SLOVENIAN MORNING NEWSPAPER

Sure To Net Compliments

It's a game fish that swims upstream, an innovative cook who seeks new looks and tastes. She might rise to this bait offered by the Borden Kitchen. Spread halibut steaks with the tang of sour cream, cap with triangles of Wisconsin-American cheese slices, then ring with rosy canned tomatoes. With such an eye-appealing, palate-pleasing creation, there'll be no need to angle for kudos.

Canadian Halibut (Makes 6 servings)

- 6 halibut steaks, about 1-inch thick
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 cups (1 pint) Borden sour cream
- 2 tablespoons fresh dill weed
- 4 cups (two 1-lb. cans) stewed whole tomatoes, drained
- 8 slices (one 8-oz. pkg.) Wisconsin pasteurized process American cheese slices

Place 3 steaks in a well-greased 2-1/2 quart deep baking dish. Season with salt and pepper. Spread half of the sour cream over fish. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon dill weed. Place remaining halibut steaks atop dill weed. Top with remaining sour cream. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange drained tomatoes around outer edge of baking dish. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven 30 minutes or until tomatoes are bubbly. Remove from oven. Cut cheese slices in half diagonally. Arrange cheese triangles over top. Place in broiler about 3-4 inches from source of heat. Broil 2-3 minutes or just until cheese begins to melt. Garnish with remaining dill weed.

ALL CLOCKS TO HAVE THAT FORWARD LOOK

Daylight Savings Time goes back into effect Sunday, April 27th throughout Greater Cleveland and all Ohio. Clocks are to be moved forward one hour.

WEIRD TALE

The weirdest yarn of the spring was the settlement of Dean Chance's holdout by an outsider. He wanted the same $60,000. The club held firm at 55. Tom Granatell, wealthy sportsman and friend of Dino, put up the extra $5,000 to end the stalemate. It passed under the guise of a moonlighting fee, for later services to be rendered by Chance, but it's still a handout to baseball and makes the big leagues look cheap.

YANKEES TO BAKE CAKES FOR KIDDIES

New York, N.Y. — The transition from power to speed on the field is not the only proof that this, indeed, is the start of the new Yankee era. The Yankees, who once wouldn't think of using gimmicks to hypno the gate, are swinging the other way.

The latest gimmick is Happy Birthday parties, which appear to be a double-barreled promotion idea. Basically, it is to hypno the 1969 gate and, at the same time, hope that exposure to baseball will make fans of youngsters. Here's the way it works. If your child is expecting a birthday party, have it in Yankee Stadium. Call or write to the stadium and let them know you are coming... and they'll freeze a cake, providing there are five or more participating in the party. Yes, freeze the cake, for it is a special ice cream cake in the form of a baseball cap.

If you are among the first 100 to make reservations for a week-end game (or the first 25 for a weekday game), the Yankees hostesses will serve you and your party at your seats one hour before game time.

Everyone in the party will get special souvenir favors, while the birthday child will get a special birthday card bearing the signature of every Yankee player. To top it all off, your child's name will appear on the scoreboard.

TV GAME OF WEEK GOES ON AIR INTERNATIONALLY

NBC International also has sold live coverage of the games to Telesistema Mexicano (the Mexican television network) and both the English and French language television networks of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

BANKS AND MONEY EQUAL HR MARK

Chicago, Ill. — For only the third time in major league history, two players — Ernie Banks of the Cubs and Don Money of the Phillies — each hit two homers in the same game on opening day.

They accomplished the feat at Wrigley Field April 8, when the Cubs nosed out the Phillies, 7-6.

Babe Ruth and Sam Byrd, both of the Yankees, did it April 12, 1932, 778 students and birth certificates for an additional 139 had not been presented as required by a law passed by the 1967 Legislature.

