Arko Resigns Presidency Of Trinity Knights; John P. Staudohar New Head

Brooklyn, N. Y.—The oft repeated saying, "Business before pleasure," has again come true with the unexpected and surprising resignation of Fred Arko as president of the Knights of Trinity.

Looking, as he always has, to the future and realizing that study at night school will further his ambitions in his present position as a lithographer, Fred has enrolled in an evening class which, unfortunately falls on the same evening that the Knights have their meeting. Rather than be absent and in that way be an inactive president, and not wishing to hold the Knights back in their new fall and winter program, he sent in a written resignation.

It must have taken just that courage for which he is known to sit down and resign his position of office in the society which he originated just six years before. I can well imagine the torture of his mind and the stepping on his pride as his mind fashioned and his fingers penned the most appropriate words under the circumstances.

It came as a surprise to every member present as Johnny Ribic read the well-worded letter. Surprise and disappointment was seen on everyone's face as the realization struck home that the society was going to go through the stage of changing presidents.

The vice president automatically stepped in as president, immediately upon the acceptance of the resignation by the members.

As I was the vice president when the meeting started, I found myself president when the meeting ended. Such is fate.

All I can say is that I hope I can continue as successfully and conscientiously in keeping the Knights of Trinity Society where he and the other president, Anthony Staudohar, worked so hard to put it, on the map, fraternally, socially and athletically.

I, personally, hate to see Fred drop the reins, for I have worked hand in hand with him in all the club's enterprises since its origin and I'm in the best position to know how hard and strenuously he worked for the Knights.

Here is wishing him a very successful term in his present studies.

John P. Staudohar.

WAUKEGAN GUILD INTEREST MOUNTS

M. G. Group Presents 2 Plays in Year; Plan Third

Waukegan, Ill.—Most gratifying to the members of the Mother of God Actors' Guild was the unusually large number of members who turned out for the first annual meeting of the guild Monday evening in the school club rooms. The fine turnout was evidence of the growing amount of importance that is being placed on amateur theatricals, staged by interested members of the parish, who in the one year of the club's activities have put on two successful three-act plays, "The Attorney for the Defense," given last fall, and the "Call of Youth," in the spring. The third play, "One Mad Night," a mystery-comedy in three acts, is now well under way and rehearsals are held regularly under the direction of John Gostisha. In addition to these, short one-act plays have been prepared by the various members and have been presented.

A short review was given of the social activities of the club during the past year. The Rev. M. J. Butala, spiritual director of the group, congratulated the members for their fine showing and wished them every success in the coming year.

In the election of officers, John Miks was re-elected president for the ensuing year, John Gostisha, vice president; Marie Grom, secretary, and Anthony Kolens, re-elected treasurer. The retiring vice president and secretary, Mary Cepon and Mayme Grimsic, respectively, Millie Gerchar, Ed Swete and John Grom were elected to the board of directors.

After the business meeting, the members witnessed a one-act comedy directed by Millie Gerchar and entitled "Lunch-oon for Six," which was given in the auditorium. The playlet was skillfully re-enacted by Louise Ivantic, Barbara Mihalic, Jennie Cepon, John Grom, Jim Hladnik and Guy Grom, and was a most pleasant prelude to the entertainment that followed. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, headed by Frances Lesrak and Hilda Pustayer. The remainder of the evening was devoted to informal games and dancing.

John Fugger Leads Society To Golden Booster Class; Three Lodges Now in Top Group

St. Christine's Members Swell Golden, Silver Individual Rating Lists

Making repeated gains in the past week, St. Joseph's, No. 220, finally put enough push behind their drive for new members to go over the top last week, registering the high total for the Illinois lodges and ranking mention in the Golden Booster section.

The Chicagoans, led by active John J. Fugger, passed their quota by 350 points. Other societies in the top-notch class are No. 70 of St. Louis, Mo., and No. 219 of Euclid, O.

Other than the showing of the new quota lodge, there has been no remarkable gains made. Societies are, however, gradually adding credit to their records and were responsible for an increase registered by five sections and five states.

