

KOTIČKOV STRIC OTROKOM

Ze dolgo ga ni bilo, kajne? Pi- zdej je toplo kakor spomladi, semc ni bilo in jaz sem sedel v ledino v svoji šendi. Včeraj me je obiskala še influenza iz Hong Konga. Sem mislil, da bo šla mimo moje razškatljane bajte, pa ni. Glavo imam kakor čeber, robce imam kar razpoložene po pograda, da vtikam nos vanje. Jemnasta, tak revež sem, da se Bog usmili! In poleg influence so prišla še pisemca. Prvo iz Chicaga in zavoljo tega ga prvega objavim.

Dragi stric!
Ze dolgo se pripravljam, da bi Ti pisala. Ime mi je Barbara Remec in sem stara trinajst let. Imam dve sestri in tri bratce. Zivimo v Westmontu, ki je predmestje Chicaga in samo dvajset minut od Lemonta. Več- j štirje hodimo v slovensko šo- lo. Učiteljica je gospa Gabrova, Gospa Humarjeva uči petje. V šoli se učimo slovensko pisati in brati.

Doma imamo veliko hišo in velik vrt. Nekaj let nazaj smo imeli dve raci, potem pa dve goski, potem pa še enkrat dve raci in eno kuro, ki je šest dni v tednu nesla jajčka. Dobri so bili kakor v trgovini (zelo do- bri!). Vse te živali smo imeli samo od pomladi do zime. Po- tem smo jih pa morali dati proč. Predlanskim je prišel velik pes, ki je eno raco raztrgal, drugo pa v gobcu odnesel. Stric France jo je potem našel dva bloka od nas. Ta raca se je čez nekaj dni pozdravila. Imela sem tudi mu- co, pa smo jo morali oddati, ker je bil bratec alergičen. Otroci smo jo imeli radi, mama in ata pa ne. Tako imam zdaj samo morskoga prašička. Ime mu je Cibi in vedno cvili. Kako dolgo imaš že svojo muco? Ali dela kaj škode? Ali imaš še kakšno drugo živalico? Zeli Ti srečno in zdravo novo leto in Te prav lepo pozdravlja

Barbka Remec

Draga Barbka!
Dolgo pisemce in od daleč je prišlo. Vesel sem, da hodiš v slovensko šolo. Pismo si lepo napisala in tudi napak ni bilo veliko. Veliko hišo imate, jej, ko bi Ti videla mojo ropotijo. V ve- tru škripnje in stoka, da je strah. Jaz sem stokanja navajen, s šendo vred stokam. Le kdo ne bi pri teh letih? Vidim, da imaš cel živalski vrt, jaz sem imel muco, pa je zamrla, zdaj kveč- jemu kakšen čriček kje piskne. Tako sem sam kakor drevo na samem. Zato sem bil Tvojega pisma še bolj vesel. Lepo mi po- zdravi obe učiteljici in vse v hi- ši. In če boš imela kdaj še kaj časa, se oglasi. In če greš kdaj v Lemont, kakšen očenašek reci zame. Sem ga nazarensko potre- ben v teh letih.
Lepo Te pozdravljam.

Dragi Kotičkov stric!
Zima je tukaj, pa *bo kmalu minila. Ko je bil sneg, smo bili otroci veseli. Oblekli smo pla- še in kape in rokavice in se šli igrat. Delali smo kepe, nekateri so se sankali, nekateri pa smu- čali. Bilo je lepo, toda snega to zimo ni veliko.
Lepo Te pozdravlja

Andreja Zaper

Draga Andreja!
Jaz sem vesel, da snega ni. Tako hudo reven sem to zimo, zdej je toplo kakor spomladi, nato pa mraz tak, da se mi drevice smili. Kar naprej sem smrkav in kašljam in kreham, da je groza. S silo tiščim dušo nazaj, pa ne vem, kako dolgo bo šlo tako. Uh, na zimo ne bi rad šel s tega sveta! Na pomlad je vse lepše.

Pridna ostani in lep pozdrav!

Dragi Kotičkov stric!