Library Week Program

Nottingham Branch Library, 760 East 185 Street will have a Slovenian program during National Library Week. On Friday, April 25 at 7 p.m., there will be folk dancing and Slovenian songs by the Slovenian Junior Chorus of the Slovenian National Benefit Society Circle No. 2. The library will show "Yugoslavia" a 27 minute film in color. This movie is an objective introduction to a controversial Balkan state, covering its history from the Romans to Avars to the Turks to World War II and the rise of Tito. Includes information on education, the arts and diversions of the people, private and nationalized industry and the traditions, ancient and modern. Music score based on Yugoslav folk and modern music.

"Yugoslav Village" is a ten minute movie which pictures post war life in a small village in central Bosnia, showing home life, work in the fields, children going to school, and the excitement of a market day in Sarajevo. "Star and sand" is a 20 minute film. Following the Nazi invasion of Yugoslavia, a group of 3,000 evacuees were taken to an Egyptian desert camp by UNRRA. This outstanding documentary shows how these people, torn away from their native environment, reconstructed their morale, their culture and community living, and how, with the basic assistance provided by UNRRA they were able to restore their natural culture. This is a free program. Everyone is invited!

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Freedom of speech and freedom of press have been jealously guarded heritages of the U.S. political system. They are the foundation of representative government. Recent action by the Federal Communications Commission to ban cigarette advertising on television and radio raised the free press, free speech question in the minds of many people.

Irrespective of how one feels about cigarette smoking, the FCC action raised a point about "the communications media" that is often overlooked. The right of free speech and a free press do not have the same relationship to television and radio that they do to the nation's newspapers. The very fact that radio and TV stations are subject to federal licensing sets them apart. It also explains why, contrary to what some have thought in the past, neither radio nor TV will take the place of the hometown newspaper. In today's world, they are essential supplementary features of the art of communication. That is why many newspapers own radio and TV stations — while the newspaper keeps right on publishing.

Only the newspaper leaves a permanent record of community life. Only the newspaper is free to express its editor's personal convictions, and only the newspaper — unlicensed and unregulated — fulfills the obligation of a free press in accordance with the historical meaning of the term. A free press is the bastion of a self-governing people. It can be supplemented, but never supplanted.

Ohio Bell Presents "Eyes of Eve"

The "Eyes of Eve" will look out at Greater Cleveland area telephone customers from the cover of the new 1969 Ohio Bell white page phone books now being distributed.

Distribution of 980,000 copies of the white pages (20,000 more than last year) and 824,000 copies of the Yellow Pages directory (3,000 more than in 1969) will be made by more than 1,500 carriers. Delivery will continue through May 13.

Some 20 white pages have been added, 32 Yellow Pages. In addition, a newly designed personal directory will be delivered along with the phone books.

Eve, who modeled for the eyes on the all-new deep olive green cover on this year's alphabetical directory, is not a professional model, but a Garfield Heights housewife and mother of three young children.

Her eyes, chosen over professional models, were the idea and the photographic work of her brother, George Neundorfer, a member of Ohio Bell's Cleveland directory department, who originated the "Look in the Book" theme now being used by the company.

And that's just the start of her telephone family. Her dad, a retired telephone man, and her mother, whom he met when she was an operator, had six children: twins, triplets (including a sister who once worked for Ohio Bell) — and Eve.

Eve, who obviously comes by her telephone interests naturally, is quick to say that she hopes her eyes on the new directory's "Look in the Book" cover, will help in some small way to remind phone users that it's quicker and easier to check the directory first for phone numbers.

"That way you can make just one call instead of two — one to the operator and one to the person you are calling," she comments. "And you don't have to spell the name, give the address and wait while the operator looks up the number — or hunt up a pencil and paper first. I learned that, I guess a long time ago when I got into church work and had a lot of calls to make."

The new phone book is full of new numbers, too — some 382,000 to be exact — up-to-date as of February 19 for all new and changed phone numbers covered by the Cleveland book.

"It's a good chance," Eve adds, "to bring Christmas card lists and personal phone number lists up-to-date. I'm going to fill in my copy of the personal directory which everyone will get when the directory-distribution team comes calling house-to-house to drop off this year's two new phone books."
