V preteklih treh letih smo se v reviji Igra ustvarjalnosti spopadali z začetniškimi težavami, ki spremljajo vsako novo publikacijo. Z veseljem ugotovljamo, da so bili naši prvi koraki uspešni, kljub temu pa si želimo še večje prepoznavnosti revije v širšem prostoru. K temu lahko pripomorejo tako tisti, ki v reviji objavljajo prispevke in ji s tem dvigujejo ugled, kot tisti, ki revijo le prebirajo in s tem širijo njen vpliv.

Letošnjo številko zaznamujejo vsebinsko heterogeni prispevki, ki na eni strani odgovarjajo na vprašanja o vlogi in pomenu javnega odprtega prostora v mestih tako v povezavi s centralnimi dejavnostmi kot v povezavi s trajnostnim prometnim načrtovanjem, na drugi strani pa se nanašajo tako na urejanje podeželskega prostora kot na revitalizacijo degradiranih urbanih območij. Želimo opozoriti tudi na članek, ki poudarja vlogo pedagoškega dela v terciarnem izobraževanju, ki mora biti usmerjeno predvsem v motiviranje študentov za globinski študij.

Strokovni del revije je znova namenjen predstavitvi delavnic in projektov, ki kažejo na širok razpon vsebin, ki jih obravnavajo študenti, kot tudi področij, s katerimi se ukvarjajo.

V zaključku letošnjega uvodnika naj spomnimo, da bomo prihodnje leto obeležili peto leto izhajanja revije, ki bo v marsičem prelomna. Še večji poudarek bomo dali kakovosti izbranih prispevkov ter objave razširili tudi v mednarodni prostor. Izkušnje želimo še naprej deliti tako na raziskovalnem kot tudi strokovnem področju, zato bomo uvedli tudi nekaj sprememb v načinu delovanja revije. Upamo, da bomo tako reviji dali dodatnega zagona in iz otroške prešli v zrelejšo, vsebinsko bolj bogato in s tem tudi odmevnejšo dobo.

Over the last three years, this journal – Igra ustvarjalnosti/Creativity Game – went through some teething problems that typically accompany each new publication. We are happy to learn that our first steps were successful, nevertheless we strive for an even wider recognition and visibility. This can be achieved both by those who publish in this journal, and thus raise its profile, as well as the readers themselves.

This year's issue features papers on very different topics that, on the one hand, address the questions related to the role and importance of public open space in cities, both in connection with central activities and sustainable transport planning and, on the other hand, cover topics such as rural planning and regeneration of brownfields. We want to draw particular attention to the paper stressing the role of teaching activities in tertiary education that must be primarily directed at motivating students to engage in deep learning.

The professional part of the journal is again devoted to workshop and project presentations, demonstrating a wide range of content and fields that the students deal with.

In conclusion, let us remind you that next year marks the fifth anniversary of our journal, which will be a milestone in several respects. We will place even more importance on the quality of the selected papers and expand the publications internationally. We want to continue sharing our experiences both in research and professionally, so we will introduce some changes in the operation of this journal. We hope that the journal will thus receive a new impetus and make a successful transition from an early stage to a more mature, richer, and thus also more visible stage.
