravi Dolenjec, najmlajši v družini 11 otrok. Kot mlad fant je šel v Šentvid na Ljubljano, da bi se izučil mizarstva. Tam so ga Nemci zaprli in poslali v Avstrijo. Vojsko je preživel v Salzburgu in se tam tudi oženil. Naselil se je v Milwaukeeju in si tam ustvaril družino: dva sinova in dve hčerki.

Jože je bil glavni arhitekt, ko so začeli postavljati kabine in gospodarska poslopja v našem Parku. Ničesar ni bilo narejenega brez njegove pomoči in nasveta. Vedno je bil nasmejan, za vsakogar je imel dobro besedo in rad je imel druščino. Prišel je med nas ob lepem ali slabem vremenu, in tudi zadnje čase, čeprav se je včasih slabo počutil.

Žejni balinarji na Triglavskem parku imajo vsak svojo številko za kozarec piva ali vina. Klopec jim je naredil njih sedaj že pokojni član Jože Smolič.

Ljubi Jože, pogrešali Te bomo in obdržali Te bomo v najlepšem spominu!

Misijonski piknik

Polje, vrtovi in mi vsi veliko vzdihujemo, ker je letos tako peklensko vroče. Ni čuda, da so v Sloveniji temu rekli "pasji dnevi". Tisti pa, ki smo se kljub temu 24. julija ojunačili in prišli v Park, smo bili prijetno presenečeni, ker je od jezerca pihljal prijazen veter in je bilo v senci pod drevjem nadvse udobno.

Mici Coffelt, ki vodi misijonski krožek, je vsako leto prikrajšana za marsikatero noč mirnega spanja, ko ji po glavi rojijo skrbi: ali nam bo Bogec naklonil lepo vreme, ali bodo gostje zadovoljni, ali se bo vse dobro izteklo...

Pa je bil to že petintrideseti piknik za dobrobit slovenskih misijonarjev in upamo, da bomo doživeli še šestintridesetega!

Frank Menčak zmeraj poskrbi, da je oltar lepo pripravljen, dr. Gole pa bere mašo in nam je letos veliko povedal o delu in premnogih osebnih žrtvah naših misijonarjev, ki darujejo svoja življenja za dušni in telesni blagor vseh narodov.

Pri maši je bilo veliko ljudi, le pevcev nam manjka. Vsako leto nas je manj. Naše kuharice pa nas nikoli ne razočarajo, in vesela godba nas je držala pri dobri volji. Imeli smo srečolov in dražbo z mnogimi lepimi dobitki.

Otroci so se zabavali s tkim. "turkey shoot", dokler jih ni vabila voda v jezeru in so se šli namakat. Čofotanje in "véliko tunkanje" v jezeru je več vredno kot vsi dobitniki na polici!

Ves dobiček, ki ga zaslužimo na tem pikniku, gre za naše slovenske misijonarje. Uspeh je bil lep. Finančno poročilo bo Misijonski krožek priobčil pozneje na drugem mestu.

Ljubljana - Kaj se dogaja po mestih, katere kraje si je vredno ogledati, hkrati pa tudi, kaj je v središču pozornosti na političnem in ekonomskem področju v Sloveniji, si tujci lahko preberejo v štirinajstdnevniku The Slovenia Times. Edini časopis v Sloveniji, ki izhaja le v angleškem jeziku, jih obvešča o aktualnem dogajanju in predstavlja turistično ponudbo, znamenitosti, običaje in kulinariko.

Marca leta 2003 je pri založbi Domus izšla prva številka The Slovenia Timesa. Dobri dve leti je bil mesečnik, pred kratkim pa je postal štirinajstdnevnik. Ustanovil ga je Rok Petrič, njegov urednik je Jaka Trpinc. Naklada časnika je približno deset tisoč izvodov, naročnikov ima približno 500.

Preživetje mu omogočajo predvsem marketinški prihodki, letos pa so (na podlagi razpisov) prejeli približno 200.000 tolarjev od urada za Slovence po
svetu in 76.000 tolarjev
od ministrstva za kulturo za rubriko Slovenska mitologija.

