

"The Mascot" Presented by Glasbena Matica in S. N. D.

Day after tomorrow will be the day that Glasbena Matica Singing Society will present the operetta "Mascot". The performance will begin at 7 o'clock in the evening so be on hand early. In the third act, Pippo is made captain in the war of Prince Frederic against Lorenzo, but only because he has Bettina (who is disguised as a soldier) the Mascot at his side. He leads Prince Frederic's forces to many victories. In the opening scene, the war is about to close, Capt. Pippo appears with Bettina, as his orderly, makes known her identity to the prince and his soldiers, and asks his consent to their immediate marriage, which the prince grants. Lorenzo, Fiametta (disguised as wandering musicians) and Rocco now make their appearance and in a concert with a chorus of soldiers sing the "Orang-Outang" song. Rocco schemes to obtain Bettina but fails, and everything ends happily. The leading characters are played and sung by, Carolyn Budan, Josephine Milavec-Levstek, Frank Bradac, John Noman, Wencel Frank, Frank Plut, while in minor roles you will have the pleasure of hearing Dorothy Svigel, Ann Safred, Tony, Podobnik and Anton Eppich. Mr. Ivan Zorman is directing the operetta, while men from the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra and our own pianist, Vera Milavec-Slejko will furnish all the music accompaniment. This good music, combined with the many brilliant voices, promises to make this operetta a success. Don't forget! Curtain—7 p. m.

GOVERNOR LAUSCHE CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Democratic candidate for re-election, has hit the campaign trail in full stride although he has announced that his campaign will be as limited as usual in the expenditure of campaign funds.

"This restriction made in regard to campaign funds has been chosen by me because I want to be my own master in my second term as I have been in my first," the governor told the convention. In his campaign the governor cited as chief accomplishments of his administration the creation of six new hospitals for the mentally ill, increasing of pension benefits to the needy aged of the state, defense of the public from the sellers of worthless securities, payment of workmen's compensation checks more speedily, a continual campaign against gambling and other lawless practices, establishment of sound business practices in the liquor department.

For his second term in office the governor has pledged himself to carry a fight for a state bonus for veterans to the people of Ohio, to recommend to the legislature that more money be given schools to permit higher pay for teachers, to increase workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance benefits, to provide higher pay for state employees.

The governor also has pledged himself to campaign for enactment in Ohio of a fair employment practices act. The governor has been for years a crusader for elimination of practices based on differences in race, religion, or color.

RE-ELECT GOVERNOR FRANK J. LAUSCHE

Tuesday, Nov. 5th will be Election Day. It is the sacred duty of every eligible citizen to vote that day. Let's not fail.

Governor Frank J. Lausche is up for re-election. His political opponent is providing stubborn resistance and predicting his defeat. We who know Frank Lausche do not believe this propaganda. It would be repetition on my part to tell you why he should be re-elected. All one has to do is to read the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press.

Two years ago when Frank J. Lausche ran for governor he received approximately 8000 votes in Ward 23 to his opponent's 1000. This time we want to make it 10 to 1. It can be done and will be done if you as a citizen perform your duty and see that your neighbor does his.

23rd WARD DEMOCRATIC CLUB

Married at Double Ring Ceremony

St. Mary's Church, Holmes Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, was the scene of the wedding on Saturday, October 26, 1946, of Miss Jane Mary Pryately, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pryately, 411 Depot Street, Conneaut, Ohio, to Mr. Joseph J. Novak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Novak, 793 East 154th Street, Cleveland, Ohio. Rev. Joseph F. Celesnik officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 9:30 a. m. The two altar vases were filled with white baby mums, and ferns decorated the communion rail.

Miss Betty Raddell sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," while the bride placed a bouquet at the feet of the Blessed Mother. Mr. Rakar, a friend of the groom's, accompanied Miss Raddell at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin, featuring a scroll neckline and net yoke. Her long sleeves came to a point

Churchill Sues Adamic

According to Walter Winchell's broadcast October 21st, Winston Churchill is filing a suit for libel against Louis Adamic and his publishers, Harper and Bros., for what Adamic says about the British wartime Prime Minister in his book "Dinner at the White House."

So far as we know, Adamic and his publishers have as yet made no public comment on this development, which is expected to be a matter of considerable importance. The book "Dinner at the White House" is a best-seller in a number of American cities, including Washington.

