»Otrok pa je rastel in se krepil...«

Te božične dni so verne družine gotovo doživljale blagoslov spomina Go -spodovega rojstva. Stale so pred večnim čudežem: Bog sestopa v družino in postaja otrok, ki ga vzugajata starša, Jožef in Marija. Zato se Cerkvi tudi zdi pametno, da na nedeljo po božiču postavlja praznik Sv. Družine. Družina je tako potrebno mesto doživljanja človeškosti in porajanja in vzgoje otrok!

Prvo berilo šestkrat omenja očeta in trikrat mater predvsem kot vprašanje odnosa otrok do staršev ali kot opozorilo na znano božjo zapoved: Spoštuj očeta in mater! »Gospod je dal očetu čast pri otrocih in določil materino pravico do otrok,« začenja berilo. Porajanje in vzgoja otrok je nekaj tako težkega, odgovornega in dolgotrajnega, saj za enega otroka traja kar dve desetletji, da je vredno vsega spoštovanja in hvaležnosti. Kot spodbudo za pravilne odnose do staršev besedilo omenja božjo nagrado: »Kdor spoštuje očeta, dobi odpuščanje grehov, kdor časti svojo mater, je kakor tisti, ki zbirja zaklade.« Gotovo je lep, plemenit odnos do staršev znamenje lepe in plemenite duše. V sodobnem svetu, ki je razmajal skoraj vse vrednote, je lep odnos do staršev redkejši kot nekoč. Seveda pa tudi to svetopisemsko besedilo ne govori ničesar, kar bi opravičevalo poseganje staršev v svet njihovih odraslih otrok. Govori o časti, spoštovanju, podpori, prizanašanju, usmiljenju, nezaničevanju. Ničesar pa o tem, da bi odrasel otrok moral ubogati svoje starše: »Kdor uboga Gospoda, dela veselje svoji materi,« pravi berilo. Odrasli otroci morajo torej ubogati svojo oblikovano vest, Boga, božjo besedo. Kajpada pa ni v skladu z božjo besedo, če se kdo hoče svojih bolehnih staršev čim prej znebiti in jih vtakniti v kakšen dom, čeprav je to včasih zaradi težkih okoliščin neizogibno. Najbrž bo veljalo: Kar ti staršem, to tvoji otroci tebi.

Drugo berilo govori najprej o lepih medčloveških odnosih, ki naj bi vladali v zakonu in družini, če hočemo, da bo tako življenje lepo. Sv. Pavel se sklicuje na vernost kristjanov, ko pravi: »Kakor božji izvoljenici, sveti in ljubljeni si oblecite prisrčno usmiljenje, dobrotljivost, ponižnost, milobo, potrežljivost.« Potem pa omenja znano pravilo za dobre medsebojne odnose: »Prenašajte drug drugega in si odpuščaj-te,« drugače ne bo šlo. Če to zakonca in starša delata, s tem isto učita tudi svoje otroke. Potem si vsi skupaj počasi oblačijo »ljubezen, ki je vez popolnosti«.

Sv. večer pri sv. Gregoriju Velikem

Drugi del berila pa govorí še posebej o krščanski družini in njenem domaćem vernem vzdušju. Najprej omenja branje in razmišljanje Sv. pisma: »Kristusova beseda naj v obilju prebiva med vami«. Potem svetuje prijateljski pogovor: »V vsej modrosti drug drugega poučujte.« Spominja jih tudi na poseben način izražanja človeških in verskih čustev: »Z duhovnimi pesmimi hvaležno prepevajte Bogu«. Družina mora danes svojo trdnost graditi predvsem od znotraj: na svojih lepih odnosih in na svojem Bogu: »Vse storite v imenu Gospoda Jezusa,« končuje Pavel.

V evangeliju smo priča srečanja treh rodov: mlade družine Jožefa in Marije, dojenčka Jezusa in starcev Simona in Ane. Jezusa so prinesli »njegovi starši v Jeruzalem, da bi ga postavili pred Gospoda.« Le komu naj verni starši izročajo otroke, če ne Bogu, predvsem tako, da zanje molijo.

Bil pa je tam tudi »mož, ki mu je bilo ime Simeon, bil je pravičen in bogaboječ«. Brez dvoma mlajši in najmlajši pričakujejo od starejših, da so v svoji starosti dozoreli v dobroti in da je vsaj v neki meri Sveti Duh z njimi. Ob otroku Jezusu se vsi srečajo. Kristus združuje, posebno družino, ki živi iz zakramenta zakona in ni nič drugega, kot posebna Kristusova navzočnost med zakoncema in v družini. Njegova merila ljubezni do bližnjega in odpuščanje naj bi urejala medsebojne odnose med rodovi. Starec napove Mariji: »Tvojo lastno dušo bo presunil meč.« Katerim staršem niso otroci, čeprav morda nehote, tako ali drugače zadali rane na duši? A te rane so odrešilne, zveličavne, kot so bile Marijine. Vdova Ana je uporabljala svoj čas za to, da je »o njem pripovedovala vsem«.