To je moje tretje pismo. Mo sredi zime, snega pa še ni bilo veliko. Za božične praznike so mi starši kupili posebno snežno obleko. Samo enkrat sem jo o- blekla. Za nas otroke taka zima ni, ker se radi sankamo. Se o- bleko bom prerasla. Mislim, da Vam ne bom zamerila, ker si že- lim snega. Vem, da Vi rajše se- dite pri topli pečici in grejete premrzle kosti. Ko se malo o- greje, se Vam še oglašim. Vem da Vas bom našla pri boljši vo- lji kakor pa v zimskem času.
Vas lepo pozdravlja

Nancy Drobnič

Draga Nancy!
Vsaj usmiljenje imaš z menoj in to je lepo. Res, kar naprej se tiščim pečice in še ponoči vsta- jam, da kakšen oklešček vržem na žerjavico. Stare kosti so menda res votle. Če mi boš pi- sala, ko se vreme ogreje, me boš našla pri dobri volji. Zanjč sem gledal že mačice na vrtu. Popki so se napeli kakor otro- ška usteca, ki se za smeh pri- pravljajo. Potlej je pa tisti mraz pritisnil in šlo je veselje. Zdej je spet hudo revno na vrtiču. O, da bi le rože spet bile in da bi lahko bos stopil v mehko tra- vo!

Hvala Ti za pisemce, Nancy, in lepo Te pozdravljam.

Dragi Kotičkov stric!

Sem učenec petega razreda slovenske šole. V slovensko šolo hodim k Sv. Vidu. Ne hodim preveč rad, toda ubogati moram starše, ki hočejo, da se dobro naučim slovensko. Vem, da imajo prav in da bom v poznejših le- tih ponosen, ker bom slovensko znal. Če prideva kdaj skupaj, se bova lahko po slovensko pogo- varjala.

Lepo Vas pozdravlja
Danny Grdadolnik

Dragi Danny!
Lepo je, da starše bogaš in da hodiš v slovensko šolo, čeprav včasih nerad. Koliko je stvari na tem svetu, ki jih nimamo ra- di, pa jih naredimo, ker so nam v korist. Le pomisli, da morda kdaj prideš do moje šende in seveda na klop v vrtiču. Po do- mače se bova lahko menila. Vem, da nama bo beseda tekla. Ti mi kaj poveš iz svojega ži- vljenja in jaz iz svojega. Nič ko- liko starih zgodb poznam. Da le pomlad pride in da mi v vrtiču rože zaženo. Ne pozabi!
Hvala Ti za pozdrave, tudi jaz Ti jih pošiljam.

Se nekaj pisemc imam, tako, da bo Kotiček spet drug teden. Hvala vsem, ki ste se me spom- nili in z najlepšimi pozdravi ostajam Vaš Kotičkov stric

ALEXANDRE DUMAS:

Grof Monte Cristo

Posledica tega je bila, ko je naš prišlec zapuščal s svojim ciceronom hotel, da jima je sledil neki mož, ne da bi ga opazila, ter ostal v njuni bližini z izurjenostjo pariškega policijskega špijona.

Francozu se je tako mudilo na obisk k tvrdki Thomson in French, da ni imel niti časa čakati na voz, ampak je naročil, naj pride za njim.

Prišedši k banki, Francoz vstopi.

Zajedno z njim vstopi mož, ki jima je sledil; tujec pozvoni in dospe v prvo sobo, senca stori isto.

"Gospoda Thomson in French?" vpraša tujec.

Na znamenje komija, ki je delal v prvi sobi, se dvigne nekak lakaj.

"Koga javim?" vpraša lakaj, pripravljen, da odkoraka pred tujcem.

"Gospoda barona Danglarsa," odvrne popotnik.

"Pojdite!" pravi lakaj.

Vrata se odpro; lakaj in baron izgineta za njimi. Mož, ki je vstopil za Danglarsom, sede na klop, namenjeno čakalcem.

Komi kakih pet minut piše naprej. Tekom teh petih minut mož na klopi ne zine besedice in se ne zgane.

Nato komi preneha pisati, dvigne glavo, se pazljivo ozre okoli sebe, in prepričavi se, da sta s prišlecem sama, pravi:

"Ah, ah, ti tukaj, Peppino?"

"Da," odvrne ta lakonično.

"Ali si pri tem debelem možu zvohal kaj dobrega?"

"To ni moja zasluga, ker smo obveščeni."

"Torej veš, kaj tu hoče?"

"No, da; da si izplačati vsoto denarja, samo ne vem, kako visoko."

"To izveš takoj, prijatelj."

"Prav, toda ne stori kakor zadnjič, ko si mi imenoval naplačno vsoto!"

