

LEE ALLEN AT INTER-LODGE DANCE TONITE

ST. CLAIR HOME SCENE OF BIG SOCIAL EVENT TONIGHT

Tonight the curtain will open on one of the most pretentious social events of the community — the eleventh anniversary of the Inter-Lodge League which will be held at the St. Clair National Home.

Lee Allen and his well known orchestra will play for dancing. The affair tonight promises to be one of the biggest successes of the Inter-Lodge League. With a famed orchestra strutting its stuff for dancing, the attendance should easily set a new notch on the record.

Wide interest for the annual affair is noted in all quarters. Until today special courtesy tickets were available with reduction on the admission of 40 cents.

In all quarters women are preparing to come dressed in

ZUMBERAKS SWAMP SOCAS; BUCKS, SERBS WIN CLOSE ONES

By Stan Zorc

Playing their last game of the first round and probably their last game of the season in the Inter-Lodge League, the CFU Zumberaks displayed a flashy attack, and swamped the Socas by a 31-19 score. Neither team seemed to be able to get started and at the first quarter Socas led 6-3. But after that it was all Zumberaks. Paced by the league's leading scorer, Thomas King, the Croats walked away from the Socas in the second quarter and kept a comfortable lead throughout the rest of the battle. Joe Debenak and Vic Koss were the West Siders' only threats. Both turned in good performances and shared scoring honors by each getting 8 points. King of the Zumberaks still leads the league after getting 9 markers.

The Blepp Coomb Spartans again turned on their last period rally but it wasn't quite enough. The Lorain Buckeyes took the game by a slim 1 point margin. Final score was 28-27. The end of the third quarter found the Bucks leading 25-15. Spartans tried desperately to even the score but time did not permit. Big Joe Jenc put the Spartans back into the game by parting the meshes for 12 points. Ivancic had 9 for the out-of-towners.

The George Washingtons and elaborate evening gowns and wraps to make the event a veritable fashion parade and style revue of the community.

Long gone friends and residents of the community are again planning to attend tonight, as they are always certain at Inter-Lodge affairs to meet their old friends and acquaintances.

Celebrities in the sports and entertainment lines will again be in attendance, as they have been in previous years.

Decorations which will transform the auditorium into a ritzy ballroom will be a surprise to most of the patrons.

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT — Everyone will be there — Inter-Lodge eleventh anniversary, at the St. Clair National Home, with Lee Allen and his orchestra.

CANKAR PLAYERS PRESENT AMERICAN-SLOVENE COMEDY

Ivan Cankar Dramatic Society will present for your enjoyment a most unusual and hilarious comedy, "Denar", tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the St. Clair National Home. This three act comedy called "Money" was written by the competent slovene writer, Andrej Kobal of New York, who has succeeded in dramatizing the every day life of the average Slovene family, living under modern economic circumstances, into three hours of laughter and mirth.

You cannot realize how humorous the mixture of accents and language can be and the humorous reactions caused by the plunging of a typical Slovene family, struggling for existence into sudden wealth and high social standing.

The supervision of this three act comedy will be under the capable directorship of Mrs. Antoinette Simic.

The scene of this play takes place in the Slovene settlement of New York City, during the recent period of war scares striking over the face of Europe. The father, Tom Berce, is working on WPA this being the only job available and one he must have to keep his son, Donald, in high school and the wolf away from the Berce family door. Tom's wife, Neza, realizes the strife they are in and, as a result, keeps a very close family budget. She is very keen minded when it comes to anything pertaining to money and cost. She has developed a habit of spreading the family savings before her and counting them many times over.

On several occasions, she is disturbed by the intrusions of John, the milkman, and Louis, the dry cleaner, while counting the money. Of course, these men must get paid once in a while for their services. Tom senses the close tab she keeps on all expenditures, and, as a result, he and Neza have many little so-called friendly arguments.

Vinko Zolna is an insurance salesman, a very fine looking young gentleman. He lives with the Berce family, his board being a financial help to them.

One day Donald, Tom's and Neza's son, comes home from school. He has an idea given to him by his school principal that maybe it would be possible to profit through the manipulation of munition stock on Wall Street. But, to do this it would take a small sum of money with which to start. He has considerable discussion with his father and mother. Tom is very indifferent to his son's ideas, but Neza's mathematical mind seems to understand the possibilities and is willing to sacrifice the total amount of her savings for this venture of Donald's. Donald promises not to say a word to anyone about this.

Agatha and Amalija have come from the West for a stay with the Berce family. Amalija was a school teacher there, and Agatha, a young widow living on her father's ranch. It seems that from the first meeting it is a case of love at first sight between Vinko and Agatha and Donald and Amalija.

Donald, the local boy that makes good, goes to the stock market with his school principal and does very well. But his absence from home while at the stock market causes much worry and anxiety to Neza, for she has given him all her savings. She goes through agony of picturing herself penniless.

Upon her son's arrival that evening, she goes from the one extreme of worry to the other of happiness and rejoicing.

How does this financial success affect the Berce family? Money! Luxuries! New Home! Three thousand dollar automo-

Zarja Music Box

Independent singing society Zarja held their annual meeting and social. New officers elected were: John Simic, 1090 East 68 street, president; Frank Petkovsek, vice president; Tony Podobnik, secretary; John Pate, treasurer; Antoinette Kras, assistant treasurer; Louis Belle, Louis Dular, and John Muhic, auditors; Stanley Martincic, Music Librarian; Mrs. Frances Ilc and Dorothy Znidarsic, Wardrobe Mistresses.

The main topic of discussion was our forthcoming dance. Let's all get set for the "Peasant Hop", January 28, at the Slovene National Home, music by Trebar's orchestra. Here Zarja again will hit the limelight, promising all a very gay and musical fun fest.