Comrades Bowlers' Ball—

In response to many requests, Comrades are staging their annual bowling ball on Friday, Nov. 8th, 8:15 p. m. at the S.N.H. on St. Clair Ave. Popular Johnny Vadal and his orchestra will supply the music. Friday nights are getting to be very popular with the dancing crowd and a good number is expected. The night of the 8th. As the girls are bowling that night, non-bowlers are expected to be on hand to help the affair a Comrades success. You're invited to attend.

Dues—

If some of the Comrades do not find the secretary at home to pay their dues they can drop in at Fifolt's Card and Gift Shoppee, 6021 Superior Ave. As conditions permit a complete line of Norcross greeting cards, gifts, toys, electrical appliances will be handled. Radio and appliance repair work also taken in.

General—

Baby girls for Alice and Joe Wukovich, ditto Ed and Fran Tomsic. Congratulations.

Frank Ross' 259 game caused a lot of excitement recently.

Telenews Theatre

Telenews modern facilities now makes it possible to bring the latest world news to our patrons, one day earlier. The new program will begin on Thursday at 5:00 p. m. A complete new program every Thursday at 5 p. m. New schedule effective October 31.

An illuminating inside story on the future of Czechoslovakia is graphically revealed in March of Time's latest release, "The Soviet's Neighbor—Czechoslovakia", beginning on the new program at the Telenews this week.

Today, the Czech Communist Party is the largest political party in the state, with 114 of the 300 seats in the new constituent assembly. In Czechoslovakia "State Property" is marked on all key factories and commercial establishments which are run by workers' councils under state-appointed managers. The huge world-famous Skoda armament works is nationalized.

"The Soviet's Neighbor—Czechoslovakia" is crammed with such extraordinary scenes as the downfall and eventual hanging of Karl Hermann Frank, Hitler's destroyer of Lidice.

Current newsreels feature the opening of the United Nations General Assembly in New York. President Truman is shown making the keynote address in which he states that "the fears of another world war are unwarranted and unjustified."

Air Mail Rates Reduced to Foreign Countries—Nov. 1

With the domestic mail rate already reduced from 8 cents to 5 cents per ounce, the Post Office Department now announces sharp reductions in the foreign air mail rate to become effective Nov. 1, 1946.

The new rates are as follows: (For half ounce) Yugoslavia, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Bulgaria the rate is 15 cents. The old rate was 30 cents.

Rates for other countries may be obtained from your local post office.

JUGOSLAV DELEGATES TO UNITED NATIONS

Jugoslavia's entire delegation to the United Nations General Assembly will total 37 members. The delegates are: Stanoye Simich, Sava N. Kosanovich, Ales Bebler, Vlado Popovich and Ljubo Leontich. Alternate delegates are: Dimitrije Vlahov, Milan Bartush, Stane Krasevec, Leo Mattes and Dushan Petrovic Sane.

U. S. TO ALLOT FUNDS FOR SCHOOL LUNCHES

Washington—Some 8,000,000 boys and girls will get school lunches this year under the National School Lunch program, the Department of Agriculture said in announcing the agreements to operate the plan had been signed with all the 48 States.

The department is empowered under an act signed last July by President Truman to allot funds to the States on a matching basis for the children attending 46,000 public and non-profit private schools.

at the wrist, and her bodice was a long, fitted basque from which fell her long, full skirt and train. A tiara of orange blossoms held a finger-tip veil of illusion, edged in lace. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and white baby pom-poms.

Miss Mary Orenick was her maid-of-honor, wearing a delicate pink gown with a fitted velvet bodice featuring a scalloped sweetheart neckline and scalloped three-quarter length sleeves; a full skirt of spider-web net and taffeta came out from under the scalloped velvet. On her head was a pink velvet braid with pink flowers on the ends and a shoulder-length, spider-web net veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of red carnations and white baby pom-poms, set off with pink streamers. The bridesmaids were Misses Irma Stavanja, Frances Brate, Lillian Korosec, and Mary Karnzia, who wore soft blue gowns made on the same lines as that of Miss Orenick. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and blue baby pom-poms, set off with blue streamers.

Mr. Michael Anzlin was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Rudolph and Anthony Pryately, brothers of the bride. Ignatius Novak, and Michael Brozina.

A reception was held in the evening at the Slovenian Workmen's Home, Waterloo Road, Cleveland, Ohio. Dinner was served to about five hundred guests, including many friends from Pennsylvania and Indiana. The Miklavic Orchestra furnished the music in the evening. While Mr. Strekel accompanied the bridal party in the afternoon in their visits to many friends and relatives.