"Kaj hočeš reči in o kom govoriš? Ali misliš na tega Angleža, ki je prišel zadnjič po tri tisoč tolarjev?"

"Ne, ta je imel res tri tisoč tolarjev, in ti so nam prišli v roke. V mislih imam ruskega princa."

"No?"

"No, ti si govoril o trideset tisoč librah in mi smo jih dobili le dvajset tisoč."

"Gotovo ste slabo iskali."

"Luigi Vampa ga je osebno preiskal."

"V tem slučaju je morda plačal dolgove."

"Rus?"

"Ali svoj denar zapravlja?"

"To je mogoče."

"To je gotovo. Toda zdaj me pusti, da odidem v svojo opazovalnico; kajti sicer Francoz opravi svojo zadevo, ne da bi izvedel za vsoto."

Peppino prikima v znamenje, da se strinja, vzame iz žepa mulek ter prične mrmrati neko molitev, dočim izgine komi skozi ista vrata, skozi katera je sluga odpeljal barona.

Za kakih deset minut se komi vrne, žareč veselja.

"Torej?" vpraša Peppino svojega prijatelja.

"Izvrstno, izvrstno!" odvrne komi. "Vsota je okrogla."

"Da; ti to veš?"

"Na pobotnico Njegove Ekscelence grofa Monte Crista."

"Ti grofa poznaš?"

"In ta pobotnica velja za Rim, Benetke in Dunaj."

"Tako je," vsklikne komi. "Na kak način veš vse to tako dobro?"

"Rekel sem ti, da smo bili obveščeni naprej."

"Zakaj si se potem obrnil na me?"

"Da bi se prepričal, če je to mož, s katerim imamo opraviti."

"Je on, je... Pet milijonov; to je lepa vsota, kaj, Peppino?"

"Da."

"Toliko mi ne bomo imeli nikdar."

"Vsaj nekaj drobtin od tega bomo imeli," odvrne Peppino filozofično.

"Pst! Tu je najin mož!"

Komi vzame svoje pero, Peppino svoj mulek; ko se odpro vrata, prvi piše, in drugi moli.

Danglars vstopi žare veselja, spremlja ga bankir, ki gre z njim do vrat.

Za Danglarsom odide tudi Peppino.

Voz, ki ga je naročil Danglars, je stal pred vrati. Cicerone mu odpre vrata kočije; cicerone je vobče zelo postrežljiv in da se rabiti za vse mogoče.

Danglars skoči na voz s prožnostjo dvajsetletnega mladeniča.

"Ali hočete videti Svetega Petra, Eksclenca?" vpraša cicerone.

"Zakaj?" vpraša baron.

"Vraga, da si ga pogledate."

"Nisem prišel, da bi ogledoval Rim," pravi Danglars glasno; nato pa pristavi s smehljajem čisto tiho: "Prišel sem po denar."

In pri tem pogladi svojo listnico, v katero je pravkar vtaknil pismo.

"Torej se peljete, Eksclenca?"

"V hotel."

"V hotel Pastrini," pravi cicerone kočijažu.

Cicerone zapre vrata in sede na kozla.

Peppino zleze zadej na kočijo. Za deset minut vstopi baron v svojo sobo, a Peppino zašepče enemu izmed že prej imenovanih radovednežev in postopačev na uho nekaj besed, na kar odide ta kar najhitreje proti Kapitolu ter se Peppino udobno zlekne na klop pred hotelom.

Danglars je bil truden, zadovoljen, da je dosegel svoj namen, in zaspan. Listnico si torej položi pod glavo in zaspi.

Peppino je imel dovolj časa. Igral je s fakini, izgubil tri tolarje in za tolažbo izpil steklenico orvietskega vina.

Drugo jutro se Danglars prebudi pozno. Ker mu je bilo, kakor že rečeno, malo na tem, da bi si ogledal znamenitosti mesta, naroči po dobrem zajutreku za opoldne pošne konje.

Toda Danglars je računil brez formalitet policije in brez poštarja.

Konji so prišli šele ob dveh, in vizirani potni list mu je prinesel cicerone šele po tretji uri.

Vse te priprave so privabile pred hotel mojstra Pastrinja in veliko množico gledalcev.

Imenovanih potomcev Graha in Marija seveda ni manjkalo.