"Prvi del časopisa, ki ima 16 strani, obravnava predvsem ekonomske in politične teme, s katerimi odpiramo družbena vprašanja. Drugi je lahkotnejši, v njem so predstavljeni dogodki in kraji v Sloveniji in reportaže z in iz njih," je povedal Žiga Novak, projektni vodja The Slovene Timesa.

in pospravljanju Parka, se iskreno zahvaljujemo. Pravtako tudi vsem, ki so darovali denar, dobitke ali kakorkoli podprli naše prizadevanje. Naj ljubi Bog vsem obilno povrne!

"Naš strateški partner je Slovenska turistična organizacija, katero S imamo podobne cilje. Poleti recimo v posebni rubriki predstavljamo, kam v Sloveniji je mogoče iti na izlet." Prišleki dobijo časopis na letalih Adrie Airways, na različnih mednarodnih srečanjih, ki jih gosti Slovenija, naprodaj je v hotelih, na bencinskih servisih, letališčih, mednarodnih vlakih, turističnih točkah, v kioskih.

"Naš cilj je sicer profiliranje v bolj poslovne teme, ker predvidevamo, da bo segment bralcev, ki ga to zanima, najbolj rasel. Pričakujemo vse več tujih naložb in povporaševanja po teh informacijah, zato se bomo specializirali za analitične članke.

Bolj kot kdaj doslej se nameravamo posvetiti tematiki o nepremičninah, saj je zanje vse več zanimanja, to so nam svetovala tudi tuja veleposlaništva," je povedal Novak.

Avtorji člankov so večinoma Slovenci, sodelujejo pa prav tako z nekaj pisci iz tujine, ki živijo v Sloveniji.

"Tujci pogosto opisujejo svoje izkušnje, kako ⁵⁰ denimo ustanavljali podjetje tukaj, o administrativnih ovirah, ki so jih morali premagati. Imamo nekaj kolumnistov, a jih je precej težko dobiti, saj je kritična masa tujcev pri nas razmeroma majh na. Želimo si postati o gledalo slovenske družbe, tudi s tem, da tujci pi šejo o nas. Upamo, da bomo zaradi tega kmalu zanimivi še za Slovence, ki bodo hoteli vedeti, kaj si drugi mislijo o njih, je pojasnil sogovornik.

Avtorji pišejo v angleščini, kar je za marsikoga sicer precejšnja oviratekste pa potem izbrusijo še dobri lektorji.

Slovenija najbolj zanima tujce, ki živijo v njej. Med osrednjimi ciljnimi skupinami štirinajstdnevnika The Slovene Times so tako predvsem v Sloveniji začasno živeči tuji poslovneži in diplomati.

Viri o demokratizaciji in osamosvojitvi Slovenije -IV. del: Slovenci v zamejstvu in po svetu ter mednarodno priznanje Slovenije.

(Arhivsko društvo Slovenije, Ljubljana, 2005, 307 str.)

Ljubljana - Mednarodno priznanje Slovenije ni bil enostaven in samoumeven proces: mladi državi, ki se je morala dan po razglasitvi samostojnosti in nedovisnosti spopasti z agresijo jugoslovanske armade, so na poti mednarodnega priznanja stale številne ovire.

Sledili so meseci negotovosti in vztrajnih prizadevanj, v katerih so poleg naporov slovenske diplomacije dali izjemen prispevek tudi pripadniki slovenskih manjšin v sosednjih državah ter izseljenci in njihovi potomci po svetu.

V prelomnih letih 1991 in 1992 se je pokazala visoka stopnja povezanosti in solidarnosti slovenstva. Njihov izjemen prispevek k mednarodnemu priznanju in uveljavitvi je dolgo ostal skoraj neznan.

Pred časom je v okviru zbirke Viri izšlo delo Viri o demokratizaciji in osamosvojitvi Slovenije. Slovenci v zamejstvu in po svetu ter mednarodno priznanje Slovenije. Nad tristo strani obsežen zvezek, ki ga je izdal Inštitut za narodnostna vprašanja, sodi med objave virov s komentarji, poja-

snili in drugimi spremni-mi besedili.

Namen izida tega dela že dvajsetega v zbirki - je podati razsežnosti prizadevanj Slovencev po svetu za mednarodno priznanje slovenske države.