Mrs. Pryately wore a black crepe dress with vari-colored embroidered flowers, trimmed with white lace at the neckline and sleeve-edges. On her shoulder was a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. Novak wore a black crepe dress with pink embroidered bow-knots, and she also wore red carnations.

A three-tier bridal cake was the centerpiece, while on either end were pink and blue cakes for the attendants. The colonial bouquets lent additional sparkle to the table.

In true Slovenian tradition, the bride's veil was taken off at midnight while the guests, led by the Ilirja Singing Society (of which the groom is a member) sang, and a toast was raised to the bride and groom.

Immediately after the reception, the couple left for a three-week motor trip to Virginia, Florida, and Illinois. A soft grey, wool crepe dress and three-quarter length, squirrel-trimmed red coat with black accessories made up the bride's going away outfit. On their return, they will reside with the groom's parents.

Miss Pryately was graduated from Conneaut High School and worked with the General Electric Company in Cleveland. She is the secretary of Mercury Club No. 63, Conneaut, S. D. Z. Fraternal Organization, and is also a member of the Supreme Board of that organization. Mr. Novak was graduated from Collinwood High School and is employed as a meat-cutter. He was formerly a staff-sergeant with the Ohio 37th Division, and served three years in the Pacific Theatre.

FRANCE BEVK:

MED DVEMA VOJNAMA

ČRTICE IN NOVELE

(Nadaljevanje)

Zenska je naglo zaprla vrata. Leban je stal in strmel v kukalce iz medi, ki se je kot svetlo oko oziralo vanj. Ali ga ni razumela? Nemogoče! In če ga je razumela, zakaj mu je pred obrazom zaprla vrata? Ni mu dala roke, ni mu ponudila stola, da bi počakal. Mogoče pa to ni bila snaha, ampak služkinja... Počakati mora do ene. Deodato! Moj Bog! Deodato! Kdo ga je krstil na to ime? Skozi vrata je prišel klic otroka: "Mama, mama!" Vnuč! To-rej je bila ona...

S težkimi koraki je odšel po stopnicah. Stopil je na ulico in zablodil po mestu. Kam naj se dene? Hodil je pol ure, a se mu je zdelo, da hodi pol večnosti. Znova je prečel drobiž, stopil v najbližjo kavarno, naročil črno kavo in gledal skozi okno. Mimo so hiteli valovi ljudi. "Kam ti ljudje tako hitijo?" se je vprašal. Vsak izmed njih ima svoje opravke, denar, radosti, bolečine in skrbi.

Oglasile so se sirene. Poldan. Mladež se je usula iz šol, se smejala razposajena, postajala pred izložbami, pred reklamnimi tablami kinogledišč. Rafael se je nasmihal, ko jo je gledal, pomladilo se mu je srce. Obšli so ga veseli spomini iz šole, sami veseli spomini, vse grenkobe so bile pozabljene, razen poslednje... Po ulicah so hiteli nameščenci iz trgovin, tovarniški delavci, uradniki in strojepiske. Ni bilo konca vrvenja... Ura je kazala eno.

Leban je želel, da najde sina na cesti ali na stopnicah. Ni ga našel.

Odprla mu je ista ženska kot predpoldnem. Le bele avbice ni imela več na laseh, ki so bili nažgani v valovite kodre.

"Kaj želite?" ga je vprašala, kakor da se ga več ne spominja.

"Božidar... Prej ste rekli, da bo ob enih. Njegov oče... tako mu recite..."

Gospa je odprla polovico vrat in se ozrla.

"Dato! Tu je že drugič nekdo, ki pravi, da je tvoj oče."

Božidar je stal na drugem koncu ozkega hodnika. Oče ga je videl, kako se ga starejši otrok oklepa okrog nog, mlajšega pa je držal v naročju. Da, bil je on. Ista postava, rdečkasti lasje, neopredeljivi pogled. Stal je kot soha in gledal naravnost vanj. Rafael se je namsmehnil, hotel stopiti bliže in reči: "Ne poznaš me več? Pozdrav od matere!" Sin ga je prehitel.

"Kakšen oče. Zapri vrata, Irma! Zapri vrata!"