Kako lepa naloga je to za stare mame in vdove, ko danes tolikim staršem primanjkuje časa za pogovore z otroki in za njihovo versko vzgojo! Potem bodo tudi v takih družinah otroci rasli in se krepili v modrosti in milosti.

Božični večer je v naši župniji vedno nekaj posebnega, saj skušamo vključiti čimveč otrok in mladih v pripravo bogoslužja. Pri šesti maši svetega večera so otroci zopet imeli kratko predstavitev božične skrivnosti.

Tokrat sta Sonya Podrebarac in Mary Miklavčič priredili kratko zgodbo z naslovom »THE PERFECT GIFT«. Kdo drugi je Največji božji dar za človeštvo kot Jezus Kristus. Misel zgodbe se je lepo nadaljevala z daritvijo svete maše.

Angleškemu zboru so pomagali tudi instrumentalisti: Sofia Labricciosa na flavti, sestri Amalia in Nikola Lukežič na klarinetu in John Horvat na trobenti. Vse to pripomoglo, da je bogoslužje nekaj res doživetega. Na začetku maše je, po drugi kitici pesmi Sveti noč, Annamarie prišla svečke na adventnem venčku, Victoria pa je položila Ježuščka v jaslice. Berili sta prebrala: Jessica Novak - v angleščini in Mirko Zorko v Slovenščini, prošnje pa so si razdelili otroci. Kruh za darovanje je zopet spekla Olga Glavač. Joe Prša je organiziral fante za pobiranje kuvert med mašo. Pomagali so mu Brock in Clark Novak in Jesse Pace. Darove je med mašo prinesla družina Taylor (Rohan, Nancy, Alyssa, Triston in Jennifer). Pri daritvi obhajila je pomagal Alojz Sarjaš. Na koncu maše je Steven Horvat še povabil na silvestrovanje v našo dvorano.

»Polnočnico« smo začeli zvečer ob 10:00h. Mešani pevski zbor je pod vodstvom Johna Horvata in Carla Veglja (orgle) zapel najprej nekaj božičnih pesmi, da smo se boljše razpoložili, potem smo nadaljevali s sveto mašo. Pri nekaterih pesmih so se zopet pridružili tudi instrumentalisti. Berili je prebral Frank Rihar, pri oltarju pa je pomagal Joseph Gosgnach. Obisk je bil precej manjši kot ob šestih zvečer, ko ni bilo praznega sedeža v klopeh. Kljub zimskemu hladnemu, zasneženemu večeru, pa je bilo res pravo božično vzdušje. Hvala še enkrat vsem, ki ste pomagali, da je bilo praznovanje tako praznično.

HOLY FAMILY OF JESUS, MARY AND JOSEPH

Response:

Blessed is everyone who fears the Lord, who walks in his ways.

First Reading Genesis 15:1-6; 21:1-3

Abraham's faith meant nothing without Sarah. Faith is personal but not solitary.

Second Reading Hebrews 11:8. 11-12. 17-19

Faith bears fruit by merging with the faith of other believers.

Gospel Luke 2:22-40

Love is never without sorrow in this world. Mary rejoiced in the love of her child; but she would also know sorrow.

"The child grew to maturity, and he was filled with wisdom."

Illustration

A community was moving on, and a parish house, which had been occupied by five men, needed a lot of cleaning. The regular cleaner, who came in once a week, now took the opportunity to demonstrate what she insisted on calling "a woman's touch", and rearranged the furniture in the living room. The priest who was the last to leave the house spent the final few days musing on whether the life of the community would have been different if the furniture had been arranged her way from the beginning.

Geometry is important in the world. How we arrange things, order them, point them towards each other, or point them away from each other, matters. A good religious house will have a common table so that we sit next to each other at meals. Having lots of little tables is a sign of a community that is happy to break into cliques. Physical relations are important but this is because they express and enable the spiritual relations we form with each other. The reality of the incarnation, that the Son of God did not just pretend to be human but was fully human, is shown by his need for a family; a family who struggled to find their place in this world. They brought him into the world, born in the manger, were forced to hide in Egypt, and approached Jerusalem with great caution. The stories of the infancy narrative can seem very romantic. We love to tell them to children, and yet they are stories of struggle and frustration. Struggle and frustration, but also triumph over all that would break them apart. Out of the unity of the Holy Family, the unity of the human race is to be formed.

Gospel Teaching

In the paintings of the great masters, Mary, Christ and, when included, Joseph rarely look directly at each other. This is not because there is a lack of intimacy but because the painters wish to convey the mystery of this family. They are bound together by something more than mutual concern for each other. They are caught up in a great purpose, which is why they exist as a family. Sometimes they may be looking at a cross, sometimes at a symbol of grace such as a small flower representing suffering, but often enough they are gazing at something outside of the painting. What you do not see in these paintings is a family enclosed in itself.