O tej tematiki je bilo sicer že izdanih nekaj del, ki skupaj s tem nedvomno najkompleksnejšim in najobsežnejšim te vrste - priča, da imamo opraviti s silno manifestacijo skupnega slovenskega kulturnega prostora, ki je v posebnih okoliščinah, globalnih geopolitičnih pretresov skupaj, čeprav na različne načine in z različnimi pravnimi, političnimi in kulturnimi izhodišči (ta so pač odraz okolja, v katerem so prebivali), ustvarjal slovensko državo in ji utiral pot mednarodnega priznanja.

Delo torej opozarja na velik in doslej morda premalo poudarjen nedvomno tudi preskromno poznan prispevek vseh tistih, ki niso bili in niti niso nameravali (ali vsaj ne vsi) postati slovenski državljani.

Posamezniki, društva, organizacije in institucije, ki jih prav pričujoče delo umešča na slovenski politični in kulturni zemljevid, imajo za seboj večstotisočglavo množico Slovencev in oseb slovenskega porekla, jezika, kulture in/ali zavesti.

"Slovenstvo" se je tedaj manifestiralo kot zrelo politično telo in enotna entiteta, ki so jo sestavljali zelo različni elementi skupnega slovenskega kulturnega prostora, različni po ideoloških izhodiščih, političnih nazorih, kulturnih okoljih, verskih prepričanjih, zgodovinskih usodah, jezikih in drugih parametrih tradicionalnega ločevanja slovenskih du-

Zedinili so se pri skupnem cilju: pomagati Republiki Sloveniji, ki je z razglasitvijo neodvisnosti prvič v zgodovini uresničila sen in sanje preteklih generacij ter ustvarila samostojno državo.

The Slovenia Times

(nadaljveanje s str. 22)

"Ti so tudi najboljši promotorji države. Zlasti za tujo poslovno in gospodarsko skupnost tako pripravljamo različne dogodke, recimo izbor tuje osebnosti leta." Povezujejo se z različnimi državnimi inštitucijami, ki si prizadevjo za prepoznavnost Slovenije zunaj njenih meja, in z zasebnimi podjetji, ki promovirajo svoje izdelke ali storitve in posredno še Slovenijo kot zanimivo državo recimo za študij, turizem ...

Gospodarska zbornica Slovenije deli izvode časopisa tujim delegacijam, ki prihajajo na obisk v Slovenijo, in udeležencem raznih prireditev, seimov, kongresov v tujini. Zanimivi želijo postati tudi izvoznike. Poleg tega bi radi, da bi veleposlaništva sama videla interes, da bi The Slovenia Times dali v roke ljudem tam, kjer imajo sedež. Zdaj jim pošiljajo od 200 do 300 izvodov.

Pomembna ciljna skupina The Slovenia Times so še izseljenci, predvsem druga in tretja generacija v Kanadi, ZDA in Avstraliji. "Večje število izvodov smo razdelili na Slovenefestu, ki so ga pred kratkim organizirali v Pennsilvaniji. Nanj je prišlo veliko ljudi, ki slabo ali pa sploh ne govorijo več slovensko, a jih informacije o domovini njihovih prednikov zanimajo," je strnil Novak.

Barbara Hočevar Delo, 27. jul. 2005

To dogajanje je postavljeno v vrtinec političnih sprememb v srednji in vzhodni Evropi, ko je stari kontinents simboličnim padcem berlinskega zidu in s kasnejšo tranzicijo v bivših socialističnih državah na eni ter poznejšimi koraki evropske integracije na drugi strani začel uveljavljati nova razmerja strateške, geopolitične, vojaške, ekonomske in ne nazadnje tudi kulturne moči v Evropi ter na svetu.

Prav zaradi uveljavljanja novega svetovnega političnega reda, integracijskih procesov na starem kontinentu in razraščanju svetovnih političnih žarišč je Igralniška veriga Harrah's Entertainment bi vlagala v slovenske igralniške komplekse...