Baron je triumfujoče stopal med temi skupinami, ki so ga imenovala Eksclenco, da bi dobile od njega kak belič.

Kakor je znano, je bil Danglars zelo popularen človek; ta naslov Eksclenca mu je ugajal, in zato razdeli med nje nekaj drobiža.

"Po kateri cesti?" ga vpraša postiljon italijanski.

"V Ancono," odvrne baron.

Mojster Pastrini prevede vprašanje in odgovor, in voz se v diru odpelje.

Danglars se je nameraval najprej vstaviti v Benetkah in tam naložiti del svojega denarja, nato pa oditi na Dunaj ter tam realizirati ostanek.

Na Dunaju je sklenil živeti, ker se mu je reklo, da je to mesto zabave.

Komaj prevozi kake tri milje na rimski campagni, ko napoči noč. Danglars ni pričakoval, da bo potoval tako počasi. Vpraša torej postiljona, kako daleč je do prvega mesta.

"Non capisco," odvrne postiljon.

Danglars pokima z glavo kakor da hoče reči: "Izvrstno!"

Voz nadaljuje svojo pot. "Na prvi postaji se vstavi si pravi Danglars."

ZDRAVKO NOVAK

Vsemogočni Večni Bog, ki si poklical k Sebi svojega služabnika, našega ljubljeneža moža in očeta, prosimo Te, bodi bogat plačnik vsem, ki so se ga kakorkoli spomnili v njegovem trpljenju, ob njegovi smrti, ob pogrebu in v svojih molitvah.

Draga pokojnika smo pokopali dne 1. decembra na pokopališču Vernih duš v Chardon, Ohio. (All Souls Sect. 26 - Lot 435.) V pogrebnem spredu smo ga spremili iz Grdinovega pogrebnega zavoda v cerkev Marije Vnebovzete na Holmes Avenue, Cleveland, kjer se je darovala za pokoj njegove duše koncelebrirana peta sveta maša in pogrebni obredi.

Naša iskrena zahvala in Bog plačaj gospodom duhovnikom, ki so skupno darovali pogrebno sveto mašo: dr. Pavlu Krajniku, misijonarju Jožetu Cukali in župniku Francetu Gabru. Č. g. P. ## R. Perk calls ethnic society America's beautiful mozaic

by MADELINE DEBEVEC

The first testimonial for Mayor Ralph Perk took place Jan. 16 at the Slovenian National Home, 6417 St. Clair Ave. It was sponsored by the Citizens for Perk Committee with John Susnik as chairman.

"The Slovenians' devotion to God and nation have leveled a stabilizing effect on our country," Perk noted.

"Our parents told us not to be afraid of hard work, or being poor, and said don't be afraid to dream.

"I had a dream," he confessed. "All my life it has been my dream to be mayor of Cleveland. But the dream will not be complete until Cleveland is the greatest city ever."

"I remember when I started my campaign for office back in 1965. Tony Zak and Hinko Lobe (both now deceased) were there along with Joe Nemanich, John Susnik, and Tony Petkovsek. We walked along the streets and by the lake and talked how we could better the city. I bet those who have passed on are saying, 'Well done all of you'."

Perk also talked about the ethnic society. He said, "All of us are Americans and cherish our heritage. The melting pot theory is not recognized so much anymore.

"We have chosen as free citizens to make the nation stronger; and at the same time honor our heritage.

"This is the beautiful American mozaic."

The mayor continued on in this vein of thought. "As we preserve our heritage, we strengthen America. The teachings of honesty, the teachings of religion are the stabilizing control on our nation."

"To bring hope and unity to this city are the number one objectives of my dream."

The 550 persons gathered that cold blustery Sunday evening were there to wish Cleveland's new mayor a sincere happy birthday.

It was celebrated a few days early, he was 58 on Jan. 19. Eddie Kenik led the singing of the birthday song and presented the mayor with a plaque commemorating the happy event.

The huge cake that was rolled on stage had 12 candles and 6 sparklers on it. It was baked by Sally Jo Furlich.

A gigantic 5-foot long card, signed by everyone in attendance, was presented to Perk by Alice Kuhar, secretary of Citizens for Perk.

Tony Petkovsek was master of ceremonies and recalled happy events in the mayor's life with the help of tape recordings made by Dave Evans, recording specialist.

President Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew sent telegrams of best wishes along with former mayor and senator, Frank J. Lausche.

