MEETING NOTICES

NO. 127 Waukegan, Ill. — On Sunday, Dec. 19, members of St. Anne's Society, No. 127, will observe the season of Advent...

At this time also we want to urge everyone to be at the annual meeting which will be held Sunday, Dec. 26 in the school clubrooms. We think it would be very fitting for all members to attend at least the December meeting to elect officers for the coming year.

So let us have a large turnout for these events. No one need be reminded again about receiving Holy Communion for we are sure everyone will come; and remember the annual meeting on Sunday, Dec. 26 at 2 p. m.

NO. 156 Chisholm, Minn. — The annual meeting of St. Ann Society, No. 156, will be held Wednesday evening, Dec 22 at 8 o'clock in the Club Rooms of the Community Building.

Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place and the by-laws, by which we are governed during the year, will be passed upon.

NO. 169 Cleveland, O. — Members of St. Joseph's Society, No. 169, are reminded that today, Dec. 16, our annual meeting will be held, at which time the officers for the year 1944 will be elected.

gatherings in the history of the society. After the meeting we will have refreshments.

NO. 171 Duluth, Minn. — St. Elizabeth Society, No. 171, will hold its regular monthly meeting Sunday, Dec. 19, at the usual place and will begin at 2 p. m.

NO. 156 (Continued) The officers will be looking for a large membership turnout. Wishing each and every member a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

NO. 169 (Continued) Our society is the largest society in the Union, but the attendance during the past year has been very small. We, the officers, cannot do justice to our work if the members will not co-operate.

THEY SAID LAST WEEK...

Herbert H. Lehman, Director General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration:

"When the day of liberation comes for millions of suffering people overseas, we must be ready with the necessary supplies to care for basic human wants promptly and adequately. The contribution of usable clothing is one way in which all American families will be glad to help.

Cordell Hull, Secretary of State: "I was deeply impressed by the people of Russia and by the epic quality of their patriotic fervor. A people who will fight against ruthless aggression, in utter contempt of death, as the men and women of the Soviet Union are fighting, merit the admiration and good-will of the people of all countries.

Colonel Joseph I. Martin, head of American medical services in Italy: "An unfortunate psychological shock awaits many families in the United States who, after the war, must give sympathy and consideration to their invalids. Medical men are not miracle workers. We can only do our utmost to save lives and prevent permanent disability to those under our care...

Joseph C. Grew, former Ambassador to Japan: "Americans of Japanese descent have grown up in our country, in our democratic atmosphere. Most of them have never known anything else. Among these few who have been to Japan, most of them could not stand the life there and soon returned to the United States.

Professor Willard Waller, of Columbia University: "In the schools, the loss of many of the best teachers, including principals, coaches and vocational teachers, has produced serious effects. Some 39,000 teachers were lost to the armed forces in 1942-43, and of course they are mostly men. Women can in no way replace men in maintaining discipline. If we are to keep the schools from deteriorating further we must have some men on the faculties, particularly young men, but we must also manage to keep the abler women. The gum - chewing, sweat - shirted football coach and the slangy instructor in shop work may not be intellectual giants, but they can do more for discipline than anybody else on the faculty."

Professor Willard Waller, of Columbia University: "In the schools, the loss of many of the best teachers, including principals, coaches and...

THE FAMILY IS TRULY A CHURCH IN MINIATURE

By Sister Mary Clare, SND. We cannot remind ourselves too often that a truly Christian home is a little church. The direct reason for its existence is to make souls fit for Heaven. Yet in things temporal the truly Christian home is the source of benefits as manifold and as great as if the chief end of its existence were to ensure the well-being of the earthly life of the members of the family.

A network of truly Christian homes would change the face of things, would pervade the moral tone of the people of the nation with a new civilization, for truly Christian families are eminent for their culture, for the glory of the high deeds of the children as well as of the parents. Particularly noteworthy is their exemplification of the ideals of social charity and social justice.

All these temporal benefits did Leo XII assure for all those who yield to the sway of the Catholic Church, the imperishable handwork of our All-Merciful God. Since the family is truly a church in miniature, we have applied Leo's words to the family

Take time to give this "a good think" as Skippy would say, and see if you do not heartily agree that this is good worldly wisdom even; that if we want to be happy on this earth, we must turn our eyes away from this earth and fix them on Him Who made this earth for us.

Thinking this through must lead us to the conclusion that if, for instance, we wish to increase our service to our fellowman, we must first be concerned about increasing our own knowledge, love, and service of God.

Apply this principle to the war effort. One dad says to his boy: "Take a paper route, son, and put your earnings in a War Bond to help the soldiers."

The second dad is the wise dad, even in a temporal sense, for going to Mass every morning for the soldiers will suggest further personal sacrifice to help the war effort. Simply put, helping the children to grow in the practice of virtue will even help fill the piggy-bank with dimes saved by sacrificing personal pleasures.

There is a strong temptation for parents to let down the bars on family discipline with the excuse: "After all we are at war. We will be stricter with the children when the war is over."

Just because we are at war, children need a specially strong parental hand. In time of national stress and strain people normally turn to their families. England found out that children feel more secure when with their parents in the war zone than when evacuated to relatively safe country towns. This is normal. The home is in the true sense of the word a sanctuary—or should be.

JOLIET LADIES' LEAGUE

(Continued from page 7) clean-swept the Gorsich Markets in three games. Mayme Umek's 490 series was tops for the winners. Marge Dolinshek has been doing a good job of cleaning up the alleys. Last week she cleared off a series of 450. In spite of the fact that Jo Ramuta ran into some tough luck, she led the Gorsich Markets with a 412 series.

HIGH GAMES: Betty Martincich 213, 161; Mary Saleznik 166, 170, 165; Doris Fabian 169, 172; Ann Papshbian 179; Mayme Umek 174, 179; Jo Ramuta 163; Vida Zalar 169.

Don't forget to bring your 50 cents Christmas exchange gift Thursday, Dec. 16. Christmas cash prizes will also be awarded.