Američani na Goriškem

Po grobi oceni naj bi vrednost naložbe znašala milijardo evrov - Ameriška igralniška veriga naj bi razvijala tudi športne objekte in turizem na Goriškem

Nova Gorica - Dne 26. julija je župan mestne občine Nova Gorica Mirko Brulc predstavil stališče do namere ameriške verige Harrah's Entertainment, da bi vlagala v igralniške komplekse na Goriškem. Župan je prepričan, da je to izjemna priložnost za razvoj regije: "Pozivam ministrstvo za finance, naj podpre načrte in pri tem upošteva, da gre za dotok kapitala v regijo in nova delovna mesta."

Za zdaj je znana le groba ocena vrednosti naložbe, ki naj bi znašala milijardo evrov. Ameriška igralniška veriga pa ne bo vlagala le v igralniško dejavnost, temveč bo razvijala tudi športne objekte in turizem. Tako bi bila gradnja novega zabaviščnega centra na Goriškem po Brulčevem mnenju le nadgradnja sedanje turistične in igralniške ponudbe.

bila zgodba o slovenskem osamosvajanju videti neznaten in nepomemben ter ne preveč moteč problem, ki naj bi jih svetovna diplomacija postavljala v svoje urnike. Slovenski "primer" je bil premalo znan, nedvomno tudi zaradi pogosto uveljavljenih klišejev o socialističnih državah in družnepoznavanja Zaradi slovenskih posebnosti (in v tem okviru celo prednosti) in dostikrat tudi diplomatske pregovorne zadržanosti mnogih diplomacij bi bila čakalna doba za mednarodno priznanje lahko bistveno daljša.

A čas je bil dragocena politična in ekonomska kategorija. Slovenci po svetu, če smemo to raznoliko množico enotno imenovati, so s svojimi aktivnostmi bistveno pripomogli k pojasnjevanju slovenskih stališč in uspeli prepričati vlade držav, v katerih so živeli, da so te priznale Republiko Slovenijo.

Morda je prav ta raznolikost slovenskega kulturnega prostora, dostikrat tako motečega v medsebojnih notranjeslovenskih odnosih, tokrat izkazala za primerno kombinacijo. Raznolikost se je demonstrirala kot bogastvo.

Slovenija je z uspešnim vključevanjem v Evropsko zvezo in zvezo NATO ter relativno uspešnim prehodom iz socialistične v kapitalistično družbeno ureditev ter v naglici svetovnih dogajanj in sprememb, nekoliko pozabila na kratko, vendar izjemno pomembno periodo slovenske zgodovine.

Objava virov s primernimi spremnimi besedili naj bi osvetlila to obdobje in dogajanje ter se najpomembnejšim akterjem na primeren način tudi oddolžila. Po zaslugi te objave postajajo del zapisanega narodnega spomina.

Knjigo sestavlja deset poglavij, ki - razen uvodnega - predstavijo prizadevanja slovenskih organizacij in društev ter posameznikov v posameznih državah.

Vsakega spremlja tudi krajši jedrnat komentar, ki dodatno pojasnjuje nastope Slovencev v skupnem cilju pospešiti mednarodno priznanje slovenske države ter analizira okoliščine in tudi uspešnost razonterih prizadevanj.

Zahvala Slovensko ameriškega sveta

CLEVELAND, O. - V prvi vrsti se moramo zahvaliti Njemu, ki nam je naredil nedeljo, za katero lahko rečemo, da je ni bilo dosedaj lepše in prijetnejše. Res Njemu gre največja zahvala za ta res lep dan.

Zahvalili bi se na tem mestu prav lepo tudi Klubu upokojencev Slovenske pristave. Odstopili so nam čas njihovega piknika, da smo lahko uprizorili kratek kulturni program in odkrili ploščo v spomin zaslužnemu dr. Valentinu Meršolu, to na pobudo dr. Uroša in Mateja Roessmana. Hvala vam. Hvala tudi g. Rudiju Kolariču, da je poskrbel, da je bila ta res lepo izgotovljena.

Posebna zahvala gre Slovenski šoli pri sv. Vidu, Slovenski šoli pri Mariji Vnebovzeti, plesni skupini Kres in pevskemu zboru Korotan, za nesebično sodelovanje pri tej akademiji, kakor tudi g. Ivanu Hauptmanu za njegov res lep govor in slikovno razstavo Naše zdomstvo.