Past Cleveland Press newspaper editor Louis B. Seltzer was the main speaker and praised Perk saying he will be, "One of the best mayors in my lifetime."

Duke Marsic provided the music and a Glasbena Matica trio, the Cleveland Junior Tamburitians and the Monicsecko singing group, provided the entertainment.

Edmund Turk, Cleveland City Council President, presented a proclamation signed by the entire council extending sincere wishes for a happy birthday.

Perk's pal, Councilman Dennis Kucinich, was there with his wife, Helen, and received almost as much applause as the mayor.

Also introduced in the audience were County Auditor George Voinovich, and Sheriff Ralph Krieger, along with many, many others.

Zeno Zak, an officer of the committee, said the big party was "To celebrate Perk's victory last November and wish him continued success in the future."

It was the first testimonial held for Cleveland's new mayor, and he and his wife, Lucille, and seven children enjoyed being with their ethnic friends.

CLEVELAND FIREFIGHTERS SEEK MANY MORE QUALIFIED MEN

The Association of Cleveland Fire Fighters announced the launching of a recruitment and training program designed to provide qualified members of returning veterans, minority groups, and others with assistance in preparing for the Cleveland Fire Dept. appointment exams.

The announcement was made in the offices of President John A. Gannon of the Association of Cleveland Fire Fighters, Local 93, I.A.F.F.

"We feel that this program offers us an exceptional opportunity to be of assistance to returning veterans and to persons from poverty areas and others who might not otherwise seek fire fighter jobs," Gannon said.

"It is our hope to help at least 100 persons to prepare successfully for the Cleveland Fire Fighters exams in the coming 10 months."

The Cleveland program is one of 12 to be undertaken by the fire fighter local unions under a program launched recently by the I.A.F.F. The program is funded by a $435,000 U.S. Dept. of Labor grant.

Under the program, firefighters instructors, serving under a full-time project director, will prepare applicants for civil service exams which make up the fire fighter selection service.

1972 will be exciting year for voters; schedule cites presidential election

At the beginning of a new year, and a year which will be a major election year, let us look for a moment at the 1972 election schedule.

The first important election date is Feb. 2.

At that time candidates must file their petitions for the various offices to be filled in 1972 elections.

This includes both party candidates, who will run in the primary, and independent candidates.

The second important date is May 2. That is the date of the primary election.

On that date voters will nominate party candidates for the offices of the United States Representatives to Congress, three Justices of the Ohio Supreme Court, State Senators and Representatives, and for most county offices.

In addition, they will elect delegates to the Republican and Democratic National Conventions, the delegates who will meet later in the summer to nominate candidates for President of the United States.

Lastly, on May 2 the voters will elect the members of the state and county central committees of the two political parties.

During the summer the political parties will hold their national nominating conventions. They will select candidates for President and Vice President.

About September 1 the political campaigns will begin in earnest, looking toward the general election.

The general election will be on Nov. 7.

The Tribe will be wearing last year's colors throughout spring training, and will don the double-knits on Opening Day at Milwaukee against the Brewers, April 7th.

Rather than have no party for his daughter, he invited nine other fathers to help him. They staged a lively party for 10 children with no mothers in sight.

"Keep your cool" this winter was the advice issued by the man who should know about keeping cool, the Secretary of the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council, Raymond Prince.

Prince, whose job involves coordinating the Council's annual winter driving test project at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, said that safe winter driving is largely a matter of "keeping cool" under trying circumstances.

"Safe driving during winter weather conditions requires the same skills and precautions that are demanded at any time of the year — plus the added difficulty of coping with inadequate traction and reduced visibility," Prince pointed out.

He said that few drivers realize or compensate for the extremely poor traction on ice and snow-covered pavements until they get into a real tight spot.

"The Council's tests have shown, for example, that the braking distance on glare ice may be as much as nine or ten times the normal dry pavement distance, meaning that it can take from 150 to 200 feet to stop after applying the brakes at a speed of only 20 mph," Prince noted. "In contrast, the normal braking distance at this speed on dry pavement is only about 17 feet."

Whenever the pavement is slippery, and especially when you think it may be but don't know for sure, Prince advised that the first thing a driver should do to "keep his cool" is to get the "feel" of the road. This can be done by trying the brakes or "gunning" the engine momentarily to see whether the wheels skid or spin. If the car has any tendency to skid or "fish-tail," then it's time to slow way down and do all maneuvering — steering, braking and accelerating — with a delicate touch.