The stage and barroom will be uniquely set, creating an illusion of a Slovene "gostilna". The members of Zarja, as well as the orchestra, will wear Slovene costumes. The carnation, our national flower, will be sold at the door for those of you who wish to get into the spirit of our revelry.

As an added attraction, we will feature a prize Slovene waltz. Here's hoping we will have some good old-fashioned waltzing to the melodious strains of Trebar's orchestra.

Seen and heard at the Social: Louis "Martha" Belle in very high spirits; and, so occupied he was dancing with all the girls that his "theme song", "Martha", was completely forgotten. It didn't take any coaxing this time for Johnny Lube to sing "On the Road to Mandalay". Mrs. Ilc could undoubtedly teach these jutterbugs a thing or two about the true art of jutterbugging.

That light fantastic of Johnny Lube's and Frank Bradach's was just too, too divine. The "titha banda" of Caroline Budan, Frances, Molly Plut, violin, Frances Ilc, drums, and Anne Zarnik, bass viol (she certainly has the knack) did wow them, and we do mean wow. Boy, did we "moirer" the Lambeth Walk. The English never did it like that (we hope, we hope). Josephine and Vera Milavec, together as usual, and both looking better than ever. Wonder where Mr. and Mrs. Ivanusch were. We missed them too much. Ditto Vatro Grill. What's Detroit got that Cleveland has not, Millie Tomic? Frances Petkovsek and her very handsome fiancee decidedly "that way". Mary Rozane without Stanley Somrak. Unusual. Glad to have seen Frank Slejko again, and feeling OK. Molly Plut, maybe you ought to wear shin guards when your husband gets too enthusiastic about dancing. Our new prexy, Johnny Simic and the Mrs. dancing a waltz (you can get some pointers from them). Mary Marn wondering why everybody wanted to go home so soon. We noticed the new members all having a riot. Remember there are many more to come. "Sweet Adeline" was sung a la Lube in front of the National Home no less, ending up a perfect evening. Hoping you join us at our "Peasant Hop" for more laughs and fun. Na svidenje.

Furniture for the play will be given thru the courtesy of Norwood Appliance and Furniture Co.

Expecting to see you all in on the fun and laughter tomorrow afternoon, at the Slovene National Home. — Walter J. LeVar.

Bike Races

The greatest array of man-powered speed demons ever to be assembled for Cleveland competition will be on the starting line February 1st when the most gruelling of all indoor grinds, the International Six-Day Bike Race, opens in the Arena.

It will be Cleveland's Eighth gigantic cycling classic and will be staged under the auspices of the Maccabees Welfare Fund.

Bicycle riding stars from all parts of the world have been signed by Harry Mendel, internationally famous race director and track manager of this traditionally sleepless whirlwind of six days and nights of spills and thrills.

Old Cleveland favorites, sensational speedsters of the steeply-banked pine-boarded bicycle track are slated to vie for supremacy.

Bill "Torchy" Peden, red-headed giant from Vancouver, B. C. and winner of 29 six-day endurance classics, is among the entrants. So are Jules Andy and Henry LePage, French-Canadian cyclists from Montreal.

Sleigh Ride

The Yugoslav University Club is all set for its Sleigh Ride Tuesday, Jan. 24. The ride will start from the Painesville Fair Grounds at 9 p. m. and drive along country roads to Char-don, where the group will stop for sandwiches, coffee and dancing. The charge is $1 per person.

New Members

Singing Society Adria initiated the following new members: Frank Cecelic, Wm. Kozar, Andrew Rodella and Helen Howlett.

CRUSADERS TO GUEST NITE AT MARK 11 YEARS I-L GAMES WED.

Eleventh Anniversary of the Modern Crusaders will be celebrated Sunday afternoon and evening at the Slovene Workmen's Home, Waterloo Road. This active SDZ lodge which has sponsored a lively glee club will mark its eleventh birthday with much accomplished.

The afternoon program at 3 o'clock will show the Crusaders Glee Club singing old Slovene favorites. The membership in the glee club ranges from 15 to 27 years. It is directed by Jack Nagel. Besides the Glee Club many other fine acts are lined up for the afternoon variety show. The Vadnal Quartet will sing. Others to appear are Caroline and Ann Budan and Honey Kramer and the Ulle dance team.

After the variety show Louis Trebar will play for dancing in the lower hall. Frankie Yankovich will start playing in the upper hall at 8 p. m.

Admission for the afternoon show and dance is 50 cents. For the dance alone it will be 30 cents.

Next Wednesday night, Jan. 25, the Inter-Lodge League will hold a "guest" night at the St. Clair Recreation Center. Each I-L fan is invited to bring along at least one friend.

This "guest" night is being held in an effort to acquaint more of the cage fans in the community with the high grade type of basketball being played in the Inter-Lodge.

Wednesday has especially been chosen for "guest" night since on this night the Inter-Lodge will present the best schedule on its card since the beginning of the current cage season. Customers are therefore assured that they will spend a very exciting evening, not only because it is the best schedule, but also because of the closeness of the race the teams are staging to avoid being eliminated from the league since Wednesday night may be the end of competition for some of the quintets.

With the sole exception of newspaper men, nobody will gain free admission not even the town's constable.

The performances, the players and teams have put on have been successes. Now if you fans will each bring a friend, you will be doing your share in making these evenings financial successes also. If you haven't seen the I-L in action then we ask you to come up just once. We're sure the boys will sell themselves to you. The price of admission is only one dime and you'll see four games. You can't get wrong, so why not come up? It's guest night.

Adria Dance

Adria singing society is giving a dance tonight at the Society Home, Recher Ave. Music will be by Louis Trebar's Orchestra. Admission is 25 cents. The best of refreshments will be served.