Prav lepa zahvala gre dr. Tinetu in dr. Jožetu Meršol za odkritje spominski plošče, in tudi Rev. Franciju Urbaniji za molitev in blagoslovitev te res pomembne plošče, katera bo nameščena v novi dvorani Pristave.

Misijonska srečanja in pomenki

1578. S. Silva Žužek, redovnica "Medical Mission Sisters", ki zdaj živi v Philadelphiji, je sporočila, da je sosestra misijonarka s. Minka Škerlj, ki je delovala v misijonu v državi Peru v Južni Ameriki, zelo bolna. Na praznik Marijinega vnebovzetja, 15. avgusta, bo praznovala srebrni jubilej redovniškega življenja. Spomnimo se je v naših molitvah in na ta dan prosimo Marijo, naj jo varuje in spremlja na njeni življenjski poti.

V naše mesto je prišel misijonar p. Stanko Rozman, ki je že 37 let na misijonskem polju. Zelo uspešno je delal v Zambiji, kjer je v Nangomi s pomočjo dobrotnikov in raznih ustanov postavil bolnico in vse, kar je treba za uspešno zdravljenje. Zdaj je že tri leta v Malaviju, kjer je tudi zavihal rokave in skrbno župnikuje zaupanim mu dušam. Skupno še z dvema pomočnikoma obiskuje 26 podružnic in raztresene vasice, saj je župnija velika kot ljubljanska škofija. Vsako soboto se sreča s katehumeni, da naredijo načrt za prihodnji teden. Seveda načrtov še ni konec, ker bi rad še marsikaj zboljšal. Posebna skrb so sirote, otroci, ki so zaradi bolezni aids ostali brez staršev. Tudi za te bi rad postavil hišo, kjer bi se počutili doma. Naprosil je sestre, da pridejo na pomoč in za te bo treba tudi postaviti hišo.

Prilik za dobro delo je veliko, tako na molitvenem kot gmotnem polju. Pred vami sta dva različna problema: poslužite se prvega ali drugega!

Blagajničarka Helena je dobila naslednje pismo s Floride od dobrega dobrotnika, ki piše:

"Draga Helena! Dne 16. julija sem praznoval moj 95. rojstni dan. Na to praznovanje smo povabili nekaj najbližjih sorodnikov in prijateljev. Vsi so vprašali, kakšno darilo bi si želel za ta moj dan. Vsem sem rekel, da ne rabim ničesar, ker sem z vsem dobro preskrbljen. V slučaju, da pa kateri hoče, naj namesto meni prispeva nekaj v pomoč mojim revnim, lačnim in bolnim prijateljem na Madagaskarju. Dobri prijatelji so odpri svoja srca in žepe. Tako se je nabralo vsega skupaj $440, ki jih prilagam k temu pismu. Dobri Jezus naj vsem in vsakemu posebej obilo povrne. Moje male prijatelje na misijonu pa prosim, naj malo pomolijo za te svoje darovalce.

Lep pozdrav, Niko Tomc."

Lep primer dobrega dobrotnika, ki se rad spominja, da je dobrota velika dobrina, ki prinaša mnogo sreče tistemu, ki daruje, in onemu, ki je deležen te dobrote. Hvala Vam, g. Niko, za tako lepo potezo!

V mesecu juliju so darovali naslednji dobrotniki: M. Krevh $25; M. Celestina (za Madagaskar $100, za Karmel - Sora $100, za MZA $50, za sv. maše g. Urbaniji za +M Celestina, +A. in +F. Kosem in +sin M. Hren, v zahvalo $50) $300; U. Štepec $50; L. in I. Rozman $100; ob rojstnem dnevu N. Tomc (N. Tomc $30, M. Stojanov $50, G. Menville $20, M.C. Rados $50, P. Jakos $50, R.E. O'Doski $50, V. & W. Devine $95, Tomc Enterprises, Inc. $95) $440. Dar je s. M. Pavlišič.

V spomin +Mare Hren (N.N. za vse) $600; za Gregorijanske sv. maše $450; za sv. maše po g. F. Urbanija $50; A. Nemec $25; N.N. $20.

Iskrena hvala vam vsem in vsakemu! Nebeški Oče najbolje plačuje s svojim blagoslovom, zato Njega prosimo, da vam vse On vključí in posije svoj blagoslov za vaše dobro
