A few days before Christmas, Dec 22nd, 2015, we set up a session in a forest cottage. We wanted to stay away from the traffic noises surrounding our usual recording location. The log cabin was built from cheap materials by a few youngsters in Vrtojba. They were so kind to let us play in their cosy party place. The electricity was supplied to us by the nearest neighbour by a few hundred meters of extension cords running through the forest. We prepared some firewood to keep us warm. In the humid night, the quiet forest sounds and the crackling stove set the atmosphere. We felt so dear and close to each other, so eager to play!