Good news is expected shortly in the form of announcements pertaining to the near-quota societies. Near the goal are Nos. 63, 169, 14, 119 and 81.

In the individual ratings St. Christine's Society of Euclid, O., has the largest number of Golden and Silver Boosters, which in part explains why that society was the first to make quota and why it continued to treble its original aim.

The Golden list, topped by Anton Kordan, first to rate that honor, includes Frances Kosten, Cecilia Bradac and Mary Rogel, all of St. Christine's Society. The Silverites, paced by active Mary Lukanc, St. Joseph's, No. 169, newly appointed campaign manager, lists Theresa Zdesar, Joseph Nosse and John Bradac. Nine boosters are now in the Golden class, 35 in the Silver bracket.

GRAND YOUNG PEOPLE IN FIRST APPEARANCE

Young Members to Present Slovenian Play

Girard, O.—The young members of St. Patrick's, No. 250, will make their first appearance on the stage Oct. 10 when they present the comedy, "Carlijeva ženitev," in the Slovenian National Home. The presentation takes on significance in that the cast is composed of American-born members. Tony Jelenc plays the role of Charley; Joe Opelek, the wealthy merchant Debelobardar; Matilda Cigole, Spela the wife; Stefanija Turk, Slavka the daughter; Joe Lukežič, the baron; Tony Gabrovšek, the vagrant. Mary Gabrovšek will be the prompter. Emma Zore directs the play. Dancing to the music furnished by the Kristoff Brothers of Cleveland will follow the performance. A cordial welcome is extended to all Ohio KSKJ boosters.

19TH HOLE

Overheard (by special reporter): When Mr. Zalar and his Joliet party started for Waukegan and the annual golf meet, it was agreed by all to use only the Slovenian language. For the transgressor, the fine was one nickel for each word. When the Jolieters arrived, their car was loaded with nickels. Several questions now bother all concerned: Is "golfat" a Slovenian word? How about "Ti" (tee)? And then there is "Spade" with a long "E," meaning belong, or the kind of iron shaped to lift turf. After all, maybe it's an old Slovenian game.

Every golfer keeps his eye on the ball (or should), but there were three who had their eye on the course record. Enter Jake Repp, Frank Sertic and "Mush" Musich. They started out with what seemed several dozen balls apiece. Up to the 12th tee their supply was copious, but then they faced a ribbon of running water known as a creek, and one right after the other the pellets hit the pond. ("Tis said the boys had a side bet with themselves to see who could place the most balls in the puddle.) But the tourney was on, and it takes balls to play, so, after a conference, diminutive "Mush" was elected unanimously (without his vote) to do the retrieving. Don't need to mention here that "Mush" got wet. It has been suggested that the champ ball-scooper be given a bathing suit next year, plus the title that goes with it.

Only two strokes decided the Tenth St. championship, and the honor went to "Salami" Drassler, who outpointed his brother "Elko" after both got three eagles and a par on the tenth, for a total individual count of only 14. The par for the hole is 5.

A special prize or title goes to John "Regular" Grampo, who collected nine sevens.

At this point the 19th hole went dry.

A new KSKJ member today means a bigger KSKJ tomorrow. A bigger KSKJ tomorrow means better KSKJ. A better KSKJ should be the aim of every member!

Record Crowds Attend La Salle Society's Meetings

La Salle, Ill.—A record crowd attended the card party sponsored Sept. 17 by St. Ann's Society, No. 139, and the meeting of the officers on Monday evening, Sept. 21, at the home of Mrs. Jennie Bruder, treasurer of the society, at which time a report was drawn up. It is the earnest request of the treasurer that all who still have money and tickets out to return them to the secretary on or before the next monthly meeting, Sunday, Oct. 11, in St. Roch's Hall. At this time a final report will be made on the proceeds. All members are kindly requested to attend.

With the limited field the society has in which to obtain its juvenile members, the work done thus far is to be considered gratifying, and an earnest appeal is made to those who live in the different sections of the town to scour their neighborhood for a few prospective juveniles. In this way we can realize our quota.