There is a mystery in all families. Why does God join certain people together, and bless them, or not, with children? What are their struggles for? All of this is unknown. Yet for Christian families, the Holy Family reveals that all of our lives are enfolded in the great mystery of Christ. The Gospels only give us glimpses into the life of the Holy Family, yet it is clear that before he began his public life, Christ lived for most of his short life in the circles of that family in the small village of Nazareth. God is telling us something here. This life with his family is called the hidden life, yet it was from this secret time that the human thoughts of Jesus emerged. The parables of the kingdom come from his experience as a human being among human beings. What is the kingdom of God like? It is like the life of Jesus, and what he saw of human yearnings for happiness in Nazareth.

Application

The Church preserves human goods in this world by showing that they are not ultimate goods. The family, if it is treated as an end in itself, cannot be sustained. We see this more and more in our times. When it is seen as being for the sake of the kingdom, then it flourishes. This explains the paradox of how the Church praises family life, yet also expects some people to renounce family life for God's kingdom. Renunciation is not rejection. Renunciation of a good in Christian life is always for the sake of that good. By showing that the family is not the ultimate purpose of human life, but that life is to be lived in faith in the "something more" that God is always offering us, the family grows in strength. Mary and Joseph take the child Jesus to the Temple. They leave the Temple and it is in his family that Jesus "grew to maturity, and he was filled with wisdom". In short, the family becomes the temple.

MARY, THE HOLY MOTHER OF GOD

Response:

May God be gracious to us and bless us.

First Reading Numbers 6:22-27

God gives Moses the words he must use in blessing the people of Israel.

Second Reading Galatians 4:4-7

Through the Son, we become Spirit-filled children of God.

Gospel Luke 2:16-21

Mary treasured all that the shepherds told her of the angels' message.

"Mary kept all these things, reflecting on them in her heart."

Illustration

Jesus' birth in a stable was nothing unusual. In many parts of the world it is the sort of thing that happens when people are traveling. Sometimes babies are born in unexpected places because they seem to decide the time and place of their own arrival, sometimes at maximum inconvenience to the mother. How many babies have made their entrance as their mother traveled in a car or on a bus or train? Bus stations, car parks and hospital reception areas regularly witness the births of infants who refuse to be delayed even for a few minutes longer. At least, when Jesus was born, the stable was warm, dry and private.

An unborn baby announces that its time is approaching, sometimes gradually and sometimes suddenly, when its mother goes into labor. Her time has come to bring a new life into the world. A baby changes a woman's status and makes her a mother, something that she can never change. For the rest of her life, she is a mother. So it was with Mary.

Gospel Teaching

The shepherds came to see Mary, Joseph and the baby, saying that angels had sent them to the stable, where they would find a baby, lying in a manger, who would be their savior and long-awaited Messiah. The Gospel tells us of the visit of the shepherds. It does not mention the presence of any women, apart from Mary, even though it might seem natural to us that there would be women there supporting the new mother and infant. We might expect to see women gathered around the newborn Jesus. We do not expect to see the men! Jesus turns the world upside down: men become the first recorded witnesses of his birth – their evidence and personal testimony to the incarnation are essential in spreading the Gospel message.

The Christmas liturgy links the birth of Jesus with his death and resurrection. Interestingly, men are remembered as the first to approach the infant Jesus, whereas women are the first recorded witnesses of the resurrection.

At first glance, neither men nor women are "efficient" or "practical" in their response to pivotal events in salvation history. When Jesus is born, the shepherds apparently bring no gifts to honor him, whereas the Magi offer gold, frankincense and myrrh, symbolic presents unrelated to the lifestyle of a village carpenter. Years later, the women are unable to anoint Jesus in the tomb because he has already risen from the dead. At Jesus' birth, Joseph is present, but silent. Mary apparently has nothing to say even when her son rises from the dead.

Mary remembered and thought about all that happened. We are not told that she reached any conclusions. Life was a learning process. In today's Gospel, she is a young mother, amazed by the events surrounding her and her newborn son. She needs time to think before it all makes sense to her. The birth of Jesus makes Mary the Mother of God. The resurrection makes her the Mother of the Church.

Application

Christmas celebrates weakness that becomes strength. A helpless new baby is God and savior. A young woman becomes the Mother of God. A carpenter finds the strength and courage to make a safe home for God, not in a palace, but in an ordinary village house and through his own hard work. Shepherds become the first recorded witnesses to the incarnation.

In the Gospel accounts of the birth, Mary and Joseph do not speak: Mary, because she needed time to think and make sense of events; Joseph, showing us that long eloquent speeches and external show do not necessarily make us effective as we take Jesus into our hearts and our world. Perhaps Joseph would have agreed with St Francis of Assisi, who said that we must preach the Gospel at all times and, when necessary, use words. Joseph's silence does not mean he is ineffective. God chose him to care for Mary and Jesus, the greatest responsibility ever laid on a human being. Joseph was a village carpenter, but he was also one of the greatest saints the world has ever known.

Christmas tells us that littleness is greatness in the eyes of God. Christmas tells us that everyone is called to proclaim the good news that Jesus is born. Today, as we celebrate the feast of Mary, Mother of God, we celebrate someone whose littleness enabled Jesus to be born, who found the courage and strength to say yes because she put God first.