"If you do find that the pavement is slippery," he continued, "then you should increase your distance to give yourself adequate room to slow down or steer out of trouble."

Other suggestions for winter driving: 1. "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop—don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action three to five times per second keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.

2. Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires. Studded snow tires offer still more help on icy surfaces.

3. Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car for use during severe snow and ice conditions. They provide 4 to 7 times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.

4. Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace streaking wiper blades. Be sure that your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

TWO HUNDRED YEARS OF MUSICAL GREATNESS

New York, N.Y. (ED) — "Music should strike fire from the heart of man, and bring tears from the eyes of woman." And so it does when written by Ludwig van Beethoven.

Believing this was one of the purposes of music, Beethoven overcame major obstacles to compose some of the world's greatest music, much of it while he was totally deaf.

Beethoven was more than a great composer — he was a great individualist. And it is this quality that enabled him to transcend and bridge the Classical and Romantic periods. More so than any other composer, he freed music and musicians from servile status, and broke the confines and artificial restraint of the Classical. Beethoven's subjectivity and free spirit of expression are what gave him the freedom of a romanticist.

Beethoven's deafness is a legend in itself. But it's entirely conjectural to what extent his deafness affected the nature of his music by throwing him upon his own inner resources.

It did, however, give him the reputation among friends and enemies of being a madman.

He first noticed his hearing problem in 1798, but he managed to keep it from his closest friends until 1812. In the summer of 1802, he wrote the tortured confession of his tragedy known as the "Heiligenstadt Testament." And, as he told his doctor, he would "take fate by the throat," refusing to become the pitiable object — a deaf composer.

His deafness did not stop him from becoming the greatest musician of all time. He wrote his famous Ninth Symphony at a time when his deafness was total and he had to keep a slate near him on which remarks could be chalked.

Even before his deafness became total, Beethoven realized he was writing music for a later age. And, today, he has certainly become one of the most popular composers. In many homes, his name is immediately linked to the world's great music. In order for more people to enjoy Beethoven's work, Time-Life Records has developed a Beethoven Bicentennial Collection that is a vast and comprehensive collection of his musical compositions.

Beethoven's music reflects some remarkable features of style that reveal his character, and it is these features that set him apart from the rest of the world. Of the over-all features, his profoundness of emotional content is the most important.

Beethoven also instilled a great sense of humor into his music, but it was a gruff, rustic and profound sense of humor that differed from both Mozart and Haydn. The abrupt changes of emotion and his impulsiveness that many regarded as the tendencies of a madman are another characteristic that make him great.

To conceive of a mortal composing music — some of the world's greatest — while he was steadily losing his hearing, is almost beyond human imagination.

Whether he took the torment inside him and turned it into great music, or whether he used his great sensitivity to compose music that would be enjoyed centuries after his birth, no one can really say. You can only admire and love his work.

Beethoven was born Dec. 16, 1770, and to mark his bicentennial, people all round the world are paying homage to him and his music. Special concerts and arrangements, and a retinue of the world's greatest contemporary musicians are celebrating his music.

The German cities of Bonn, Vienna and Munich held festivals. Both the Vienna and Berlin Philharmonics planned special concerts to honor the great composer. In the United States, orchestras from coast to coast celebrated Beethoven's bicentennial. For those who want to enjoy the music at home, Time-Life Records has arranged a special Beethoven Bicentennial Collection that includes most of his major works.

Beethoven's life was one of struggle — a struggle against odds insurmountable by most people. His life as a composer has been divided into sections, and each period of his composing life is an indication of his own dedication.

His great emotion which is so vividly portrayed in his works was also an integral part of his life. This freedom of emotion is exemplified by a persistent legend. At one time Beethoven was considering dedicating one of his works to Napoleon until he heard that Napoleon had proclaimed himself emperor. The famous quote of Beethoven's is: "Now he too will trample on the rights of man, and indulge only his own ambition." And any Beethoven lover will recognize this freedom within his music. Strangely enough, this bit of humanism played an interesting role in World War II underground, when the first few notes of his Fifth Symphony represented the victory "V".

Whatever way you choose to celebrate Beethoven's bicentennial, you cannot refuse to admit that he was—and is—the greatest musician of all times, and will continue to be such for many centuries to come.