Vrata so se zaprla, ključ je zarožljajal. Leban je stal na mestu. Če bi bil hotel oditi, bi tedaj ne mogel narediti koraka. Deodato! On ga je ključal za Božidara in bi mu nazadnje ne zameril, ako je spremenil ime. Oženil se je z Italijanko — kako bi mogel ukazovati njegovemu srcu! Cila ima bolnega Napolitanca za moža, trpi, a se zaradi ljubezni ne pritožuje. In če bi tudi sin govoril z njim v tujem jeziku, bi ga to sicer bolelo, a bi mu bil za besedo "padre" stokrat hvaležen. Tako pa ga je zatajil, kakor da ga nikoli ni bilo. Kot udarci kladiva po glavi so mu zvenele besede: "Ma che padre! Irma, chiudi la porta!"

Bilo mu je jasno, stokrat jasno: zavrgel je rod in jezik, očeta in mater. Ob žgoči resnici, ki jo je doživel in spoznal v najtežji uri, se mu je zvijala duša. Tega sina je on vzgojil. Bilo mu je grenko do joka, a je žalost potlačil vase. Obšel ga je divji srd na sina, ki se je sam izločil iz rodu in zatrl čustvo do roditelja.

Udaril jš s pestjo po vratih, da je zabobnelo. "Prekleti! Prekleti! Sramuj se v dno duše, prekleti!" Začutil je omotico, da so se mu zašibila kolena in se je moral opreti na steno. V stanovanju je bilo vse tiho. Zbral je moči in žalosten, razsrjen odšel po stopnicah, palica mu je pela: "Prekleti! Prekleti! Sramuj se v dno duše, prekleti..." Kri v sencih: "Prekleti!"

Ko se je Leban vrnil domov, je že s filozofsko mirnostjo gledal na svojo bolečino. S smehljajem na obrazu je stopil do žene, ki je menila, da ji prinaša dobre novice. Toda Rafaelove oči niso mogle lagati, njihov blesk jo je preplašil.

"Kaj je z Božidarom?"

Leban se je varal, ko je mislil, da je že po poti vse prebolel, zdaj je planilo drugič iz njega. Povedal je v nekaj besedah, vrgel klobuk v kot in za njim palico. Stiskal je pesti in vzdihovaje hodil po sobi, kakor da mu hoče raznesti prsa.

Žena dolgo ni mogla razumeti, a ko je doumela, se je pomračila. Zadrževala je solze in krčevito stiskala ustnice, nato se je okrenila v steno.

To je bilo možu ljubo. Težko bi mu bilo gledati njen obraz in oči, še težje odgovarjati na njena vprašanja.

Rezi je poslušala možovo hojo iz sobe v sobo, iz sobe v kuhinjo. Pobral je bil palico in klobuk, oboje je položil na stolič. Slišala je šumenje papirja. Kaj venomer urejuje, kaj neprestano sežiga? Nekdo je potrkal. Roman je prinesel časnike.

Napolitanec je bil tisti dan ves prepaden, darovana stotaka ga nista več tako veselila. Počutil se je slabo. Rafael ga je tolažil, da je temu krivo vreme; pripravljalo se je na dež. No, da, vreme! Roman se je grenko nasmihal. Zopet bo moral v bolnišnico. Leban ga zlepa ni videl tako potrtega. Kakor da ga je bolezen vsega zmečkala, mu je iztresel dušo tako do dna in se mu odkril, kakor se ni razodel niti Cila.

"Gospod učitelj, življenje me tepe, kakor nisem zaslužil. Kri sem prelival, bil sem vedno v prvih vrstah, na cesti, pri delu, zmeraj tik za zastavo. Danes vidim, da je na zemlji prostora le za zdrave, močne ljudi, bolniki so obsojeni na smrt. Kaj bosta tista dva stotaka, ko pa sem žrtvoval za tisočake in tisočake! Zopet moram v bolnišnico in zopet bom prišel domov, dokler se nekega dne ne bo končalo. Kako naj ozdravim, ko pa toľčem revščino? Okužil sem ženo, okužil bom tudi otroke...

Že stokrat sem sklenil, da sam naredim temu konec. Toda za to je treba imeti moči, jaz pa je nimam... Gospod Leban." Prenehal je iznenada, kakor da se je stoprav tedaj zavedal, kaj govori. Oči so mu gorele, v lica mu je dahnila rdečica.

Rafael je ves zavzet stal pred njim. Najrajši bi ga bil objel kot brata ali sina in ga privil na prsi. Enako mislita, enako trpita...
